WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.] Washington, Nov. 24, 1906.

It is a rather interesting indication of the feelings through the great West that the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress should have turned down Mr. Bryan as it did. This matter has its hinge in Washington not only because of Mr. Bryan's White Houseward looks but also because Secretary Root and a number of other government officials were honored guests before the Congress, and it was shown by the outcome that their counsels, rather than those of the eminent Nebraskan, prevailed.

Secretary Root, bearing a message from the administration which could hardly be mistaken, spoke carnestly in favor of a Ship Subsidy Bill and also said certain things in favor of the Monroe Doctrine, which were grateful to the people at large and which the South American diplomats were doubtless also glad to hear. Then arose Mr. Bryan. He ignored Ship Subsidy, he sad nothing about the Monroe Doctrine; and he presented to the Convention two resolutions, the one favoring international arbitration, on which he had made his reputation before the Inter-Parliaamentary Union in England, and the other characteristically demoeratic denouncing all trusts and monopolies of every sort.

Note the result. The Convention knew that the present administration was doing all it reasonably could in the matter of "trust busting." It knew also that we stood for international arbitration, witness the attitude of the President in issuing the first call for the spiritual. re-assembling of the Hague conference. But it turned down these two resolutions of Nebraskan origin, and it incorporated in the report of its resolutions committee a most stirring endorsement of the Monroe Doctrine, and a further endorsement, not of the Ship Subsidy Bill, but of the upbuilding of the American Merchant Marine with the incidental remark that it agreed thoroughly with the presentment that had been made by Secretary Root.

This side stepping of the Subsidy Bill proposition was no doubt a judicious avoidance of trouble. The Ship Subsidy Bill is going to be an expensive luxury. It probably will secure the results at which it aims, but it has acquired during the past session of Congress a styellow dog" reputation, and there will be many hard things said when the bill is finally forced to a passage.

A decision has been reached by Postmaster General Cortelyou to give the contract for printing United States postage stamps to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing after all, in spite of the fact that the Bureau was slightly underbid by the American Bank Note Company on proposals for the stamps a few weeks ago. The difference in favor of the lower bid amounted to about $17,000, but there was no mandatory law which would compel the acceptance of this bid, and the Postmaster Gen- music at Chas. Diehl's.

eral decided that all things considered, it would not be economy to throw the postage stamp plant of the Bnreau out of commission and leave the machinery standing idle, or else sell it, probably at a loss, to the company which had put in a lower bid for the stamps.

A GIGANTIC GAMBLE.

Every Step of the Pearl Fishery At-tended by Fickle Fortune.

The world's most gigantic gamble, pregnantly fruitful with chance in all variations and shadings, is unquestionably the Ceylon pearl fishery. Compared with it any state lottery pales to insignificance. From the taking of the erst oyster to the draining of the last ratful of "matter" every step is atended by fickle fortune, and never is the interest of the people of Portugal or of Mexico keener over a drawing of a lottery, the tickets of which may have been sold at the very thresholds of the cathedrals, than is that of the natives of Ceylon and southern India over the daily results of a Manar fishery. Each bivalve is a lottery ticket. It may contain a gem worthy of place in a monarch's crown or be a seed pearl with a mercantile value of only a few Perhaps one oyster in a hunrupees. Pernaps one oyster in a hundred contains a pearl, and not more than one pearl in a hundred, be it known, has a value of importance. Nature furnishes the sea, pearling banks, oysters and all therein contained. The Ceylon administration conducts the undertains and fight. ducts the undertaking and for its trou-ble and trifling outlay exacts a "rakeoff" of two-thirds of all that may be won from the deep. And mere man, the brown or black diver, receives for his daring and enterprise one oyster in every three that he brings from the ocean's depths, and his earnings must be shared with boat owner, sailors, at-tendants and assistants almost without

For size of "rake-off" there is no game of hazard in the world offering a parallel. The Ceylon government used to exact three out of every four oysters brought in, the current tribute of two out of three having become operative only a few years since.-Frederic C. Penfield in Century.

THE MANTO.

A Garment That All Chilean Women Wear to Church.

The Chilean women's most fetching garment, wrap, or what you will, is the manto. It is of some kind of fine black material and is worn thrown over the head. Sometimes a flap of it is drawn tightly across the forehead. After being thrown over the head the manto, by some means which I have as yet been unable to discern, is cinched in close about the neck.

This cinching in at the neck makes kind of hood around the face, and this hood is very skillfully manipulat ed by some of the women to cover up moles and other defects and to con-ceal the fact that their hair has not been carefully combed.

From the shoulders the manto falls down in front to the toes and behind to the heels. It is held together in front partly by pins and partly by the hands of the wearer. It is usually, but not always, worn over the street cos-

The wearing of mantos by all women, no matter of what class, on attending church is obligatory. This provid-ing for a uniform costume is quite reasonable and is designed to eliminate such things as our Easter bonnet competitions and allow the mind to for sake earthly and devote itself to things

It also swells the attendance on many occasions, for some of the ladies. when they arise too late to have time to dress for early morning mass, merely throw on their mantos over their robes de nuit and, with the addition of such head and foot trimming as is necessary to give the impression of being fully dressed, trip demurely off to church to all outward though they had spent hours instead of minutes before their glasses.-Los Angeles Times.

Greek Burial Custom

It is the custom in certain parts of Greece to carry bodies to the grave in coffins which allow the face to be The fashion is said to have originated when the Turks dominated the land. At that time arms and ammunition were being constantly distrib-uted to the Greek populace in a way which baffled the Turkish officials un til a coffin which was being escorted by an apparently mourning procession was found to contain not a body, but weapons. An order was then promulgated that bodies were to be borne to he grave only on open litters or in coffins without lids.

RHEUMATISM BADLY CRIPPLES A BALDWINS-VILLE FARMER

URIC-0 QUICKLY CURED HIM Mr. Frank Howe, a prominent farmer of the Town of Van Buren, says:—"During a siege of the most painful form of Rheumatism, which lasted two years, I did everything that was possible with the aid of money to find relief. I spent several hundred dollars, and seemed to grow worse instead of better each day. Being on crutches and forced to drive to the train and then hobbling to the doctor's office, became very discouraging, let alone the then hobbling to the doctor's office, became very discouraging, let alone the sleepless nights and fearful hours of pain. Being advised by a friend to try Uric-O, I purchased a bottle and began its use as directed. In less than 24 hours these fearful sciatic pains left me, my blood seemed to let loose and flow freely, I felt different, and knew at once that I had found a cure, as I slept and rested all that night, something I had not done before in two years. I used in all six bottles of Uric-O, and can truthfully say that I have never felt a return of the disease, and have had no use for crutches or cane since the first day's treatment.
