Party Lash Will Not Be Used in Approaching Con-

BOSSES HAVE LEARNED LESSON

Fair Field and No Favors Accorded to All-Thompson of Fayette Seems to Meet Requirements of Situation Best-Is Close to the People.

Pittsburg, May 30,-The political discord which has prevailed in almost every section of Pennsylvania during the past year or more has forced the Republican leaders of the state to "stop, look and listen," and it is now apparent that further confusion in the party's affairs is to be avoided by the people coming wholly and entirely into their own. With the Republican state convention but a week away it is most pleasing to the voters to realize that no slate has been made for the coming convention and that no slate is likely to be made which does not come direct from the people. The party lash has sone out of fashion and the voice of the political boss is no longer heard. The right to slate or name candidates for public places, always inherent in the people, is now being recognized more than in years and the belief is general that at the coming convention of the Republicans of the state the voice of the people will be heard in no uncertain way and that the candidates for governor and other state places will be chosen at the Harrisburg convention next week by the duly elected delegates to that important gathering. The bosses of former days have wisely deter-mined to stand aside in the interest of party harmony and graciously yield to the nomination of a state ticket which will restore harmony to the grand old party and which will promote the success of that party which in the past has made substantially for the advancement of every material interest in this state and this nation. To the people it must be pleasing to realize that just now when party harmony most needs consideration the Republicans of the state are turning with hope and confidence to Josiah Van Kirk Thompson, the banker, philanthropist and advance agent of pros-

Whose Key Unlocked the Drawer? Here is a true story told by a doctor. This doctor had a patient, a brother physician, who was ill of a disease no one has ever cured yet. The sick man realized that his case was hopeless, and he knew, too, that before he died he would go through horrible convul-sions. He begged his friend to kill him in order to spare his wife the sight of anything so unforgettably hideous, and the physician, bound by his code of ethics, refused. The sick man begged his wife to let him have his revolver, but she refused. The physician locked the drawer of the bureau in which it lay and gave the wife the key. Two days later the sick man shot himself, and the revolver he used was his own. He had unlocked the

When I was a very little boy, writes Sir William Gregory in his autobiography, my grandfather, who was then undersecretary for Ireland, took me to the chief secretary's room in Dublin castle and formally introduced me to Lord Melbourne

'We'll see about that," said the sen ator, who was plainly disappointed and displeased.

'Several days later he secured the passage of a resolution calling upon the secretary of the treasury to furnish the senate with the names and holdings of the stockholders in all the national banks in the country. He really wanted to know only the interest of one man in a bank, but he knew that he couldn't get a resolution of that kind through the senate, so he included the stockholders in all national banks. It took the entire force of the comptrol ler's office several weeks to prepare the information, and when it reached the senate nobody paid any attention to it except the author of the resolution, and he merely looked at the mass of papers only long enough to see about the man he was after and then tossed the papers aside. It was an immense lot of work for nothing."—Washington Star.

Webster Beaten by a Woman. In the somewhat famous case of Mrs. Bodgen's will, which was tried in the supreme court many years ago, Daniel Webster appeared as counselor for the appellant. Mrs. Greenough, wife of the Rev. William Greenough of West Newton, was a very self pos-sessed witness. Notwithstanding Mr.

Webster's repeated efforts to disconcert her she pursued the even tenor of her way until Webster, becoming quite fearful of the result, arose, apparently in great agitation, and, drawing out his large siruffbox, thrust his thumb and finger to the very bottom and, carrying a deep pinch to both nostrils, drew it up with gusto, and then, extracting from his pocket a very large handkerchief, he blew his nose with a report that rang distinct and loud through the crowded hall.

He then asked, "Mrs. Greenough, was Mrs. Bodgen a neat woman?"

"I cannot give you full information as to that, sir. She had one very dirty trick," replied the witness. "What was that, ma'am?" "She took snuff!"—Boston Herald.

Pathos In a Name.

scarcely out of arms, and on asking him what the youngster's name was received this reply, 'Judas 'Scariot, sah.' 'You don't mean to tell me that that to do with this poor little chap?
