False Report.

Through some unfortunate mistake, an item has appeared in many of the papers of Pennsylvania during the last few days, stating that Wilson College is so burdened with debt that there is danger of its being compelled to close at the end of the current year.

This article does Wilson College a great injustice, as it has practically no debt and is in a most flourishing condition, having the largest number of students in its history. Wilson has been compelled during the past two years to increase its dining room space and to add to its dormitory rooms in order to provide for the ever growing demand upon it.

The faculty of the College is of unusual strength, containing representatives of the best Universities and Colleges of this country and, in its Music Department, graduates of the Conservatories of Europe. The number of students in every department of the institution is larger this year than ever before.

During the past year the College has increased its campus by the addition of some twenty acres and, by closing roads, has secured grounds which are not inferior in beauty and size to those of the best institutions for women in the country.

Chapter Officers Installed.
District Deputy High Priest Geo. W. Vernes, of Williamsport, installed the officers of Emporium Chapter, No. 227, H. R. A. C., in the presence of a goodly number. After the work had been completed at the lodge room, a banquet was served in the basement of the Presbyterian Church, only the big eaters being in attendance. The dainty eaters, ourselves for instance were compelled to forego the pleasure. However, it is reported a pleasant feed. Mr. Vernes was accompanied by Mr. Frank McComsey, of Renovo.

Torture of a Preacher.
The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist church, of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you. The Chinchilla.
Chinchilla is a beautiful soft gray fur. It is not the most durable of furs, and, because of the difficulty of getting the perfect skin, it cannot be said to be among the least expensive. A muff and stole of the real chinchilla cost easily $1,000 or so. The tiny chinchilla itself, not more than twelve inches long, with a plump little body on short, stout legs, thrives only in the tropics. The little beasts have to be killed with the utmost precaution not to injure their fur, that grows on a skin nearly as tender and soft as a web of silk. A perfect skin not larger than a small pocket handkerchief is a revelation in fur work. The texture of every hair is finer than floss silk, the length of it nearly an inch and the coloring about that of the soft, undyed marabou feathers.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Magie Figures.
"The most remarkable arrangement of numbers that I know of," said a local business college man who takes a delight in solving curious problems and digging up mathematical oddities, "is the combination of the six figures 142,857. Multiply this number by 2, and the answer is 285,714; by 3, and the answer is 428,571; by 4, and the answer is 571,428; by 5, and the answer is 714,285; by 6, and the answer is 857,142. Each answer contains exactly the same digits as the original sum, and, to cap the climax, multiply the number by 7, and up comes the answer 999,999. Try it and see if it is not so."—Philadelphia Record.

A Rare Coin.
When Louisiana seceded, Jan. 26, 1861, the new government seized the United States mint at New Orleans and struck $254,820 in double eagles and $1,101,316.50 in silver half dollars, using the United States dies for 1861. The bullion was exhausted in May, 1861, when the coinage ceased and the United States dies were destroyed. A Confederate States die was then made, to be used for silver half dollars, but it was not fit for use in coining press, the relief being too high. Four half dollars were struck with it on a screw press, and these comprise the entire coinage of the Confederate States.

What Eddie Was Reading.
A New England father who believes that children should be nourished on good literature as well as on good food has always read the English classics aloud to his only son, Eddie, now six years old.
A friend of the family, knowing of this practice, recently asked Eddie what he was reading.
"A Wavering novel," was his reply.

Her Regret.
Marjorie had been given some hard peppermint candies, and after holding one in her mouth for a few minutes she ran to her mother and cried, "Oh, mother, I swallowed that candy!"
"Never mind," said her mother; "it will not hurt you."
"Yes, I know," said Marjorie, "but I lost the use of it."—Youth's Companion.

Plenty of Talk.
"You say that public official had nothing to say?" said the editor.
"Yes," answered the self confident reporter, "but he talked three-quarters of an hour before I discovered it."—Washington Star.

Meekness.
Meekness is imperfect if it be not both active and passive, leading us to subdue our own passions and resentments as well as to bear patiently the passions and resentments of others.—Foster.

Life is the jailer, death the angel sent to draw the unwilling bolts and set us free.—Lowell.
