Of course the PRESS follows them, with best wishes. The many friends of little Robert Baker, who has been seriously ill with kidney trouble for the past three weeks, will be pleased to know he is improving. Jos Newton was called to Durham, Ont., last week, to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, Geo. Sparring, one of Durham's busiest business men. Mr. Newton returned home on Wednesday. A. J. Seifried has been shaking hands with old friends in town the past few days. Muskrats. Rare old Captain John Smith in his quaint "History of New England and the Summer Isles," published in London in 1624 gives probably the first written account of the muskrat. He says that "the muskacia is a beast of the form and nature of our (English) water rat" and adds that "some of them smell exceedingly strong of musk." These animals may be caught in almost any sort of trap baited with sweet apples or parsnips. Muskrats have very strong teeth and can use them on wood effectively, so it is wise to protect all corners and cracks in your wooden traps with pieces of tin or sheet iron. They have good noses and can smell an apple a long distance off. Place your traps in the shallow water at the edge of the mill pond or stream inhabited by these rats, and they will doubtless find it without difficulty. Young muskrats are very game and playful and may be handled without fear. They do not grow fierce with age if reared in captivity and accustomed to gentle treatment. Gambling. The supreme objection to gambling in all its forms, whether in sport or in speculative business, is that it works harm and loss to society. As soon as any practice or conduct is found to be socially hurtful it thereby becomes wrong, whatever men may have thought of it before. Does not all morality rise to consciousness through the fact of social advantage or injury? Now the long and costly experience of mankind bears uniform testimony against gambling till at last the verdict of civilization has become as nearly unanimous as human judgment can be that it is an intolerable nuisance. It is a dangerous or unsocial form of excitement. It hurts character, demoralizes industry, breeds quarrels, tempts men to self destruction, and it works special injustice to women and children. We may not know precisely why morphine preys upon the nervous system and has to be labeled "poisonous." The fact is the main consideration. So with the stimulus or excitation of gambling. Grant that I profess myself willing to pay for my fun. The fun is degrading, like the prize fight or bear baiting.—Charles F. Dole in Atlantic. Waltz is Not Modern. Many people labor under the impression that the waltz is of modern origin, owing to the fact that it was comparatively unknown in America or in England until the early part of the nineteenth century. But it was brought originally from Provence to the court of Henry II. of France, at Fontainebleau, by the Comte de Saulte. Mary, queen of Scots, imported it into Scotland, for history records her as having incurred the bitter wrath and fierce denunciation of John Knox and of other divines of the "land of cakes" for dancing it on one memorable occasion at the palace of Holyrood. Toward the end of the seventeenth century it was danced throughout southern Germany and Austria, the celebrated waltz tune and popular song, "O, Du Lieber Augustin," dating from 1670. But, as already stated, it was not until the first two decades of the nineteenth century that it made its first appearance in England and the United States, when it was alternately denounced and lauded by the poets of the epoch. A Dog Story. A Columbus man who likes to hunt quail, who is handy with the gun and has a fine bird dog whose work as a retriever is remarkable loaned him to a friend who was only an amateur at the business. About the middle of the forenoon of the first day the dog returned to his master's home. The latter, not knowing what had happened, took his gun in the afternoon to try the dog. He worked all right, and a number of birds were secured. The next day he met the friend who had borrowed the dog. "What is the matter with that dog?" he asked. "We got up a covey of quail and shot at them, but missed. We afterward got up a number of the scattered birds and took a dozen shots or more, but got nothing, and the dog put his tail between his legs and struck across the fields in the direction of his home." It is evident that the dog, disgusted at the poor shooting, decided that the men with the guns were not in his class and decided to cut it out.—Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

BUFFALO TIMBER CO. IS INTERESTED

All Unlocated Provincial Timber Lands in British Columbia are Reserved. The following telegram from Bradford to Buffalo Times will interest many Cameron county investors. The Buffalo Timber Co., of which Mr. E. V. Dunlevie, formerly of this county, is President, has large holdings. The Bradford telegram says: The many Bradford people who have timber holdings in British Columbia will be happily surprised to learn that a new act putting all British Columbia timber lands under reserve has been signed by the lieutenant-governor, and as a result the value of their holdings will be doubled. A special dispatch from Victoria to the Daily News-Advertiser of Vancouver says: An order in council was supported by his honor, the lieutenant-governor, yesterday, stating that "from and after the date hereof, all lands in the province of British Columbia not lawfully held by pre-emption, purchase, lease or crown grant, shall be reserved from alienation under the land act by way of timber license." The effect of this is to withdraw all timber land from being open to be taken up by timber licenses. S. A. Mundy, of the Mundy Lumber Company has received the following telegram from G. S. McCarter, a well-known attorney of Revelstoke, B. C., which explains the effect on the present holdings in the province: "All unlocated provincial timber lands reserved. The effects will undoubtedly double the value of existing licenses." The Buffalo Timber Company, of Buffalo, N. Y., owns a big tract of timber in that section of British Columbia.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

Bulletin. THE MIDWINTER OUTING.

This is the time for the midwinter outing. A dash of summer in the midst of winter is an agreeable variation. It makes for health and pleasurer and stimulates vitality. For the extended trip, Southern California, the fruit and flour land of the Pacific Coast, offers unrivaled attractions. For the fortnight's trip, Florida, the Summer garden of the Northern winter, bids you come and enjoy its genial sunshine, its tropical scenes and its out-door life. For the ten days' outing, Pinehurst, Camden, Aiken, Augusta, Southern Pines and other popular resorts in the pine belt of the Carolinas and Georgia offer many inducements. For the short trip—the week-end outing—Atlantic City is always attractive. The same breezes that depress the thermometer in summer seem to keep it up in winter. It offers great hotels on the ocean's edge, out-of-door life on land and serf and a climate full of snap but shorn of the winter severity. Before deciding on your midwinter outing consult a Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agent and get a Pennsylvania Railroad Excursion Book. Whether you select California, Florida, the Carolinas, or Atlantic City, the Pennsylvania Railroad offers a comprehensive train service, reasonable rates and ticketing arrangements, and the best facilities that modern transportation methods can provide. 46-2
