

STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. C. G. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract. In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. We did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. New trial bottles, 25c.; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

Having the good fortune to receive Mr. Jeff Lynch and Mr. Everett Barr, both of Sterling Run, into our Association. We are being entertained in first-class shape by the lively stories of their past experiences. Mr. Lynch related an instance which is well worth recording. It seems some years ago he was greatly bothered with hawks stealing his chickens, so he devised a very ingenious plan to get rid of them. First, he found where these birds usually assembled and cut all the limbs off the trees where they were in the habit of sitting and in the place of limbs he put a dozen scythe blades all sharpened to a razor edge. The hawks would alight on the sharp edge of the blades and their claws would be clipped off, thus depriving them of any means of getting food. Consequently they died of

AN ARGUMENT THAT CANNOT BE ANSWERED

During the recent epidemic of Small-pox in Pennsylvania a family of four, a mother and three children were taken to the Municipal Hospital in Philadelphia, the mother seriously ill with Small-pox. As there was no one to take care of these children, and as they had all been exposed to the disease and were liable to spread the infection, it was absolutely necessary to take them with their mother to the hospital. Two of these children being old enough to attend school had, the year before, been vaccinated under the so-called "tyrannical" law requiring teachers to forbid the admission to school of children who could not present a certificate of successful vaccination. The third child being younger, the mother, yielding to the persuasion of foolish neighbors, refused to have vaccinated. The result is shown in the illustration taken from a photograph. Contrast the beautiful, soft, healthy skins and placid faces of the two children on the outside, protected by vaccination, with the horrid condition of the little unvaccinated sufferer between them, evidently in torture from the loathsome eruption and scarcely able to see out of its swollen eyes. This poor little victim of prejudice was infected by its mother and broke out with the disease soon after entering the hospital. The two others remained several weeks in the hospital and, although living all this time in an infected atmosphere, continued perfectly well. Is it possible that a mother lives so cruel that, after gazing upon this picture, she will be willing to deny her darling children the benefit of protection against this terrible infection? SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The Firemen's Song. Tune—When Johnny Comes Marching Home. I fire upon the P. & E. She rolls! she rolls! Our engine is sixteen seventy three, She rolls! I made the rockets come from the stack, The steam gauge pointer it never goes back, If you have no fog you get the sack, Upon the P. and E. And when we start on our trip home, How she rolls! she rolls! The telegraph poles look like fine combs, She rolls! It is sixty per hour all the time, Upon the curves or on the straight lines, For you've got to make your running time, Upon the P. and E. Sometimes we strike a red signal board, Then she groans! she groans! The engineer puts the brakes on hard, And she groans! The operator took a little sleep, The crew they swear at him loud and deep, And tell him his job is gone for keeps, Upon the P. and E. But when Renovo comes in sight, She pops! You would think she always steamed just right How she pops! Our boarding houses then we seek, Where we get our rations for six per week, This is all to-night that I will speak, About the P. and E.
