The Left Twin.

The survivor of twins is sometimes credited with curious powers. In folklore he takes his place with the seventh son and with the child born with a caul. All these are supposed to have either special powers of healing or in some cases to be gifted with the mysterious power of second sight. "In Essex, England," says W. G. Black in his book on "Folk Medicine," "a child known familiarly as a 'left twin'—i. e., a child who has survived his fellow twin—is thought to have the power of curing the thrush by blowing three times into the patient's mouth if the patient is of the opposite sex." This is folklore, pure and simple. Another country notion generally held is that if twins are boy and girl the latter will never become a mother. The Physiology of the subject is obscure, but there is probably ground for the belief. Another idea not infrequently met with is that the intelligence of twins is below the average. It is always difficult to prove a negative, but it is very doubtful whether facts support this notion of limited intelligence to any extent whatever. It is much more probable that their physical strength is likely to be something less than normal.

What's in a Name?

"Come here, Bates!" roared Dr. Bigwig, head and only master of the Cramton village school. "I have today received—ahem!—a letter from Mr. Johnson informing me that his son is unable to attend school in consequence of a thrashing you yesterday inflicted upon him. Is this a fact, Bates?" "N-n-no, sir!" quailed Bates. "I never touch 'im."

But Dr. Bigwig did not believe, and two minutes later Bates was asking for permission to stand up in class, the benches being of wood.

On the following day Johnson returned, and Dr. Bigwig sought justification of his act before the whole class.

"Did you tell your father that Bates thrashed you?" he asked.

"No, sir," piped the youth.

The master's countenance clouded.

"But your father wrote to me, saying that Bates did it!" he thundered.

"I know 'e did!" sniveled Johnson.

"It were Billy Beauchamp did it, sir, but father couldn't speel Beauchamp, so he wrote Bates."—London Answers.

His Desire to Reform.

Discussing poverty on one occasion, the Dutch poet and economist Van Eeden said, "We want reform, and we want it about as badly as a Dutch student I knew in my youth."

"This student's chum said to him: 'Look here, I'm tired of the life I've been leading for the past two years. I'm going to reform. This morning I shall attend a lecture.'"

"My student, a confirmed idler, yawned, put down his pipe and answered:

"Yes; it would be splendid to reform, and yet the beer is very good here this morning, isn't it? I tell you what we'll do. We'll let my dog Wilhelm decide whether we reform or not."

"Wilhelm decide! How will he do it?"

"Oh, it is very simple. We'll tell the waiter to bring a piece of sausage. We'll set the sausage before Wilhelm, and if he eats it we stay where we are. If he doesn't, we reform and go to lectures."—Washington Star.

Landseer's Persistent Wooer.

Charles Landseer was a brother of Sir Edwin "and for some years," says the writer of "Leaves From a Life," "was the victim of the most extraordinary persecution that I should think any man ever met with. An eccentric woman fell desperately in love with him and used to pester him first with the most extravagant love letters and then by lying in wait for him whenever he left the house. Finally she issued invitations to the wedding, prepared breakfast and an enormous cake and called for poor Mr. Landseer in a carriage and pair, the horses decked out with white satin streamers and she herself dressed most gorgeously as a bride. But that was the end of the persecution. Her friends took her away, and Mr. Landseer remained a bachelor to the day of his death."

Forest of Strange Trees.

The most extraordinary forest in the world occupies a tableland some six miles in width between 300 and 400 feet above the sea near the west coast of Africa. The peculiarity of the trees of this forest is that, though their trunks are as much as four feet in diameter, they attain the height of only one foot. No tree bears more than two leaves, and these attain a length of six and a breadth of two feet. The flowers make gorgeous crimson clusters.

Missed the Job.

Molly—I just dote on Uncle Sam's brave sailor boys. Cholly—I wath thinking of joining the navy at one time. Molly—Oh, why didn't you? Cholly—Why, I w'ote to the secretary of the navy for a position as admiral, but he did not weply.—Judge.

Literature's Lost legion.

"There's a legion that never was listed" among books as well as among men; books that have been contemplated, but never written—a literary regiment of wraiths and ghosts.—Book Monthly.

Fair Warning.

He—I shall speak to your father tonight. How had I better begin? She—By calling his attention to the statutes governing assault, manslaughter and murder. Papa is so impulsive, you know.

If a man wishes to marry a woman forty years old, should he ask her father for her?—Acheson Globe.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases are too Dangerous for Emporium People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles are that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Emporium.

Mrs. Wm. Swartz, living on Maple Street, Emporium, Pa., says: "I suffered for a long time with dull nagging backaches and pains through my loins, so severe at times that I could hardly attend to my work. Every move I made caused me severe pain. I was unable to rest at night and in the morning would be worn out and tired. My kidneys were very active and the secretions caused me much annoyance and embarrassment. I used many remedies but was unable to obtain relief until a friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured this remedy from L. Taggart, the druggist, and used them in accordance with directions. The backache and pains quickly vanished, the kidneys were strengthened and my general health was improved. I am indeed grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for the great benefit received from their use and heartily recommend them to kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

It is pleasant to take. It is sold by R. C. Dodson.

Dodson, Druggist, where they sell all the principal remedies, and do not substitute.
