It's a pity that sick ones continue to drug the Stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys. The weak nerves, not the organs themselves, need the help. WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.]

Washington, Feb. 15, 1908.

Desperation is the one word which properly describes the attitude of mind of the forces which are opposing the administration and seeking to forstall a continuance of the Reosevelt policies. forts of the anti-administration forces in the South where, by means of "rump" conventions they are seeking to avert the inevitable, the nomination of William H. Taft, "Big Bill," as his admirers call him. The first concrete evidence of this programme occurred in Florida, where a rump convention elected uninstructed delegates, after the regular convention had instructed its delegates for Taft. Winthrop Murray Crane, United States Senator from Massachusetts, directed the work through Butler Ames, Representative from the same state, while the idea originated with Senator Foraker who has arrived at a point where he cares nothing for the success of the Republican party and, in a blind rage, seeks only the defeat of Roosevelt and Taft.

The scheme of the anti-administration crowd, commonly called 'the allies,' is to have a sufficiently large number of contesting delegations at Chicago so that by seating the majority of them the delegations instructed for Taft can be outvoted. It was pointed out by one anti-administration member of the National Committee that if this programme were carried too far it would result in too severe criticism of the National Committee; whereupon, Mr. Foraker proposed to get up contesting delegations from Ohio with himself and Then, he explained, the National Committee could consider the Ohio cases first, could throw them out and seat the Taft delegations, and so demonstrate it "absolute fairness' to the country. WASTED PRECAUTIONS.

A Spell of Worry and Anxiety That Went For Naught. Ferguson was wending his uncertain way homeward, sorely troubled in his mind over the curtain lecture he knew was in store for him and casting about for some means of evading it. Sudden ly a bright idea was evolved from his befuddled brain. He would slip into the house and get quietly into bed without awakening his wife.

Accordingly he stole gently upstairs, carefully undressed outside the door and crept into bed, with his face toward the outside.

He mentally congratulated himself upon his success thus far and went to

When he awoke in the morning he dared not look at his wife, and after lying still for a few minutes and not hearing any noise from her he con-cluded she was still asleep.

He then determined to arise very quietly, carry his clothes outside the door, dress there and go downtown to business without waiting for breakfast. He was successful in this, and, meeting the servant girl downstairs, he

ENGLISH JUSTICE.

Hard on Petty Thieves and Light on Wife Beaters.

It is only about a century since the leath penalty was inflicted in England for theft not exceeding the value of a sheep. Now some of the London jour-nals are making a merciless exposure of magistrates throughout the kingdom who keep up the tradition by sentenc-Ing petty thieves to jail while inflict-Ing only trifling fines upon wife beaters and even more brutal offenders.

In one police court one defendant was fined 10s. 6d. for knocking his wife down in the street because she refused to give him money for drink, and another was sentenced to sixty days' imprisonment for damaging growing potatoes and stealing two footballs.

For cruelty to a horse, beating his wife, who was ill, with fist and hammer and leaving her with nothing to eat one man was fined 10 shillings, while another, charged with stealing a pair of socks valued at sixpence, got fourteen days' hard labor. It would not be difficult to make up a list of courts, yet the tendency in America is rather toward a higher estimate of the value of human life.—Van Norden Mag-

Australian Curiosities.

There are some curious things in central Australia. Lake Amadeus in the dry season is merely a sheet of salt. Ayers rock, about five miles round, rises abruptly from the desert. Formerly vast rivers flowed here, and the liprotodon, a wombat-like creature worthy of its name and four times as in the mud and lie low till the next years. Meanwhile the provident frog, like the "mousie" of Robert Burns, may have the misfortune to furnish a drink to a thirsty black. The natives also get water from the roots of trees been before and that the national revere certain plants or animals which guard of the several states will protect them. > Why Currants Are Nutritious. The reason why currants are so remarkably nutritious is that they consist to a very large degree of saccha-lin in its most easily digestible form that of grape sugar. The piquant flavor of the currant, which adds so much to its pleasantness as a food, is derived from the valuable percentage of tartaric acid which the berry contains Potash is also present in the form of cream of tartar and is undoubtedly of dietetic value.—Ladies' Pictorial.

My Overland Route From Iowa to California.

