Man About Town.

The barber shops in town shut up on Sunday but the barbers don't shut up.

They may cut the wages in the factories, the mills and the furnace, but we never hear of their cutting the wages of sin.

Letter From H. H. Cloyes.

MARLINTON, W. VA., Feb. 27, 1906. FRIEND HARRY:-I wish that you would see that the CAMERON COUNTY PRESS is sent me here in the future. I have been looking over about 7,000 acres of land in this part of the country and after spending three weeks on the same, the Company which I represent have purchased it. This land is about half hemlock, the other half being red and white oak. The hemlock timber in this country is considerable taller than the hemlock in Pennsylvania and I consider on this track of land, and in fact all others I have examined, it will run about three to four logs to the thousand. We will build a town of our own, which will be located on the Greenbrier Division of the C. & O., about seven miles below this place. This country is largely made up of Pennsylvania lumbermen in the larger operations, the smaller operations seem to be handled to a large extent by the natives. It is obout 100 miles from here to Elkins. Situated on this 100 miles are at least 100 mills, either directly on the railroad or a short ways hack. About seventy percent, of these mills are small ground mills with a capacity of not over 10 to 15 thousand day, but about thirty per cent of these mills being the modern band mills, some of which cut as high as 150,000 a day. Several Cameron county men are located in this vicinity. E V Dunlevie, of Cameron, has a modern plant at Dunlevie, at the end of this division He has a beautiful town, well laid out, a very fine band mill, electric light, water works and all other improvements to make an up-todate plant. The C. B. Howard Company, of your town, have recently purchased 30,000 acres of land lying about 10 miles over the mountain from this town and extending through into Randolph county. I am told they have a remarkable lot of timber and they were certainly fortunate in being able to secure as large a body in one block. To give you some idea as to the way timber is advancing in this country. I will say that less than a year ago, J. R. Droney, of Olean, who nearly every business man and woodsman of Emporium know, bought a tract of timber at Glady, West Virginia. This tract was sold in six months for $260,000.00 or $100,000.00 more than he paid for it. This track has been sold again since I have been in this country for $375,000 and I am told by people who are familiar with the timber, that the last purchaser has by no means made a bad bargain. THE CAMERON COUNTY PRESS published at Emporium by Hon. H. H. Mullin, is forty years old and started last week on its forty-first volume. The PRESS was established in March 1866 by the late C. B. Gould, and it has been a faithful champion of the Republican party all these years, and at the same time boosting everything that was for the interests of Emporium and all the rest of Cameron county. Mr. Mullin is an able editor and a practical printer, hence his paper is one of the best local journals that comes to our table. We congratulate him on passing the fortieth milestone, and wish him ever increasing prosperity as the years roll by .- Ridgway Advocate.

At Opera House.

The Buster Brown Girls and the Irish Maids come in for their share and there are several individual hits in the show. A company of twenty-five people and a revelation in scenic and stage effects complete an altogether delightful entertainment. The tour is being personally guided by the masterful band of Mr. Frank W. Nason who bears an enviable reputation for his far seeing ability in that direction. And with the names of Nason and Waters as the trade mark, we feel safe in saying we will undoubtedly get the very best in the amusement line. Mr. Waters and company will be the attraction at the Emperium Opera House Thursday, March 15th. This is a guaranteed attraction; persons not satisfied may have their money back. At Opera House.

