How about that, Mr. Bryan? Is there not, then, greater peril to our immortal souls in free trade than in protection? How shall we dare to vote for free trade if it is going to increase our wealth?

Herein are some sore perplexities for those who would like to be truly good. If we fare better we shall fare worse. Like the man hiding from the police, if we are found we shall be lost.

Under all the circumstances it is probably wiser not to be too altruistic. The safer course is to stick to protection. As the worldly minded would say, stand pat!

Phonetic Spelling. It is held creditable to spell in the fashion of the lexicographers, but it is really discreditable, if to defy law and order is infamy, says D. W. Howells, in Harper's Magazine.

The absurdity of this pretension is shown in the British export statistics. Out of a grand total of articles of wearing apparel valued at $23,224,300 exported to all the countries of the earth in 1905, the exports to the United States amounted to a paltry $275,000.

The fact that Americans are the best dressed people in the world, coupled with the fact that probably 99.9 per cent. of all the clothes worn by American men is made by American tailors, points unerringly to the conclusion that American tailors are the best in the world.

Tastes in Cigars. The public taste for cigars varies in different localities and countries, and in all the large factories cigars are conditioned to suit the demands of the country to which they are to be sent.

Evidence of the "unrest" that we have heard so much about are not visible in Vermont and Wisconsin. In both of these states the protection party seems to be on a perfectly level keel.

BRYAN SCANDALIZED

HIS NATURE REVOLTS AT HUMAN SELFISHNESS.

He Would Have People Stop Voting for a Protective Tariff Merely Because It Helps Business and Makes Everybody Prosperous and Happy.

Mr. Bryan is scandalized at the thought that men should vote to maintain a protective tariff from mere selfishness, to gratify the greed of gain.

Manufacturers do it because they prosper under protection and are ruined by federal trade.

Wage earners do it because there is plenty of work at high wages under protection, while under free trade there is little work and much lower wages.

Farmers do it because everything they own and have to sell has a far higher market value under protection than under free trade.

Merchants do it because they can sell more goods and make more money under protection than under free trade.

Railroad and steamboat men do it because they carry more freight and passengers and earn higher dividends under protection than under free trade.

Doctors, lawyers and preachers do it because more coin comes their way under protection than under free trade.

Now all this, says Mr. Bryan, is radically wrong. It denotes a low moral tone. Rightly considered it is little better than pocket-picking or safe-blowing.

It is a sad world we live in, truly. Mr. Bryan's altruistic nature and sensitive soul are appalled at the wickedness of it. He sees but one remedy: Banish protection and bring in free trade.

But, wait a bit. Are we not told by the superior thinkers that protection is a clog? That with free trade we should all be richer and happier? That our country has prospered, not because but in spite of the protective policy?

How about that, Mr. Bryan? Is there not, then, greater peril to our immortal souls in free trade than in protection? How shall we dare to vote for free trade if it is going to increase our wealth?

Herein are some sore perplexities for those who would like to be truly good. If we fare better we shall fare worse. Like the man hiding from the police, if we are found we shall be lost.

Not Made in London.

A statement in the Daily Consular and Trade Reports of August 28, issued by the bureau of manufactures, department of commerce and labor, very effectually dispels the illusion that the best dressed of Americans have their clothes made in London.

The absurdity of this pretension is shown in the British export statistics. Out of a grand total of articles of wearing apparel valued at $23,224,300 exported to all the countries of the earth in 1905, the exports to the United States amounted to a paltry $275,000.

Early Autumn Fruit.

Evidence of the "unrest" that we have heard so much about are not visible in Vermont and Wisconsin. In both of these states the protection party seems to be on a perfectly level keel.

If the president is not a "stand-patter," he is as near it as the average Republican. He doesn't regard tariff schedules as something that should be held sacred and inviolable, but he does think that it would be madness to jeopardize general business by an assault upon the tariff which conditions do not warrant.

BRYAN'S FREE TRADE ALLIES.

Disgruntled Trusts Will Help Him to Break Down the Price of Labor.

As Mr. Bryan has not recanted in the matter of the tariff, he is still for free trade, and as he is the recognized leader of his party, indeed its dictator, the policy he favors will be carried out to the letter should the next congress in its lower branch be won by the Democrats.

And Mr. Bryan is very likely to have some allies who will be new on that side of the fight. If exorbitant trust prices are to be forced down by law, it is certain the monopolists will move at once to cut down the wages of their workmen.

Manufacturers do it because they prosper under protection and are ruined by federal trade. Wage earners do it because there is plenty of work at high wages under protection, while under free trade there is little work and much lower wages.

Farmers do it because everything they own and have to sell has a far higher market value under protection than under free trade.

Queer Sort of Protectionism.

In an interview with the Louisville Courier-Journal, a leading free trade newspaper, ex-Senator Washburn, of Minnesota, declares himself in favor of immediate revision of the tariff and "a broad and comprehensive provision for the negotiation of treaties of reciprocity."

We should say that this statement was, on the contrary, very necessary. No one would suspect the gentleman of being an ardent defender of the principle of the protective tariff.

