Camping In Germany.

The latest discovery in Germany is camping! R. Julien writes about it in the Berlin Tageblatt as "die neueste Sommer-Romantik." "Like so many new things," he says, "the camping summer amusement comes to us from the far west by way of France. American youths it was, pupils, students, who first introduced it." The Americans, he goes on to inform his countrymen, convinced that the comforts of life in cities tend toward effeminacy, make a regular sport of Not only during the submer vacation, but often over Sunday they go-alone, in couples, in famllies, in clubs-to forest or shore. Sleeping in the open air steels their nerves, while rod and rifle provide additional recreation. Mr. Julien suspects that "Trapper-romantik" and inherited ancestral love of adventure throw light on this American specialty. Possibly, he adds, the paucity of "Erholungsstatte" has something to do with it. There he is, of course, mistaken, but his guess suggests the main reason, no doubt, why the Germans themselves have not heretofore known the delights of camping. A German never takes a walk or excursion that does not end at an "Erholungsstatte"-a tavern or beer garden. Supply follows the demand, and inns are so abundant, even in out-of-the-way places, that tenting seems a superfluity, if not an absurdity. For students, who, most of all, might feel inclined to "rough it" unmight feel inclined to "rough it" under canvas, dozens of special inns in some of the eastern states it brings into operation a million or more acres have actually been built in the mountainous regions of Germany. TO INSURE COMMERCIAL PEACE BE PREPARED FOR WAR.

If Europe Marks Up Its Tariffs Against American Exports, Then We Should Be Ready to Play the Same Game.

. "The favorite device of the standpatters to construct a maximum and minimum tariff, taking the present rates as the minimum, would only complicate the situation further. That is to say, any such device, instead of giving us a basis on which to make bargains with foreign powers, would be generally accepted as a declaration prompt and all but unanimous effort made by the nations of continental Europe to place prohibitor; rates on the imports of all our finished products."-New York Journal of Com-

But that is precisely what other governments have done. Germany has marked up her tariffs enormously so as to mark them back again to the former rates—and not in all cases as low as the former rates—when we shall have been bulldozed into mark-ing down our level and unvarying tariff for the espescial benefit of Germany's competitive exports

Spain has lately gone into the marking up business with the same end in view. On the basis of her marked up rates Spain now proposes to make concessions, and it is understood that somebody in Washington-the "Third House," it is sometimes called-is silly enough to nibble at the bait and to seriously contemplate a limited reciprocity deal with Spain under section 3 of the Dingley law.

Peanut dickers of this sort do not have to run the gauntlet of the Senate. They can be put in force by proclamation merely.

It is proposed, in return for Spain's splendid generosity in giving to certain American exports of the non-competitive sort the benefit of the tariff which prevailed prior to the markingthimblerig game, to reduce our tariff rates on Spanish exports of argols, paintings, statutary, brandies, champagnes, vermuth and still wines.

Thus we shall consent to be forced into giving an easier right of way into our market to at least one product that will prove seriously competitive. Next to France, Spain is the largest producer of still wines, and she produces these so much cheaper than France that she is able to export large quantities to that country.

Still wine production as an important and a growing industry in the United States. It is one of the leading industries of the Pacific coast, while

By so much as we increase by lower duties our purchase of Spain's cheap wines we shall decrease the market for American still wines and inflict injury upon American agriculture, American labor and American capital.

Such discrimination against an important home industry would be open to adverse criticism even if adequate compensation were given and the deal was a square deal; but to sell out the grape growers and wine makers of a dozen states for so paltry a consideraup a Panama hat as though it were tion as the marking down of tariff a cloth cap. HOME MARKET AND THE TARIFF.

Domestic Transportation Charges Annually Exceed Amount of Foreign Trade.

Americans are much inclined to boast of the vast foreign commerce of this country, which has suddenly shot upward, until now our exports and imports total almost $3,000,000,000. But few persons ever think what a mere out of many millions of dollars Adolph tween different parts of the United States by railway, highway, river and canal, and by lake and coastwise vessels. One significant sign of the importance and value of this home trade is shown by the totals for railway earnings, now jumping upward at an cording to a preliminary report of the interstate compares of tariff warfare and there would be a interstate commerce commission, the gross earnings of the railroads of the United States, covering approximately 219,000 miles of road, will show, for the fiscal year ending June 30, at least that rate of excess over the $2,073,000, 000 earned in the preceding fiscal year. Official statistics will not be returned by some of the roads for several months, but the increases that

If to this expected total of $2,280, 000,000 railway earnings the freights collected for other transportation with-in the United States in the last fiscal year were added, the gross amount would doubtless exceed $3,000,000,000. In other words, the mere transporta-tion charge on our internal commerce amounts annually to as much as the total value of the commodities handled in our entire foreign trade.

It has always been a principle of those statesmen who favored building up our home markets by a system of judicious protection for American in-dustry that the home market was many times more valuable and important than any foreign market could ever be. In view of the fact cited above, it would be difficult to dispute this argument. This vast home market has been developed largely by protection, which has provided employ-ment for millions of manufacturing employes at the highest wages ever paid, thus creating an unprecedented market and the best prices for agricultural products and other commodities which are often not deemed within the influence of protective tariffs. To tear down our tariff walls and destroy this home market, in the chase for imaginary foreign markets; to throw several millions of workmen out of employment, and thus lessen the people's power to buy and consume the products of the country's agriculture -this is the net meaning of the Democratic outcry against Republican protection, and of the campaign for control of congress which the Democre ic party is now waging.

Any tariff in force for nine years is bound to develop iniquities, and doubtless present schedules are defective in some particulars. They should be revised, and will be, if President Roosevelt's aims prevail. But a Democratic congress will mean, not revision, but destruction. There is no reason to doubt that the country understands this, or to imagine that the country has any intention of turning congress over to the Democratic party.-Tacoma Ledger.

they knew the company was insolvent.

Adolph Segal, who is looked upon as the principal in the failure of the institution, had nothing to say after his arrest. He contented himself by referring all persons to his attorneys. Segal is a promoter of many enter-prises in this city and Pennsylvania. To carry on his operations he borrowed, Receiver Earle says, more than $5,000,000 for which he gave to President Hipple, the only man in the bank he dealt with, securities that were insufficient. It was at first believed that Hipple did not benefit by his dealings with Segal, but later developments showed that he was deep in the schemes of Segal and a partner. the schemes of Segal and a partner in some of his companies.

This meeting was aimed chiefly to prevent if possible the nomination or endorsement by the state convention at Buffalo of William R. Hearst.

The other incident was a conference of representatives of several radical democratic organizations from which emanated a statement criticizing Mr. Hearst and declaring in favor of the nomination of Congressman William Sulzer, of New York. At this conference was present Albert S. Dulin, of New Jersey, a close personal friend of William Jennings Bryan. In an interview afterward Mr. Dulin spoke in favor of Mr. Sulzer.

The democratic conference was addressed by Mr. Jerome and others. Adjournment was taken to September 25 at Buffalo, the day and place of the state convention, and resolutions were adopted setting forth the views of the conference in opposing boss rule
