

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely PURE

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Why these grapes? Because from the healthful grape comes the chief ingredient of Royal Baking Powder, Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

Alum-phosphate powders are made with harsh mineral acids and must be avoided.

Train Wrecked.
What might have been a frightful wreck early yesterday morning took place on the hill, near Shippen, when a train ran away and derailed. As it was the Buffalo Flyer had a close call, the last sleeper scraping the wreck.

The People Shall Rule.
The J. G. Brill car shops were partly destroyed by fire, at Philadelphia, last week. Six lumber yards and several other large fires have occurred there in the last month or so, and they are all supposed to have been set on fire by some crazy person or by some disgruntled and malicious fiend.

The people are talking of organizing vigilance committees not to lynch the incendiaries but to hunt them down and see that they have a speedy trial and just conviction.

Really if the people are to rule they must not depend on the police alone but give the police the backing of public sentiment, which can only be done by the individual standing his share of the responsibility. Civil government must be a rule of law and law can only rule when administered by sober minded citizens.

Ill Health is More Expensive Than any Cure.

This country is now filled with people who migrate across the continent in all directions seeking that which gold cannot buy. Nine-tenths of them are suffering from throat and lung trouble or chronic catarrh resulting from neglected colds, and spending fortunes vainly trying to regain lost health. Could every sufferer but undo the past and cure that first neglected cold, all this sorrow, pain, anxiety and expense could have been avoided. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy if famous for its cures of colds, and can always be depended upon. Use it and the more serious diseases may be avoided. For sale by L. Taggart.

BRASS HORNS.

The Way the Thin, Seamless Tubes Are Bent Without Injury.

Saxhorns, so called after a famous Belgian family named Sax, who invented and introduced these instruments about the middle of the last century, are the mainstay of all modern brass bands. They are manufactured in many different sizes, from high soprano to the huge contrabass or bombardon, and the most important of the lot is the euphonium, which supplanted the now obsolete "serpents" and ophicleides. The tallest saxhorn ever made stands eight feet high and contains more than forty feet of tubing.

The advantage of seamless or "solid drawn" tubes for such instruments as trombones and horns is considerable, since, no matter how good the join may be, sooner or later the action of the breath will wear away the solder. To bend these thin brass tubes without splitting or denting the metal was at one time very difficult, but, thanks to a most ingenious artifice, the operation is now both safe and simple. The tube is first washed out with a chemical substance, such as is used by plumbers to prevent solder from adhering where it is not wanted, and it is then completely filled with molten lead poured in from a ladle. Thus supported from within, the brass is easily and safely bent to the required shape, the lead being afterward removed by heat.—Pearson's.

An Enigma.

Tommy—Say, papa, I wish you would tell me something. Papa—Well, what is it? Tommy—When you were a little boy, who was my papa?—Chicago News.
