A Hearing Ear.

A busy doctor who had engaged a young assistant was asked if he really intended to entrust him with his cases.

Small boys will no doubt continue to eat green fruit with no discrimination as to kind or quantity or manner of consumption.

Great Britain's employes' compensation act has gone into effect, and there is some doubt as to whether its effects will be good or bad.

"Psychic epilepsy" has succeeded brain storm as a medical term. A New York physician has just been cleared of the charge of brutally assaulting a man and woman on the street on the plea that he had been subject to attacks of psychic epilepsy from childhood.

G. A. Kessler, the New Yorker who has bought Riverside, Dorne End, on the Thames, where the Harvard crew trained last fall, will spend $150,000 in renovating it.

GRATEFUL KAISER

HOW GERMANY'S RULER LOVES THE UNITED STATES.

Keenly Appreciative of the Fact That Our Government Is Now Issuing to German Exporters Cut Rates of Admission to the American Market.

Just now the American ambassador at Berlin is the recipient of marked favor and consideration at the hands of the German emperor.

It would seem that Wilhelm I. cannot do too much to show how much he loves America.

Commencing with July 1, our government has begun the issue to German exporters of cut-rate tickets of admission to the American market.

Only a few weeks ago our ambassador to Germany, home on leave, constituted himself ambassador from Germany and in a dinner speech told the people of this country how kind the Germans were in consenting to forego their proposed rank discrimination against our products.

It would seem to have been an "inspired" speech, for not long after came the conclusion of that astounding tariff agreement whereunder the German exporters are permitted to decide what duties they shall pay upon entering their goods at United States custom houses.

We should think the emperor would be nice to our ambassador. He ought to be.

It is not surprising to learn that Wilhelm regards Mr. Roosevelt as the greatest of all American presidents.

Perhaps they are. But nobody who reads the news from Berlin can say that monarchies are ungrateful.

That Useful Tariff Cudgel.

Speaking of the discovery by the state department of the forgotten law of 1890, authorizing the prohibition of imports from any country which unjustly discriminates against the products of the United States.

"A useful tariff cudgel is what the experts term it. So it is useful, in the sense that a club in the hands of a policeman or the puller-in of a Bowery clothing store might be.

If the writer of this curious comment was about to be held up in a dark alley he would be mighty glad to remember that he had with him a useful cudgel, and he would not hesitate to use it.

Characteristic.

In his recent speech before the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce Gov. Cummins said:

"I am for tariff revision and for tariff reduction as a measure of justice to the buyers of protected commodities. It seems to me that we have gone mad in our zeal for the seller and have abandoned the buyer to the tender mercies of monopoly, combination and greed."

Consideration for the consumer and justice for the buyer is orthodox free trade doctrine. The trouble with free traders is that they fail to remember that in our country 99 per cent. of the consumers are also producers and 99 per cent. of the buyers are also sellers.

Cost Reduced by Protection. The tariff on plate glass has at least not prevented the reduction in price of that article from $2.50 per square foot in 1876 to 30 and 35 cents per square foot at the present time.

COULD NOT FACE THE FACTS.

Agitators for Tariff Revision Are Heavily Handicapped.

The country has seemingly so much to do and is so prosperous that the tariff question has been lost sight of.

New York.—Clarence W. Byrne, who was recently tried and convicted on charges growing out of his failure to employ medical assistance for his 6-year-old daughter, who died of pneumonia, was on Friday sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment by the court of general sessions.

The defendant's excuse for not calling a medical practitioner during his daughter's illness was "want of faith in doctors" and reliance upon the efficacy of the religious faith to which he belongs.

HOW UNCLE SAM WAS TIED UP.

President Fallieres—Tell me, my dear friend, how you managed it.

Kaiser Wilhelm—It was very easy; much easier than I had dared to believe. I told him that German exporters were scrupulously honest in the matter of valuations, and also intensely philanthropic in their regard for American interests.

Going It Blind.

With impressive unanimity the free-trade newspapers are directing attention to the tariff revision resolution adopted by the National Association of Manufacturers.

Delegates to large conventions seldom do much of their own thinking. The thinking is done for them by somebody else.

A still smaller proportion—practically none, excepting the half-baked free traders on the committee which reported the resolution—had the faintest conception of what would be involved in tariff revision downward.

We think the anti-protective newspapers are mistaken in supposing that American manufacturers are ready to toss protection overboard.