Telephone Talk-George Metzer, Jr., to Improve Emporium

Exchange. The Press sanctum was invaded by ico. Metzger, Jr., the originator and fromoter and hard-working manager Geo. Metzger, Jr., the originator and promoter and hard-working manager of Emporium telephone lines. Asked "what do you know?" he finally eased up a little and informed us he had a piece of news that would no doubt please the Emporium patrons of his line, in the shape of a new switch board, an order for which he had recently placed with the largest factory in the country. It will be the very latest and most improved the present state of the telephonic art can produce. When installed the act of taking off the receiver from the hook will call central by lighting a small electric lamp just behind your number on the switch board, which remains lighted until you are answered, and when you are through talking the act of hanging up your receiver will give the disconnect signal so it is not possible to forget to "ring off," which is one of the most prolific causes of delay in using the letter of the system also will allow of smaller and waster telephones, as all the batteries will be kept at the central where they will be under constant personal supervision of Mr. Metzger. This will exclude anothor frequent cause for interruption to service. This improvement will allow the operators to keep closer watch over their connections. interruption to service. This improve-ment will allow the operators to keep closer watch over their connections without obliging them to constantly "listen in" on the lines to tell ifyou "listen in" of the lines to tell flyor have gotten your parties, and will give you much improved service and may possibly reduced, rates, although these are now from $6.00 to $12.00 lower than any of the surrounding towns for the any of the surrounding towns for the same class of service.

The Emporium Telephone Exchange is strictly a home industry, having been built up from its inception by its present owner and represents over ten years of hard work to bring to its present perfection. He took the work up at a time when no one else could be induced to do so, thus giving Emporium telephone service several vears before telephone service several years before it would have otherwise been able to it would have otherwise been able to get it. Of necessity the apparatus at that time was crude but the plant has been remodeled several times, keeping it up to the times, but this rebuilding has been expensive so that it has required close figuring to make the business pay expenses.

Emporium patrons fully appreciate the vast amount of hard work it has called from Mr Metzger to install and manage the business, now extended twenty one miles east, serving all points between Emporium and Sinnamahoning and Sizerville on north, in addition to a long distance connection many Cameron friends I have met in mahoning and Sizerville on north, in addition to a long distance connection with the Bell Telephone Co.

Mr. Metzger's line is strictly speaking a home industry and receives the cordial support of our citizens. Mr. Metzger also informs us that his new improvements and increased service may possibly result in lower rates, in fact he desires to give the public the best service possible and keep the expense as low as possible, thereby to continue the good-will of his patrons and ultimately place the "Emporium 'phone" in every business house, factory and home in Cameron county. How any person can keep house or conduct business without it is a mystery.

Local Institute-March 16 and 17. On the earlier date mentioned above On the earlier date mentioned above an educational meeting will be held in the evening in the Court House which will be addressed by Hon. Josiah Howard and Supt Charles Lose, of Williamsport. This will be followed on the forenoon of the 17th by a local institute in which papers will be read and topics discussed by Supt. Miss Collins and teachers of the county. The people are invited to attend these meetings. All teachers of the county will be made welcome. Watch for the program next week. program next week.

Former Emporiumite Weds.

Mr. Edward Yeagle and bride, formerly Miss Zula Edkins were the guests of Mrs. M. A. Rockwell last Monday and Tuesday, enroute to their home at St Marys. Mr Yeagle was employed in Mrs. Rockwell's drug store for three years, and is well known by our people. Congratulations.

Spring Suits.

As spring will soon be here you will need a new suit of clothes, the place to buy n good suit is at Theo. Haberstock's, over express office.

A Political Conference.

A number of well known Republicans from Cameron came to Bradford to day for the purpose of having a conference with the McKean county men in relation to the congressional situation, a meeting being called to be held in the Hotel Holly at 3 o'clock p. m. It is understood that Cameron county has a candidate for congress in the person of Captain Charles F. Barclay, a prominent lumberman of Sinnamahoning. The meeting was called at the suggestion of the gentlemen from Cameron county, who came on in force to present their claims for recognition. It is probable however, that the candidacy of Captian Bareley will not be pushed unless he receives the assurance of the support of McKean from those who are supposed to be in position to give such promises. The visitors from out of the city to attend the conference include Captain Barclay and others, as follows: A. C. Bum, Josiah Howard, B. W. Green, Esq., J. C. Johnson, Esq., V. K. Corbett, J. P. McNarney, district attorney, and C. J. Goodnough, prothonotary, of Camero Sunty; H. H. Mullin, of the Cameron County Press, and C. L. Butler of Emporium; A. D. Gould, of Eldred; J. V. Brown, of Duke Center; T. F. Richmond, Esq., and District Attorney, Guy B. Mayo, and James A. McKean, of Smethport, Neighbors."

