It was fast, and got so tightly that it took twenty minutes to get it cleared away so the train could proceed. Early Sunday morning P. R. Brakeman Harry L. At Emporium Opera House.

Jack Allen, who essays the role of the Weary Willie in Manager Newell's comedy sensation, "A Jolly American Tramp," is the best delineator of the genus hobo on the American stage. His make up is said to be perfect and so exact that were he to leave the stage and appear on the streets in his tatters and rags our police would surely send him to the workhouse, purely on his looks. In this play he says some very funny things, and does some very grotesque specialties. His singing is said to be inimitable. Emporium Opera House, Saturday evening, Sept. 8. Prices 50, 35, and 25.

Clear Sky on Spring Street.

We would like to reply to an article we saw in last week's "Independent" concerning three women waiting and yelling at a Spring street family as they were leaving town. It said in the article that the person wanted to know what was the object? It was simply this: We were so glad to see them go that we just had to give expression to our joy. We have been so greatly annoyed by them that we could not sit on our porches on an evening in peace without being subjected to their jeers and insults and we were pleased to think we should have a rest. We hope this will fully explain our actions to the party that put the communication in the "Independent."

Even busy men occasionally make idle remarks.

Good for the cough, removes the cold, the cause of the cough. That's the work of Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar—the original laxative cough syrup. Contains no opiates. Sold by R. C. Dodson. Nine-tenths of a man's so-called dignity is nothing but a bluff. When you have a cold it is well to be very careful about using anything that will cause constipation. Be particularly careful about preparations containing opiates. Use Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar, which stops the cough and moves the bowels. Sold by R. C. Dodson. The whiter the lie the blacker the mind that gave birth to it. As a dressing for sores, bruises and burns, Chamberlain's Salve is all that can be desired. It is soothing and healing in its effect. For sale by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run, Crum Bros., Sinnamonahoning.

The New 1000-Mile Ticket.

The general Passenger Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad has supplied the ticket offices of the System with full stocks of the Mileage Books, recently adopted, and they will be sold to travelers on and after September 1. These books contain coupons entitling the holder to travel one thousand miles over any of the Pennsylvania Railroad System east of Pittsburgh, Erie and Buffalo, inclusive, and the Cumberland Valley Railroad, and are sold at flat rate of $20. They are valid for use for one year from date of purchase as stamped on the cover. The introduction of this ticket supplies every demand which could exist for a ticket, unhampered by conditions and unrestricted as to personal use, and gives to the frequent traveler over the Pennsylvania System the benefit of a two-cent a mile rate. The advantages of the ticket are obvious and manifold. It may be purchased with the same ease as a card ticket or any other ticket not requiring signature or witness. The name of the holder does not appear upon it and it is good for the transportation of any one who prevents it, and as many others accompany him as the mileage limit will include. Any member of a firm or an employe, any official or employe of a corporation, any member of a family or a guest may use the ticket just as if any one of these persons had been the original purchaser. As a matter of fact the holder of the ticket enjoys all of its privileges to the fullest extent to the transportation value. The ticket will be accepted for transportation on any part of the Pennsylvania Railroad System east of Pittsburgh, including the Cumberland Valley Railroad, for distance exceeding two miles; except in certain specified portions of the territory within the larger terminals. It is valid on all passenger trains, when accompanied by the necessary extra fare and Pullman charge, with the one exception of the Pennsylvania eighteen-hour train between New York and Chicago, on which no reduced rate tickets of any kind is valid. The popular features of the new ticket command it to the consideration of those who travel often. Anyone may buy it, anyone may use it, no identification of the holder is required and the price is the flat rate of two cents per mile.

Pain From a Burn Promptly Relieved by Chamberlain's Pain Palm.

A little child or Michael Strauss, of Vernon, Conn., was recently in great pain from a burn on the hand, and as cold applications only increased the inflammation, Mr. Strauss came to Mr. James N. Nicholas, a local merchant, for something to stop the pain: Mr. Nicholas says: "I advised him to use Chamberlain's Pain Palm, and the first application drew out the inflammation and gave immediate relief. I have used this liniment myself and recommend it very often for cuts, burns, sprains and lame back, and have never known it to disappoint." For sale by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run, Crum Bros., Sinnamonahoning.