That the protective tariff creates monopolies is a charge many times repeated by the opponents of protection. That protection encourages and builds up competition in the United States is the claim of friends of that policy, and proof of that claim is given in the existence of manufacturing competition in this country such as no other nation possesses.

A Specific Illustration.

A Bad Year.

This is a bad year for American labor to commit any political follies. It is a bad year to hold the door open for tariff changes. It is certainly a bad year to withhold hearty support from the Republican party, that has created all the wonderful prosperity that workmen enjoy—and that is the opinion, too, of the great majority of workmen, who will vote for Republican tariff protection, as they always do.

In 1864 the Republican party re-elected Lincoln, vindicated his aggressive war policy, and declared that slavery must be abolished.

GOOD CATCH

Is Made by the Immigration Authorities.

THE YACHT FROLIC

And Part of Her Cargo of Chinamen are Captured—Three of the Crew are Arrested.

Providence, R. I.—Eighteen Chinamen who were arrested Wednesday after the capture by the United States immigration authorities of the schooner yacht Frolic, for which revenue cutters have been searching along the New England coast for the last two weeks, were held last night by United States Commissioner Cross in $1,000 bail each for examination next Wednesday.

This declaration contradicted a statement made by John C. Lehmann, of Boston, one of the men arrested for complicity in the smuggling operations, that the Chinamen brought by the Frolic from Newfoundland came to that country direct from China.

Edward Jenkins, of Boston, and William A. Duncan, of Somerville, Mass., who were arrested as members of the crew of the Frolic, and Lehmann, who was captured on shore, where he is said to have been engaged in an effort to dispose of the smuggled Chinamen, were not arraigned.

Twenty-four other Chinamen were passengers on the Frolic and are believed to be hiding in the Chinese quarter in this city, but immigration inspectors have been unable to locate them.

Lehmann made statements which, if true, indicate that the smuggling of Chinese into New England states has been carried on for years with great profit. He stated that an expedition like that of the Frolic netted about $15,000 clear of all expenses.

Failed for $3,000,000. Ceballos & Co., New York Bankers and Merchants, Are Forced to Assign.

New York.—The assignment of J. M. Ceballos & Co., bankers and merchants, with liabilities between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 was announced Wednesday in a statement which declared that the failure was due to the defalcation and absconding of Manuel Silveira, of Silveira & Co., Havana, agents of the New York company.

Chicago, Ill.—In the second game of the world's championship series Wednesday the Chicago National league team took decisive revenge for Tuesday's defeat, when they vanquished the American league team on the latter's grounds, 7 to 1.

Is Said to Have Embezzled $500,000. Philadelphia, Pa.—According to a statement which the Public Ledger publishes to-day, on the authority of a member of the Wampole Co., Henry K. Wampole, the drug manufacturer whose body was found recently in the East river, New York, died an embezzler of $500,000.

Cossacks Sold Arms to Revolutionists. Warsaw.—The police in the suburb of Praga have discovered an arsenal from which Cossacks had been selling government arms to revolutionists.

PLEASURES OF CAMPING OUT.

Have you ever under a tent— Spent bliss? A few days of unalloyed bliss? Is what you'll find it out to be! We Tried it this year just for a spell. Well, Rain fell in torrents every day. Noah never had such a flood. Mud Up to our ankles; we were doused, Soused! And then the insects, brutes with wings, Things You've read about, but never seen, Green, Red, yellow, black, of every hue. Phew! We thought our Nemesis had come! Hum Like fury all the day and night. Bite, Sting, get into your drink and food! Good Heav'n's! not to speak of emnets' nests, Pests That crawl down your neck, and a score Of beastly insects—not for me! More Who says this sort of thing's all right, Might Be reasonably on the spot. Shot! —N. Y. Sun.

The Ideal "Pop." "Yes, my son." "When a fellow goes to a circus and gets red lemonade and peanuts, doesn't he have to give money for 'em?" "Certainly he does, my boy." "Well, this paper says here that money won't buy happiness."—Yonkers Statesman.

A Species. "Mrs. Kwivvery is one of those anticipatory people, and I simply can't carry on a conversation with her without getting so nervous I feel as though I should fly to pieces," says the lady with the jade brooch. "Anticipatory?" says the lady without any long gloves. "How is that?" "She listens faster than you talk to her."—Life.

Angels. "What is your idea of heaven?" asked the man who asks blunt questions. "Heaven," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes, absent mindedly, "is a place where angels are so plentiful that there should be no difficulty in finding one to back a production."—Washington Star.

Couldn't Risk It Clara—I don't think Jack is very sincere. Bess—Why? Clara—Just before we left the summer resort he wanted me to give him back all the snap shots that had been taken of us in silly positions.—Detroit Free Press.

Before and After. A man said to a friend one day: "Do you think two can live as cheaply as one?" "Before my marriage I thought they could," the friend replied. "And afterward?" "Afterward I found they had to."—Cassell's Journal.

Something to Heal. "What'll you have on your face, sir?" asked the polite barber. "Little amica and court plaster, if you don't mind," replied the victim. —Milwaukee Sentinel.
