Cure for Crow's Feet.

The following little sermon may be taken to heart by man as well as woman. In business or the home life it is equally applicable and breathes of the best spirit to be preserved in all vicissitudes of life.

"Be sunny" has grown to be something of a catchword, but it is a pretty good all-around motto for everyday life as well.

The cook may have gone away in a temper on the very day of your dinner party—it's a way cooks have—or the dressmaker may have failed to send home your new frock in time for Mrs. So-and-So's reception.

The president rightly holds that so outrageous a breach of equity in the encroachment upon popular right and so gross a violation of the principles of business fairness constitute a blow at the people and a menace to the purposes which the American government was established to maintain and defend.

Great offenses deserve heroic remedies, and, as the president says, any injustice which may be predicted of an administrative commission would not begin to be so outrageously cruel as what has already been proved against one of the big corporations of this country.

A LIVE ISSUE CERTAINLY. From Present Indications the Tariff Will Be Much in Evidence.

If saying so would only make it so, there would be much cause for gratification in the opinion expressed by the Pittsburg Press.

The tariff involves at most no fundamental principle. It is merely an administrative question, within certain lines. Not even the most emphatic revisionists have the temerity to demand free trade.

Nevertheless, says the American Economist, there is much tariff revision talk going on right now, and the talkers are not talking in their sleep, either.

Discipline of Failure. The best skating is always on thin ice—we like to feel it crack and yield under our feet; there is a deadly fascination in the thought of the 20 or 40 feet of cold water beneath.

In her controversy on the tariff question Germany was handling a double-edged weapon, and her statesmen were wise to recognize it as such.

Democrats are inclined to say that as the speaker opposes revision and says that congress must represent the desires of the American people, he in effect makes tariff revision the issue in the coming elections.

And, pray, what part or parts of the tariff would the Democrats revise? Our Democratic brethren of the West Virginia press have no specific complaint so far as the intelligencer can see.

CHIEF OFFENDER ATTACKED

President Roosevelt's Method of Dealing with Enemies of the People.

It is characteristic of President Roosevelt's courage that in leading the people's attack against the lawless he has selected the offender that is chief in power and in pernicious influence.

It has been the general belief, says the Troy Times, that the Standard Oil company has been amassing great wealth by crushing out competition, and by the employment for this end of illegal combinations and agreements.

The thorough and untiring investigation made by Commissioner Garfield, of the bureau of corporations, has amassed facts which prove that secret rebates granted by the Standard Oil company and oppressive discrimination in open rates have given to that enormous corporation a decisive and overwhelming advantage over competitors.

President Roosevelt has informed congress of the facts and justly described the situation as a "characteristic example of the numerous evils which are inevitable under a system in which the big shipper and the railroad are left free to crush out all individual initiative and all power of independent action because of the absence of adequate and thorough-going governmental control."

The president rightly holds that so outrageous a breach of equity in the encroachment upon popular right and so gross a violation of the principles of business fairness constitute a blow at the people and a menace to the purposes which the American government was established to maintain and defend.

TARIFF REPEAL NOT NEEDED

San Francisco Should Not Be Rebuilt with Steel from Abroad.

We do not believe San Francisco is a party to the cry for a repeal of the tariff on structural steel while the city is rebuilding. There is no occasion for such repeal, says the Pittsburg Gazette.

American manufacturers can supply the demand, Pittsburg mills can do it and would set other work aside if necessary that, rebuilding should not be retarded.

Prices hardly greater than would be paid for foreign material if the tariff should be removed. In a recent hearing before the committee on merchant marine and fisheries, Judge Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, quoted the prices in this country and abroad.

By that statement it may be seen the export prices of Great Britain, Germany, France, Austria and Belgium on structural shapes range from $1.25 to $1.45, while the American price is about $1.60.

Adding freight, the price, delivered, would give no appreciable advantage to the San Francisco builders, but might take much money from this country.

President Roosevelt rejected foreign contributions to the relief fund and it would be a remarkable exhibit on the part of congress to extend an invitation to foreign manufacturers to supply the material for rebuilding the city.

While Germany is building its tariff wall higher and is paying a bounty on steel exports, to enable her manufacturers to quote low prices, there is no call for the United States to open the door even in the face of calamity.

Great Britain is not in position to furnish the material more promptly than this country can, and having a higher production cost and no bounty, could not compete with Germany in the bidding.

Should material be brought from abroad it would benefit neither the railroads nor the industrial concerns which have given so liberally to the sufferers. All would come direct by water in foreign bottoms.

San Francisco would be ashamed to rebuild with foreign steel. The members of congress who introduced the bills declare that they did so under the misapprehension that American mills could not supply the demand.

That impression having been corrected, there is just one proper course to take. That is to withdraw the bills and let the matter drop. No hardship will be imposed thereby on the San Francisco rebuilders.

DEMAND NOT POPULAR. Change of the Dingley Schedules Not Called for by the People in General.

No Republican from Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Iowa or anywhere else who has assailed the tariff this year has voiced the view of the Republican party.