I left my home in Iowa in company with my parents and a number of families from Powers-ville and surrounding neighborhood at a little past noon on October 23, 1907, and went to Nashua, where we bought our through tickets to California, and were to leave at 5:10 but of course our train was late so we did not leave until 5:45 p. m. We took a day coach and went to Water-loo, lowa. where we remained over night with friends and spent a very enjoyable evining. The next morning we left Waterloo several hours late in a throng car for Los Angeles, Cal. We had an old fashioned pullman sleeper and it was very low and got extremely dirty before we reached Oakland, where we changed cars. As it was so very low papa bumped his head a number of times and would always say. "There I've knock-ed another hole in that berth," but if that had been so it would have been more holy than righteous.

Coming through the western part of Iowa we saw a great many bluffs and we slept one night before we reached the boundry of Iowa, and though I have traveled quite a bit I never before rode so long id Iowa. We reached Omaha, Neb. about 10:00 a. m., of the secon day, and left there with eleven coaches and four baggage cars for California. We did not have much scenery until we reached Denver, Col., where we had to wait from noon Friday until seven-thirty that mgit, and had a good chance to see the city.
We went to the capitol. It is a massive building of white stone surrounded by a beautiful lawn.
The capitol is built on a knoll that has been graded down to a level and has great flights of steps running up the grounds. It was foggy when we were in Denver so we could not see the mountains, but before morning we were in the beautiful scenery which we sat up in our bunks to look at. By daybreak we were in the most beautiful of all includidg Hell Gate Canyon, where we had to go eleven miles to gain threefourths of a mile, and we could see the railroad station far below us. As soon as we ieft Hell Gate Canyon we came into the valley of the Frying Pan tn followed the Frying Pan and Grand rivers for miles, commencion when a mere stream in the mountains and growing until it was a great river perhaps a half mile wide and ery deep.

When we crossed the Coloado-Utah line we came upon a pleasing sign with Colorado painted on one side and Utah on the other with a heavy black line between. This was painted on a great flat rock. The train stopped here perhaps thirty minutes and as there was a great many names written or carved upon the rocks the young men of our cor got out and wrote number of names, my own being among the number so when you all cross the line next fail look for my signature upon the rocks. Lucy Barris, of Charles City, Iowa, and myself got ont also and as I stood across the line I feel (as the people of my acquaintance know is my failing) and landed in the cactus on the bank and so had the thorns of Utah in one hand and those of Colorado in the other which I kept a few days and they remined me of the line because of the constant pain I recived from them.

Sunday morning we arrived at Ogden, Utah at 4:30 a. m., and left ot 11:10 a. m., during which time we went to Ggden canyon by electric car and there saw the mast exquisite sights I ever saw. On both sides were mountains reaching as high as one could see, with a cut road between and water running below for several miles. On and water running below or several mines. On one mountain which was perhaps several hund-red feet high, a spring came from the top of said mountain and fell into a brook below, coming down through a worn ridge several feet deep and it was about one foot wide at the top widenlug to five feet at the bottom. We had to run to catch the car and I wish you could have seen mamma run, it was mighty comic I'll tell you. After we left Ogden we crossed Great Salt Lake on a bridge and the train stopped in the center at a place called Midlake and there papa and a number of others got off and got snit water. Papa had a beer bottle full and said that was the farthest he ever saw anything in a beer bottle go, for he had plenty to throw away. It took us nearly two hours to cross the Lake. Soon after we left the lake we came upon a box car where a and he had a half bottle in his hand so another fellow took the full bottle from him, of course that made the fellow mad so he chased the fellow clear around the car, but got the bottle back and pretty soon I saw him come towards me and het hrew the bottle and opener up into my window which was open and said, "ugh", being unable to speak English. Of course I gave it back but he threw it in gazin and I kent it until Tree. but he threw it in again and I kept it until Tues day night, when papa opened it but it was so warm it flew across the isle onto a lady of our party and it ended in being tossed out of the window that it came and I kave the top of that bottle yet.

The next two days and night was spent in riding over deserts when we could see nothing but sage brush and sand.

We reached Oakland Pier Tuesday and as we had three hours to wait a party of the young peo ple and mamma and papa went to San Francisco by ferry. When we arrived there the first thing we look for was breakfast, which we found and made quick work of. After breakfast we went around the poor shaken down city and the labor and dift was really remarkable. At one place we saw them pull over a piece of the ruin and it made a fearful crash.

When we seturned the car had been changed and instead of the old dirty car we had a nice and instead of the ordering car we had a first aurist sleeper and a new porter. We arrived at Los Aneeles just in time to find the train for Santa Ana standing on the track ready ty start in a half hour and we were very glad for we were very tired and hungry, for we had been told we would arrive at 7:09 and did not get here until 10:00 a. m., Wednesday. Oh no, we were not three hours late. but forty-eight instead, for we were due here Monday morning at 16:00 a. m.
