BACK GIVES OUT.

Plenty of Emporium Readers Have This Experience.

You tax the kidneys—overwork them—They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back gives out—it aches and pains; Urinary troubles set in.

Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. A. J. Anderson, N. Main St., Port Allegany, Pa., says: "I have used a great many remedies for the relief of kidney trouble but have never found anything to give such beneficial effect as Doan's Kidney Pills. I suffered constantly with backache and pains. In the morning it was with the greatest difficulty that I arose and it I attempted to stoop or lift anything, sharp thrusts of pain were the result. Headaches and a tired feeling were also present and it was with difficulty that my ordinary duties were performed. Doan's Kidney Pills, gave me relief at once and at the present time I am much in every way. For the results received, I am glad to give my grateful recommendation of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

What is Best for Indigestion?

A. Robinson, of Drumquin, Ontario, has been troubled for years with indigestion and recommends Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets as "the best medicine I ever used." If troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They are certain to prove beneficial. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at L. Taggart's drug store.

Bryanism, Gomerism, Anarchism—Then Caesarism.

It is still true that history is apt to repeat itself. Mirabeau, Danton, Marat, Robespierre, about a century ago, assumed to be the fathers of the poorer and laboring classes in France. They exaggerated their condition, and preached the doctrine of hate against the government, and those in power and authority. A revolution was speedily brought on, the ruling power dethroned, riot, violence and bloodshed ran riot; and for a time anarchy dominated society and the country. Liberty was a mere anarchical license to excuse and justify the most shocking and bloody crimes committed in his name.

In a short time the horrors of the French Revolution caused its leaders to shrink from its consequences, and the pendulum of public sentiment swung back again, and Bonapartism or Caesarism, assumed power, the autocratic and tyrannical rule of one-man power prevailed and convulsed the civilized world.

The seeds of Socialism and Anarchism have been pretty extensively sown in this land of ours. Bryanism and Gomerism are closely identified therewith. Their expression of friendship for the poorer and laboring classes is simply professional, and is prompted by selfish motives with a view of using them to gratify their personal ambitions in the acquisition of political power. They are, as did Marat, Danton and Mirabeau, preaching the doctrine of hatred against the government and the wealthy and well-to-do in the country. They falsely charge that the government is in league with the wealthy men and wealthy corporations of the country.

The history of the legislation enacted in the past ten years and the enforcement thereof in the courts of the land, shows conclusively that their allegations are false. Large corporations and trusts have been compelled to yield to the law and have been punished for their violations.

But Bryanism and Gomerism have struck hands in assailing the power of the courts, and desire to have their powers limited and curtailed so far as their being legitimately used in cases of labor disputes. They have not as yet shown where any serious wrong or injustice was done by the exercise of the power of injunction in labor or other cases. To say that when a body of men excited and highly wrought upon by such men as Gompers resort to the destruction of life and property—to right what they may, in their own judgment, regard as a wrong—cannot be restrained without giving notice of five days, is to destroy the power of the courts to prevent the commission of irreparable injury and wrong, because the injury to life and property would be committed before an injunction could issue. It would be locking the stable after the horse is stolen. Then why commit the country to class legislation of this kind? The power of injunction carries no dread to any person or body of persons who do not wish to violate the restraints of law, and who do not desire to accomplish their purposes by violence and might.

This attack by Gomerism and Bryanism is a step toward Anarchy. Strip the courts of the power to issue injunctions to prevent the commission of irreparable wrong and injury and you invite might and violence to enforce the righting of wrongs, real or imaginary, which is Anarchy. The Nation would then soon be on the threshold of violent revolution and bloodshed, and Bryanism and Gomerism would be willing to head it; and, once installed in power, would use that power with tyrannical effect.

Because the Republican convention declined to endorse Gomerism as to assailing the courts, Mr. Gompers issues his ukase to the American Federation of Labor to vote for Bryan. He assumes that the members of the organization of which he is the president, are mere mentalists, and are not thinking American citizens; and that they will do his bidding as the serfs of Russia are expected to do when the Czar issues his ukase.

Mr. Gompers, had he the power, would compel the members to obey his command although it would result in the positive injury of the men and sovereigns who are members of his organization. He, in violation of the laws of his organization, assumes to control it politically. When he disregards the laws of his organization is it any wonder he wants to be relieved from the restraints of law, so that he could be a law unto himself, and dictate the laws unto others.