When to Eat Cotton.

When one by accident swallows an object not intended for eating it is a wise precaution to send after it a quantity of absorbent cotton which has been picked into fine threads and mixed in bread and milk. The button, safety pin or whatever it may be gathers the cotton about it, thus covering up any rough edge or sharp point and allowing it to pass through the stomach and intestines without causing injury. The Simple Bride. Bride (after the return from the bridal tour)—I see by this medical work that a man requires eight hours' sleep and a woman ten. Bridegroom—Yes, I've read that somewhere myself. Bride—How nice! You can get up every morning and have the fire made and the breakfast ready before it is time for me to get up.—London Tit-Bits.

Why They Preach.

The distinction between a good preacher and a bad preacher has not changed much since Archbishop Whately declared that "a good preacher preached because he had something to say and a bad preacher because he had to say something." Another Rejection. Poetess—I got quits last night with the editor who rejects all my verses. Friend—What did you do? Poetess I rejected his son.—London Tit-Bits.

The Real Trouble.

The other afternoon a man rushed in to the Reading terminal, galloped up the stairs and dashed for the train shed just as the gates were closed against him. He looked as if he wanted to swear most vociferously, but he was out of wind, and all that he could do was to lean against the fence and soulfully sigh. It was then that the gruff old man who is always on hand, paced over and butted in. "Did you miss your train, old boy?" he queried, with a smiling glance at the panting one. "No," was the grouchy rejoinder. "I chase myself up here that way every five minutes to see them shut the gates." "What made you so late?" queried the other, not at all abashed. "Is your watch out of order?" "No, my watch is all to the good," replied the man who missed the train "but I think that my feet are about two minutes slow."—Philadelphia Telegraph. His Lesson. A woman who had divorced her husband met him after many years. "Have you married again?" she asked. The man shook his head. "Ah!" sighed the woman. "You still love me." "No," said the man, "I love myself." He was asked to explain. "Bondage taught me the value of freedom," he replied. "I am answerable now only to myself. I come when I please, go when I please, do what I please and need not make explanation. I no longer divide my pleasure by two or multiply my worries by the same number. What I earn is mine and, when I contemplate its possible reduction, I need fear for myself alone I have no great fears, but then I have no great sorrows." "And love?" inquired the woman. "I have been married," answered the man.—Channing Pollock in Show.

The Bird's Bill Was Locked.

A curious bird tragedy is told about in the London Field. A man found a yellow hammer dead in his yard at the foot of a wall. The bird had flown against it with such force as to be stunned. Not only that, but the upper mandible had been bent back, and in the straightening out the sharp point was driven down through the lower bill and locked, thus dooming the bird to death by starvation. The man sent the head to the Field. A good many similar accidents have been recorded but it was always a heavier bird, whose weight made the springing of the bill easier. A good many of the birds were found in a starved condition, showing that they died lingering deaths from want of food. Birds that fly against the lighthouses have the skull bones crushed and die instantly, but others are stunned only.

State Laws.

"If you should have your choice whether to die in the Empire State or in good old New Jersey, don't fail to select Jersey," remarked a Hoboken lawyer the other day. "Over there," said he, "we still do business on lines laid out by the common law. For example, under the laws of New Jersey a husband is entitled to all the personal property left by his deceased wife. Across the river the case is quite different, because under the laws of the state of New York half of a deceased wife's personal estate goes to her children and the residue reverts to her husband. Only where there are no children is the hubby the whole thing."—New York Press.

He Was Drugged.

An ambulance surgeon had a curious experience the other night. He was summoned to a police station to examine an unconscious prisoner. The prisoner, very muddy and disheveled, lay on the floor of the cell rooms. The physician bent over and examined him and then, rising, said in a loud stern voice: "This man's condition is not due to drink. He has been drugged." A policeman turned pale and said in a timid, hesitating voice: "I'm afraid yer right, sir. I drugged him all the way from Carney's saloon, a matter of a hundred yards or more."—Argonaut.