"Neighborly Neighbors."

"Neighborly Neighbors."

"Neighborly Neighbors," a three act musical mixture, with the popular comedian, Mr. Tom Waters, as the star, will be the attraction at the Emporium Opera House, Thursday, March 15th Neighborly Neighbors is a musical mixture brimful of catchy metodies and bright lyrics. In gathering the people togsther for this production, Manager Frank W. Nason has used every precaution to make it an ensem ble far out of the ordinary, and how well he has succeeded is shown by the reception accorded the company wherever they have appeared. Neighborly Neighbors is not a Hodge Fodge by no means, but one of those effervescent and up-to-date musical addities that never fail to please even the most fastidious of audiences from the rise of the curtain until the final fail of the same on the last act. In Neighborly Neighbors there are twenty-five active people and the change of costumes are varied, many and beautiful, with a bevy of pretty, attractive and shapely show and chorus girls. This is a guaranteed attraction; persons not satisfied may have their money back.

How to Boil Water.

To boil water would seem to be To boil water would seem to be a very simple thing, and yet the late Charles Delmonico used to say that very few people knew how to do it. "The secret is," he said, "in putting good fresh water into a clean kettle already quite warm and setting the water to boiling quickly, and then taking it right off for use in tea, coffee or other drinks before it is spoiled. To let it steam and simmer and evaporate until the good water is in the atmosntil the good water is in the atmosphere and the lime and iron and drugs only left in the kettle is what makes a great many people sick, and it is worse than no water at all." For water boiled like this and flavored with a few drops of lemon juice Mr. Delmonico used to charge as much as for his best liquors, and he otten recommended it to his customers and friends who complained of loss of appetite. It is worth

The Emporium Powder Line.

One morning in October, As the sun in splendor shown I slid into my overalls, And sadly left my home; With nothing much to hurry me, For I had lots of time, Ljumped aboard a train, enroute, Emporium Powder Line

I got off at the station, And to the office sped. And to the omce sped, And quickly found the Super, And this to him I said; "I heard you wanted men sir, I hope I am in time. To be to you of service, On the Emporium Powder Line He looked at me a moment, My long and lanky size felt a little shaky, boys And took it as a sign.

That he didn't need my service.

On the Emporium Powder Line.

At length he broke the silence. At length he broke the silence, and bid me take a seat, But smiled and finally hinted, Dd better wipe my feet; Then I sat and softly whistled, The tune of "Auld Lang Syne," And wished I was a hundred miles, From the Emporium Powder Line.

But soon his business being dons, Once more he turned to me, And the smile he wore upon his face, Was something good to see; Here young man, these papers you must sign If you ever hold your job, On the Emporium Powder Line

And the way he gave the orders then, Was enough to sicken one: And when I though he'd said enough, He'd only just begun; He told me I'd have to bustle, And get around on time, I'l book his torn with other men, That worked upon the line.

Now first would be my kettles, Of which I must charge three, And take a stick and level them, As level as could be: Then go and dump my acid drums, While doing bear in mind, You must watch out for signals, On the Emporium Powder Line

Then quickly seize the poker, Make the fire burn bright and clear, And plunge against the sickening fumes, As brave as Paul Revere, With crow-bar, pick and shovel, In the salt cake pan you climb, For now you'er doing business, On the Emporium Powder Line.

Keep your hand upon the throttle Of your wheelbarrow, never fail, And to dodge the flying splinters, With your eye upon the rail,
And your nerves you must keep steady,.
Midst the bellowing whistle chime,
Or you'll get a free pass skyward,
Oh the Emporium Powder Line.

And your duties every morning, At six o'clock begin,
With a space of twenty minutes,
For to eat your dinner in; But when the whistle toots again, You know it is high time,

But mark me, whatever You may dare to do, Might find excuse in you, But should they perchance, A match or lighted pipe, n your possession find. They would, well! The coroner hold an inquest