The Dingley act has been in operation nine years. It has had a longer life than the Wilson-Gorman law which it displaced. Also it has lived longer than did the McKinley act, which the Democrats repealed when they put the Wilson-Gorman law on the statute book.

So, likewise, it has been with us for more years than was the act of 1883, which the McKinley law succeeded. Dingley's tariff has had a longer career than any other law in its field since Morrill's, which was passed in 1861.

But the Dingley act continues to give a good account of itself, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. It furnishes both revenue and protection, and the Wilson act provided neither the one nor the other.

Nothing that any Democrat has ever said against the Dingley law has been as severe as Cleveland's denunciation of the Democratic Wilson-Gorman act, the "party perjury and party dishonor law," which Cleveland contemptuously refused to sign.

But let it go on the statute book through the expiration of the ten days' time limit. There is no popular demand among the Republicans for the repeal or material modification of the Dingley tariff.

LIMB RAW AS PIECE OF BEEF.

Suffered for Three Years with Itching Humor—Cruiser Newark U. S. N. Man Cured—Speedy Cure by Cuticura.

"I suffered with humor for about three years and on. I finally saw a doctor and he gave me remedies that did me no good, so I tried Cuticura when my limb below the knee to the ankle was as raw as a piece of beef.

All I used was the Cuticura Soap and the Ointment. I bathed with Cuticura Scap every day, and used about six or seven boxes of Cuticura Ointment. I was thoroughly cured of the humor in three weeks, and haven't been affected with it since.

I use no other Soap than Cuticura now. H. J. Myers, U. S. N., U. S. S. Newark, New York, July 8, 1905."

Prince Von Bulow, the German chancellor, who was overcome by a fainting spell while delivering an address in the reichstag recently, is a political personality scarcely less interesting than was his great predecessor Bismarck.

In spite of his well-known and ardent patriotism his courtesy to France on one occasion drew from another member of the reichstag the remark that "Herr Von Bulow thinks in French or Italian and then translates into German."

He was twice offered the rank of prince before accepting.

The sirdar, Sir Reginald Wingate, is an excellent linguist, speaking, besides several European languages, Arabic and Hindustani. His hobby is the collection of dervish weapons.

Lord Leonfield, who has just celebrated his thirty-fourth birthday, is a nephew of Lord Rosbery. He served with distinction in the Boer war, owns about 100,000 acres of land, and has a rent roll of $450,000 yearly.

Sir Edward Clarke, the brilliant member of parliament who is making his presence felt by denouncing the idea of a tax on meat or corn, started as a jeweler's assistant in his father's store. Now his income as a lawyer is $150,000 a year and he is one of the few men who have refused a judgeship.

Sir John Fisher has been promoted to the rank of admiral of the English fleet. He practically created the present British navy, and has impregnated it with the scientific spirit, and it is due to him that the naval officers of to-day must, in addition to being seamen, be gunners, soldiers, engineers and men of science.

BREAD DYSPEPSIA. The Digesting Element Left Out. Bread dyspepsia is common. It affects the bowels because white bread is nearly all starch, and starch is digested in the intestines, not in the stomach proper.

Up under the shell of the wheat berry nature has provided a curious deposit which is turned into diastase when it is subjected to the saliva and to the pancreatic juices in the human intestines.

This diastase is absolutely necessary to digest starch and turn it into grape-sugar, which is the next form; but that part of the wheat berry makes dark flour, and the modern miller cannot readily sell dark flour, so nature's valuable digester is thrown out and the human system must handle the starch as best it can, without the help that nature intended.

There has just been deposited in the insect house at the Cincinnati Zoo a specimen of the bird-eating spider, which earns its name by occasionally including in its menu some of the brilliancy hooded humming birds and varicolored finches of the South American tropics.

The boatmen of Holland measure distances by smoking. The distance between two named points is expressed as so many pipefuls of tobacco, meaning, of course, that one would smoke so many pipes while covering the distance mentioned.

Radium is a substance millions of times more powerful than dynamite. It is estimated that an ounce of radium would contain enough power to raise 10,000 tons a mile above the earth's surface.

When the pope received the French bishops recently they could not understand his disclosures, so strong is his Venetian accent. But it is the thing now in the Vatican to speak with a little of that accent.

There are two sorts of tattooing in use among the women of the Congo. One is common to all the members of the same tribe, and indicates the origin and birthplace of the subject.

The other sort of tattooing is simply fancy and coquetry. The women mark upon their bodies the epochs of their existence.

The early Greeks and Romans rode horses bareback. They regarded it as unmanly to ride in a saddle. In fact, the modern saddle with pommel, crupper and stirrups was unknown to the ancients.

The greatest dental operation on record was performed upon an elephant in the City of Mexico. The aching tooth was 12 inches long and 14 inches in diameter at the root.

All the automobile endurance contests are thrown into the shade by the remarkable performance of Emil Boulhours, of Paris, who rode a bicycle 815 miles and 291 yards in 24 hours, at the remarkable average rate of 34 hours an hour.

Horseshoes, such as we have, are also rather modern. The Greeks and Romans used to cover their horses' feet with fiber cloth in cold weather, or when urging the horses through muddy and miry places.
