NOTES OF INTEREST.

Dr. Sultzer, veterinary surgeon of Wellsville, New York, died one day last week. An injury to one of his legs caused gangren to set in, costing him his life. The Dr. was a frequent visitor to Emporium and vicinity.

The Pennsy will make its annual inspection during October and supervisors are hustling to capture the prizes, many thousand dollars being awarded in prizes this year. About two hundred officials will accompany Gen'l Manager Atterbury and will occupy three trains. It is money well expended.

Besides its excellent reputation in advancing students along intellectual lines, the Lock Haven State Normal School is unsurpassed for its splendid advantages. Its large student body is handled as if it were a family and the welfare of each one is considered. It has a fine location and is well equipped. Address the Principal for illustrated catalogue.

Mrs. John M. Coyle, met with a great loss on Monday. After picking a large quantity of berries and canning 42 quarts in glass jars, she placed them in the cellar for winter use. On Monday the swinging shelf broke down, breaking every jar of the delicious fruit. This is certainly a hard loss and we hope her friends will each chip in a quart jar.

There must be something doing in railroad business when the number of trains on the P. & E. division have more than doubled in two weeks. Also when a Pittsburg firm gets an order for thousands of steel railway cars the railroads must be doing a little business in spite of the cry of hard times. No such large expenditures would be made unless business required it.

The Franklin News makes this righteous plea for the noble horse: Do not overload the wagons for the horses these hot days. Be fair and kind and the horse will live longer and happier and you will make a bigger profit in the longer run. Some concerted action must be taken to protect the dumb brutes in Cameron county. The two legged brutes are always non-concerned.

Perhaps the sheath gown in the fore-runner of a fashion which will demand that women wear a dress giving not only freedom of movement, but a chance to display the figure, comments Franklin News. The men's clothing of a century ago would about fill that bill and it may become popular some time. If the sheath gown ever gets established nothing will ever again shock the public.

If you are a kicker and see the shadow of failure in everything that is proposed to be held the town, for heaven sake go into some secluded canyon and kick your own shadow on the clay bank, and thus give men who are working to build up a town a chance. One long-faced, hollow-eyed, whining kicker can do more to keep business away from a town than all the druths, short crops, chinch bugs, cyclones and blizzards combined, remarks the Whitesville News man.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Lock Haven State Normal School has large dormitories, its rooms will all be taken for the Fall term beginning Sept. 7th. This is an indication of the esteem in which this splendid school is held by the young people of this state. It has a first-class equipment, a fine faculty and an ideal location. Expenses are moderate. Address the Principal for illustrated catalogue.

Winchester Monument Commission of Pennsylvania. Philadelphia, August 4, 1908.

COMRADES: The Monument in memory of the noble dead who lie buried in the National Cemetery, at Winchester, Va., will be unveiled and dedicated in September next, the definite date of which cannot now be fixed by the Commission.

It is the desire of the Commission that all of the old Pennsylvania soldiers who participated, or whose commands took part, in the battles of Winchester should be present on the occasion of the ceremonies commemorative of the valor of our heroic dead who are "lying under the sod and the dew."

Members of the commands which fought at Winchester and who contemplate taking part in the ceremonies are urged to advise the Secretary, at the address below, giving name, company and regiment, with present P. O., address, in order that a complete list of participants may be prepared for the report of the Commission.

Further details as to exact date, etc., will be mailed by the Secretary to all who may respond to this circular letter.

Very truly yours, COL. JAMES M. SCHOOMAKER, Pres. GEN. JOHN W. SCHALL, Treasurer. LEWIS W. MOORE, Secretary. Winchester Monument Commission. (Address of the Secretary until September 7th next will be L. W. Moore, Sagamore Beach, Mass.)

State Revenues From National Forests.

Figures just made public by the Forest Service show that under the new law requiring 25 per cent. of the gross proceeds of National Forest business to be paid over to the states and territories in which the forests are located, to be used for public schools and roads, the fiscal year will yield these states $447,063.79.

The amounts which go to each vary from $313.68 for Arkansas to over $75,000 for Montana. The small amount for Arkansas is because the two National Forests in that state were created so recently that they have not yet got fairly under way. Oklahoma, with one small National Forest, receives $554; Kansas $64; and the next smallest are Nebraska with $2,350. Since the Forests in these last two states were set aside from land naturally destitute of trees, that the Government might try forest planting on them, it will probably surprise most people that they should yield any revenue at all.

National Forest business is chiefly of three kinds, grazing, timber sales, special uses; the latter comprising the use of the lesser resources of the forests and the permits involving the development of water power. It is interesting to note the states in which the largest volume of each of these three kinds of business is done and study the causes which make their revenues correspondingly larger.

Montana, California and Colorado lead in timber sales. In the case of Montana and California, this fact is mainly due to the accessibility of the timber in the National forests. The fact that timber can be readily reached and quickly transported to market has created a heavy demand which is reflected in the volume of business. Colorado is almost absolutely dependent upon the National Forest timber for its mining operations. Each of these states will receive over $50,000 from the proceeds of the forests.

Idaho, Utah and Oregon head the list of the states in the grazing business. The causes in this case are several. In the first place these states are supplied with more abundant forage, largely on account of more plentiful precipitation. In some cases the ranges will support a sheep to the acre, whereas the ranges elsewhere will often support no more than one sheep to four to six acres. Again, the grazing methods are, as a rule, more extensive in these states, a higher class of herders is employed and a better grade of stock is kept. Management, moreover is more extensive. Sheep are handled in small bands and the herders in running them are able to keep them in scattered order so that they do not do much damage to the range as does the large band which can be controlled only when closely herded. Idaho's share of the receipts is over $56,000.

California leads in special use business, partly because of the large amount of water power developed and partly because of the larger population adjacent to the Forests and drawing upon their resources. The state will receive as its share of the National Forest proceeds about $52,000.
