Prophet Spangler.

Leo L. Spangler, who has styled himself for number of years as "the last of the prophets," has issued another of his remarkable bulletins, says a dispatch from York, Pa. This time he is more specific in his statements. He now asserts that the world will come to an end in nineteen months. He now warns all the people to beware and look out for the dissolution of the world.

He says there will be no more seasons, that summer and winter will be as one, and there will not be any way of telling one from the other. Snow in July need not be a surprise, and sleigh riding is likely to be one of the summer pastimes. He adds:

"There will be more black spots to occur on the sun's disk, and by the latter part of 1908 the sun will be entirely black. The earthquakes will shake all the principal cities of the nations. Great excursion wrecks will occur and there will be great distress in the land until the end shall come."

Sat on a Rattler.

Mrs. George W. Verner, Mrs. J. V. Quiggle and Miss Edmondson, of Williamsport, had a thrilling experience with rattlesnakes while trout fishing on Pine creek, Thursday; avers the Williamsport Sun. Mrs. Verner and Miss Edmondson were fishing in the stream when Mrs. Quiggle, who had become tired decided to sit down along the bank and rest awhile. She did so and felt something move under her. Thinking it was a crooked stick which had become displaced, she tried to move it, but instead of a stick she found herself grasping the tail of a very much alive rattlesnake. She screamed for the other two women and they at once came and the three dispatched the reptile by means of stones.

The snake was lying stretched out with its head under a stone. Mrs. Quiggle is a large woman and her weight held the reptile powerless. It was owing to these two facts that she escaped being bitten. Knowing that a snake usually has its mate nearby Mrs. Verner started out to hunt for the second one. About two rods up the stream her search came to an end. The second snake lay stretched out, and it, too was soon dispatched. The first reptile had seventeen rattles and the second fifteen. Fearing that their stories would not be believed the women carried the snakes to Pine, to substantiate their claims.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong; if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell.
