Advantages of Madness. The truth is, I fear, that madness has a great advantage over sanity.

The Crafts Brother. A man had two sons. The elder was virtuous and dutiful, the younger wicked and crafty.

One by one the political party platform pledges are being redeemed. Two of the bills, the trolley freight and the two-cent fare bill, have been signed by the governor and other legislation affecting the railroads is on its way through the legislature.

Great Boon to Farmers. A great many trolley lines pass through districts far removed from the big railroads. Yet the farmers have been obliged to ship their products to the city market and get their goods from the city by the expensive route of the steam lines supplemented by long hauls by wagons.

Wanted. Good live agents, to solicit members for KEYSTONE GUARD; five year dividend, special features, first seller; liberal commission to good solicitors none other need apply.

For Sale. One meat wagon for sale. Call on Wm. Hackenberg, trustee for Geo. H. Gross & Co., bankrupt.

Warning. All persons are hereby forbidden from trespassing upon the property of this Company without a permit from this office, or the Superintendent at the works.

NEW SET OF EXCUSES

Will Be Needed by Senators If They Again Defeat Popular Vote for Senator

LYDICK BILL COMING ALONG

Contains Similar Provisions, Which, If Knocked Out in Senate, Will Necessitate Still More Explaining Than Has Already Been Done.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Although the senate by a majority of three votes killed the McCord bill providing for a popular vote on the United States senatorship it is not yet through with the proposition. The senators now have the Lydick primary election bill to tackle.

The senators who opposed the McCord bill, in explaining their action, declared that as that measure made it binding upon the members of the legislature to vote for the candidate for United States senator indicated by a majority of the votes of the people it was unconstitutional as well as unreasonable and unjust.

No bill has caused the senators more concern than did the McCord bill, which was defeated. The senators have had to make lengthy explanations to their constituents regarding the provisions of the measure.

Although the Lydick bill provides only for an "expression" of the voters on the senatorship question an expression is regarded just as binding as if it were set forth in stronger terms such as contained in the McCord bill. Now it will be up to the senators who voted against the McCord bill to find some other excuse for voting against the Lydick bill.

good roads and the appropriations to be made this session are only a beginning. The resolution providing for a constitutional amendment so that $25,000,000 worth of bonds may be issued for good roads was defeated in the house.

No More Birds On Hats. "Lady, you will certainly have to take that bird off your hat or I'll be obliged to lock you up."

This is what the "copper" will say to the woman who insists upon adorning her bonnet with a bird or a bird wing after the Cribbs bill becomes a law. This measure has passed the house and unless the senate sees fit to knock it out it bids fair to go on the statute books.

School teachers all over the state are anxiously awaiting Governor Stuart's action on the teacher's pension bill. The bill creating a retirement fund for school teachers in cities of the second and third classes is now in the hands of the governor.

The teachers' pension bill had quite a struggle to get through the senate but it finally succeeded. It will mean the expenditure of many thousands of dollars in pensions in the various communities affected, but advocates of the measure contend that it is a most worthy one and they are using their best endeavors to induce the governor to sign it.

Labor Making Progress. The Casey employers' liability bill, which passed the house after much tribulation, is now in the senate. The bill is satisfactory to the labor people and to many of the legislators.

Amending the act of March 16, 1905, providing for the voting of shares of stock incorporations held by executors so as to require such holders to set the same apart when directed by a will to vote the same in a manner and as directed by the cestui que trust or persons beneficially interested therein and prohibiting the sale of such stock under certain circumstances.

Defining the duties of the State Dental Council. Requiring steam and electric railway companies to report to the secretary of internal affairs the number of statute miles of road operated.

Providing for memorial halls at seats of counties of more than 150,000 population in memory of the soldiers, sailors and marines who participated in any war against the United States.

Equalizing taxation of restaurants, eating houses and cafes. To prevent entry upon lands by corporations for purpose of taking the lands by eminent domain without first giving notice in writing of the purpose to make such entry to the owner of the land.

Authorizing county commissioners to assume control of township and county bridges 35 feet and upward in length and to rebuild such bridges.

Extra Session Possible. It now looks as if the legislature would have to be reconvened in extra session or to hold an adjourned session some time next fall.

It is thought that under the circumstances it will be impossible to make any kind of a preliminary report to the legislature before the close of the session that would be at all satisfactory. It is thought that as developments have shown an antiquated and altogether unsatisfactory system of government, as regards the conduct of the various departments, new laws should be enacted. However, until the inquiry is completed it will be impossible to tell just what remedial legislation should be passed.
