"GET THE HABIT"

We are doing a splendid business. Our patrons seem to be so impressed with the deliciousness of our baked goods that many of them have "got the habit" of coming here regularly. We anticipate more of that "habit," because our bread and pastry is better than ever before. Get the habit—the health giving habit of eating the products of our sanitary shop.

 The many friends of Major Bailey are glad to learn of his reinstatement in Wm. Logue's employ at the lath mill. Major was suspended for making a pair of leather spectacles for one of the men, which was contrary to Wm. Logue's strict orders. The joke caused one man to resign and made no end of trouble. In reviewing the matter William says:
 I try to treat my men first-class,
 I do not mind the jokes they pass,
 Until they carry things too far,
 And worthy people's feelings jar.
 So one and all must now take heed,
 For I am very mad indeed,
 I will not have my workmen vexed,
 By Major Bailey's leather specks.

Last Wednesday while B. J. Collins was putting his cattle in the stable he was attacked by his large Ayrshire bull and narrowly escaped serious injury. The bull threw Mr. Collins across the barn floor of about 20 feet and was about to gore him when Chas. Collins came to the rescue and drove the animal away. Mr. Collins' clothes were torn nearly off his back and while he was not cut he received a severe shaking up and was bruised considerably. O. B. Tanner removed the animal's horns a few days later.

 Dan Sullivan, Sr., has corn five inches high in his garden and his potatoes are sprouting. Dan says:
 Some people love the soldier's life,
 Some like the bounding sea,
 But of them all there is only one,
 The FARMER'S life for me.
 I love to see the green leaves come,
 And watch the sweet corn grow,
 While clear and loud at early morn,
 My BRAHMA roosters crow.
 So come you farmers, one and all,
 I do not heed your scorn,
 You may beat me on other crops,
 But you cannot beat my corn.
 J. F. S. & E. D. K.
