"One moment, Mr. Shockton," said Woodworth, severely. "I understand you to say that you intend to dematerialize, which I suppose means to disembody—to cause to disappear—"
"Into thin air—evaporate—vamose!"

answered the medium, in a businesslike tone.

"Cause to disappear a person now living? That, my dear sir, is murder!" "Wrong!" replied Shockton. "Who is this girl? where does she hail from? "Who She has been dead 130 years. Can't kill a person twice, you know. What good is she, anyhow? She's way behind the times—can't even sell a ticket to her own dematerialization."
"Then you are determined to dema-terialize the lady again?" demanded Woodworth, somewhat demoralized.

"Sure; come and see for yourself."
Take a ticket, and one for your wife." "I shall certainly come—with the police. You insist on making this preposterous experiment?"

"Fact. But tell you what I'll do. You may take the young woman—lock her up—do anything you like with her, and I'll bet you a cool hundred I'll de-materialize her all the same."

Woodworth clutched at this proposition—he began to see a way out. The Psychical Research society was hastily summoned in special session, and Amy Alright was introduced to President Barker and the members. Her frankness and timidity convinced the most skeptical among them that she, at least, was innocent of collusion with the medium. She appeared terribly to dread the threats of Shockton.
"Oh, gentlemen," she pleaded, "put me under ground; put me in some strong place, where it will be impos-sible to get at me. I am so tired of being a spirit. Don't let me be demateri alized again!'

Provided with a lunch from the hotel, wrapped in napkins, she was smuggled into Barker's bank—it was dignified by that name in the village —and locked into its roomy old brick vault, and a committee signed an affidavit to that effect. Then all the Psychical people attended Shockton's seance. It was very long and very mysterious. For two hours the audience—they could not be called spectators-sat in darkness, listening to soft music and waiting for Amy Alright to appear.

At last there came a gentle tapping. "Ah, ha!" exclaimed Shockton, comes! Who goes there?"

"The spirit of Mistress Amy Alright, who died of the quinsy in 1770." "Are you in the flesh, or in the spirit?"

"A spirit, alas! Oh, woe is me!" "There you are, gentlemen!" said Shockton, switching on the light.

"Now produce your Amy, if you can. The audience, led by the Psychical Research committee, trooped back to Barker's bank. Heavens! The man had won his bet-Amy had dematerialized after all.

So had the contents of the bank! The only material evidences remaining of the guileless were the crumbs of her luncheon, the

WHAT WIFE SAYS "GOES."

But It Sometimes is Bad for the Painting.

When a property-owner knows nothing about paint it is bad for the property-owner, and bad for the paint-er. It would not be so if the propertyowner would always hire a skilled painter, and then really leave everything to him. But the house-owner so often fools himself on one or the other of these things.

The skilled painter in every community has some of the most incompetent competitors that ever vexed a conscientious workman or contractor, and the incompetents get jobs generally by working cheap. In the next place, when the skilled painter is hired, they do not leave everything to him, as so They interfere most ignorantly and most fatally. They insist sometimes on using paint materials without investigating whether they are good Or perhaps they insist on the

What chance does a painterhave to do good work for a man who is continually nagging at him and otherwise handicapping him (without meaning it, course)? A poor job is the inevitable result of such interference.

Poor painting costs the houseowner money—don't forget that. It might pay you to get the practical paint book, painting specifications and instrument for detecting paint adulterants, which National Lead Co. are offering under the title of House Owner's Painting Outfit No. 49. Address National Lead Co., 1902 Trinity Bldg., New York City. This company do not make paint (they leave that to the painter to do) but they make pure white lead ("Dutch Boy Painter" trademark kind), and they can tell you how to save money by securing durable painting.

WHAT A FORMER OREGON FARMER THINKS OF WEST-ERN CANADA.

Albert Nelson left Benton Co., Oregon, in Sept., 1904, for the great Canadian prairies. To quote from his letter: "I was greatly surprised to find such an immense stretch of rich virgin prairie still almost unoccupied in the very heart of North America. The splendid crops of oats, wheat, bar-ley, potatoes and hay I beheld in the settlements made me very eager for a piece of this rich soil, and I soon located in the Goose Lake country. We have here a great stretch of the rich, deep clay loam of the Saskatchewan—a soil heavy and hard to break, but particularly well adapted for the re-tention of moisture and production of the bright No. 1 hard wheat, and great crops of oats, barley, flax and potatoes. I had 60 bushels of oats, weighing 441 lb. to the bushel, per acre. Some of my neighbors had still greater yields. Wheat yielded from 20 to 30 bushels per acre. We have all done well here, and I could name many Americans who came here with means to go ahead, who have done big already. For homesteads one has to go further west, but the best prairie can be bought here for from $12.00 rie can be bought here for from $12.00 to $16.00 per acre. The climate is dry and healthy. This is the regular Saskatchewan fall weather—frosty nights, and bright, sunny days—ideal for threshing and hauling out of wheat. The trails are dusty, as thoused as wheat terms are dusty, as thoused as wheat terms are mostly. sands of wheat teams are moving towards the elevators.

"The sight of it makes one stop and wonder what it will be in a few years wonder what it will be in a few years when the immense prairies get under cultivation. Heavy snowfall is the exception here. Snow generally falls in December and goes off in March. It sometimes gets very cold, but the Saskatchewan farmer does not fear the cold. Winter is his season of rest. The first or second crop he builds a comfortable house for him-self, and warm stables for his horses. He need not, like some, be poking about in the mud all winter attending a few beasts for a livelihood."