Mr. Bryan exhibited what use he would make of great power were he invested with it when he put his iron heel upon the neck of James F. Guffey at Denver and ignored the right of the people to elect their own delegates to the National Convention. Thus he trampled upon the right of the people in Pennsylvania to rule—all forsooth, because Mr. Guffey was not enthusiastically in favor of Mr. Bryan's nomination by the Democratic party.

Thus we can see Bryanism, Gomerism, Anarchism, then Caesarism. Let the thinking people ponder and consider well what is for their best interests and that of the country when they exercise their sovereign power at the ballot box in November next—Belleville Republican.

An Acrobat's Dilemma.

The acrobats of the music halls have to end in view except to cause amusement. But suppose one should meet them in ordinary life? Mr. Berkeley, the proprietor of a London hotel, was in his office about 6 o'clock one evening when he heard a knock at the door, while a voice, which seemed to express pain, cried "Open!" Mr. Berkeley obeyed, but a cry of horror escaped him, and he almost fell backward. He saw before him, rolling on the ground, topsy turvy, a kind of human ball which was walking upon its hands, with the head twisted round, eyes protruding and neck contorted.

"I did not wish to alarm my neighbors," gasped this extraordinary being—it was a contortionist from a circus who had been practicing in his room—"but I cannot unhook my leg from behind my neck, and unless you can help me I am afraid it is all up with me."

Mr. Berkeley disentangled the acrobat, who fell exhausted on a chair. He had descended twenty stairs upon his hands in this position.

A Bedouin's Idea of a Locomotive.

It is interesting to know that the railroad between Jaffa and Jerusalem was made possible by locomotives from Philadelphia. They were originally made, writes Professor H. W. Dunning in "Today In Palestine," for a road in Central America which unfortunately could not pay for them when they were ready for delivery. They happened to be just right for the Jaffa-Jerusalem line and were at once purchased and shipped.

I happened to be in Jerusalem, he writes, the day the first locomotive arrived there, Aug. 20, 1892. Not only the people from the city, but many from the villages, came to see the new wonder. Among them was a Bedouin from beyond Jordan. He carried back the report to the tribe:

"It is like a big iron woman. It gives one screech and then runs away." This ingenious description spread rapidly through the ancient land of Moab.

The Lion and the Child.

The strange spectacle of a lion playing with a child is reported to have been witnessed at Vryheid. A Dutch farmer, accompanied by his wife and little boy, was out shooting game. Suddenly the attention of the parents was drawn to the child, who had toddled a short distance away to gather wild flowers. Crowing with delight, the little fellow was pulling the hair of a full grown lion, and the animal appeared to be enjoying the operation. Spellbound, the farmer and his wife stood gazing at the scene. The farmer, even if his gun had contained a shot, could not have fired because of the child. The lion skipped sportively round the boy until, startled by loud shouts from the parents, it walked quietly away, followed by a lioness, which up to then had lain concealed in the long grass. A hunt was afterward organized, but the lions had disappeared into the thick bush.—East Rand Express.

She Hated Garrick.

Mrs. Clive was eminent as an actress on the London stage before Garrick appeared, and as his blaze of excellence threw all others into comparative insignificance she never forgave him and took every opportunity of venting her spleen. She was coarse, rude and violent in her temper and spared nobody.

One night as Garrick was performing "King Lear" she stood behind the scenes to observe him and, in spite of the roughness of her nature, was so deeply affected that she sobbed one minute and abused him the next, and at length, overcome by his pathetic touches, she hurried from the place with the following extraordinary tribute to the universality of his powers: "Hang him! I believe he could act a gridiron."—T. P.'s Weekly.

It Was Tantamount.

"Has she told you that she loved you?" "Not in so many words. She merely asked me what life insurance I carried."

Fortune gives too much to many, but to none enough.—Marshall.

Libby Prison Diarrhoea Relieved.

Edward E. Henry, with the United States Express Co., Chicago, writes: "Our General Superintendent, Mr. Quick, handed me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy some time ago to check an attack of the old Libby Prison diarrhoea. I have used it since that time and cured many of our trains who have been sick. I am an old soldier who served with Rutherford B. Hayes and William McKinley four years in the 23d Ohio Regiment, and have no ailment except Libby Prison diarrhoea, which this remedy stops at once." For sale by L. Taggart.
