prise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared, that—In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthe ied one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term, provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be
for an even number of years.

The above extension of offical terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, ward, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under existing law, end in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

In the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall be held on the third Tuesday of February,

The Dog's Tail.

A prominent citizen was on trial charged with harboring a vicious dog. been consulting a dog expert and had earned that if a dog holds his tail up over his back when he barks he is not angry, while if he holds it straight out behind him he is in a belligerent, bloodthirsty frame of mind. Anxious to air als newly acquired information, the awyer began cross questioning the osecuting witness thus:

"Now, did you notice the position in which this dog's tail was held when he came at you?"

"I did not," said the witness, "for that was not the end from which I anticipated injury. I had another end in view. Now, if the dog had been a hornet"—

"No levity, sir!" thundered the attorney. "Answer the question. In what position was the dog's tail when he came at you?"
"I believe, sir," faltered the terrified

witness, "that it was behind him." Chicago News.

The King's Cock Crower.

In the good old time there was an English court official known as the king's cock crower. It seems a strange office. Why did the king require a cock crower, and why could not the common barn door variety serve his majesty's purpose? The reason, as you shall see, was that the barn door variety cannot be depended upon for times and hours, and he has never been persuaded to observe Lent. Now, this was a pious custom and a religious duty." All through Lent the king's cock crower crowed instead of calling the hours of the night In the palace. He began on Ash Wednesday, when he entered the hall in which the king's supper was served, and then crowed the hour in the presence of the royal party. The meaning of the custom is obvious. It was only one of the many ways in which the history of the Christian religion was brought home to the minds of people before the reading of the gospel in the vernacular. The office was continued down to the year 1822.—London Queen.

"The Greatest Widower."

This is said to be the title of a genu-ine essay evolved some years ago by a boy in a Welsh board school:

"King Henry VIII, was the greatest widower that ever lived. He was born at Anno Domini in the year 1066. He had 510 wives besides children. The first was beheaded and executed. The great was perioded. second was revoked. She never smiled again. But she said the word 'Calais' would be found on her heart after her death. The greatest man in this reign was Lord Sir Garret Wolsey. He was sir named the Boy Bachelor. He was born at the age of 15, unmarried. Henry VIII. was succeeded on the throne by his great-grandmother, the beautiful and accomplished Mary, queen of Scots, sometimes known as the Lady of the Lake!"

Helping the Burglar Out.

"John," she whispered, "there's a burglar in the drawing room. He has just knocked against the piano and hit "I'll go down," said he.

"Oh, John, don't do anything rash!"
"Rash! Why, I'm going to help him. You don't suppose he can remove the piano from the house without assistance!"—London Throne.
