Will Munsell, of this place, made a business trip to Jamestown, N. Y., last Friday.

H. Clint Olmsted, of Bradford, made his usual business trip to this place the last of the week.

Miss Eleanore Christler, of this place, visited relatives at St. Marys for a few days, during the past week.

R. A. Eick, Supt. of the Emporium Tannery was a business caller at the Press office last Saturday.

Ralph L. Richardson and John Gleason, of Driftwood, were business callers at this place, last Saturday.

E. B. Saunders, of Buffalo, made his regular call on the hardware merchants at this place the last of the week.

Mrs. George, of Port Allegany, was a guest at the home of C. G. Catlin and family on Fifth street, over Sunday.

Miss McCaslin, of Hicks Run, was a guest of Miss Margaret Weisenfluh at her home on Fifth street, last Saturday.

S. D. McCoolle, of Driftwood, transacted business at the County Seat last Monday, and made the Press office a short call.

James Welsh, ticket agent at the Broad Street Station, was called to Corning, N. Y., last Friday on account of the death of a brother at that place.

Miss Anna Straub, of St. Marys, was a guest of Miss Christy McDonald the first of the week and attended the Resnad Club Dance, on Monday evening.

Misses Grace Lloyd and Floss Taggart returned to their home in this place last Monday, from a visit with the latter's sister, Mrs. Deike, at Kittingan, Pa.

Homer Hayes received a telegram from Buffalo, last Friday, announcing the serious illness of his sister, Miss Charlotte. Mr. Hayes started for Buffalo at once.

Miss Julia Hogan, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Getchel, at Binghamton, N. Y., for several months, returned to her home at this place, last Monday.

P. S. Martin, of Powell, Bradford county, Supt. of Greenwood Tannery at Powell, who has been the guest of his niece, Mrs. R. A. Eick, returned to his home last Saturday.

Misses Lilly and Jessie Card, of Moore Hill, departed for Salt Lake City, Utah, last Friday, where they have accepted positions teaching in the public schools at that place.

Prof. D. B. Hourhan, who has been teaching at Portland Mills during the past school term, was a guest of friends at this place over Sunday. Prof. Hourhan taught at the Plank Road School one year ago.

Mrs. G. H. Leathers, of Howard, Pa., is a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cummings and family on South Broad street. Mabel Cummings, who spent the winter at Howard, returned home with Mrs. Leathers.

Miss Bessie Calkins, of DuBois, is a guest at the home of Hon. B. W. Green and family on Sixth street. Miss Calkins assisted the choir at Emmanuel Episcopal Church last Sunday. Miss Calkins will be pleasantly remembered as the daughter of our former citizen, Mr. W. L. Calkins and a niece of Mrs. T. F. Moore, of Sixth street.

John Whiting and George Summer-son, two of Sterling Run's bright young men, were shopping in Emporium last Tuesday.

Norman MacIntosh, who has worked for C. B. Howard Company for many years was an agreeable Press visitor Monday evening and carried away a receipt for another year's Press.

The Press sanctum was visited on Monday evening by our friend, Mr. Geo. Baxter, who is one of the Keystone Powder Company's reliable employees. Mr. Baxter believes in paying his bills, although he does work hard for a living. Would we had a thousand more citizens just like him, who would pay for this year's Press and another year-in advance. They are few that do that.

Prof. D. B. Peterson of Cameron, was a business caller in town Tuesday.

Miss Ethel Fisher of Howard Siding, was shopping in town Wednesday.

Mrs. H. H. Knight, of St. Marys, called on friends in town Wednesday afternoon.

Misses Ellen Aucht and Lena Bair and J. M. Bair attended the K. of C. ball at Olean last evening.

John A. Johnston and son Lloyd go to DuBois to-day to visit relatives before they move to Harrisburg.

Dr. Walter H. Bush, returned to this place on Tuesday, after a most enjoyable visit to his home at Cincinnati.

Mrs. M. M. Larrabee has returned to her home from visiting with her son Don M. Larrabee and family at Williamsport.

Miss Lena Coyle is unable to attend to her duties in the store of Mrs. E. S. Coppersmith, being confined to her home by illness.

Judge B. W. Green and Jos. Kaye left last Sunday on a business trip to Wisconsin. They returned home yesterday.

Misses Flora Schlecht and Mazie Gallagher, of this place, are visiting at Johnsonburg, guests of the former's sister.

Misses Teresa Lawson of Beechwood and Alice Quigley of Emporium left on Monday for Clarion State Normal.

Addison Gross and family are now nicely settled in their new home over Shive's grocery store, having moved from the rooms over Lechner's shoe store.

Mrs. Pearson Fry and son, who have been guests at the home of Jas Wright and family on Fourth street, departed for Williamsport on Wednesday, where they will visit relatives.

Mr. Fred Shaffer, of Sterling Run, who has been in very poor health for two years, has been visiting in town this week. We are glad to see he is greatly improved in health.

Dr. Leon R. Felt was the first to appear with summer headgear among gentlemen this season. We are glad the start is made and hope that others will follow. Hogan get a new hat.

Mrs. Michael Evers of Beechwood, accompanied by her daughter Mrs. Ed. Reid of Emporium have returned home, after attending the exercises given by the Erie County Hospital Nurses at Buffalo, on April 30th.

Miss Maude Callahan, of Driftwood, was a guest of Miss Anna Schweikart, last Monday and attended the dance of the Resnad Club.

Mr. C. Jay Goodnough visited at Philadelphia last Saturday and Coudersport on Monday.

Iron Master Mr. Andrew Brady, went to New York on Tuesday evening on business. Our citizens hope the furnace will renew the blast upon his return.

H. C. Olmsted has trimmed his beard, which is a sure sign of summer. Our devil says M. T. Hogan wears the same straw hat, but that does not count for he wore it all winter.

Miss Elaine Havens and Master Merrill Havens, of Olean, are visiting in town, the former as guest of Miss Marion Judd, while the latter is visiting at the home of Mr. Henry Robinson, on East Allegany Avenue.

Not Piety, but Perk.

The following bit of humor is taken from "The Farringtons," an English romance. The speakers are Mrs. Bateson and Mrs. Hankey, worthy wives, but not altogether above feeling a certain pleasure in showing up the ways of husbands:

"They've no sense, men haven't," said Mrs. Hankey; "that's what's the matter with them."

"You never spoke a truer word, Mrs. Hankey," replied Mrs. Bateson. "The very best of them don't properly know the difference between their souls and their stomachs, and they fancy they are a-wrestling with their doubts when really it is their dinners that are wrestling with them."

"Now, take Bateson himself," continued Mrs. Bateson. "A kinder husband or better Christian never drew breath, yet so sure as he touches a bit of pork he begins to worry himself about the salvation of his soul till there's no living with him. And then he'll sit in the front parlor and engage in prayer for hours at a time till I says to him:

"Bateson," says I, 'I'd be ashamed to go troubling the Lord with a prayer when a pinch of carbonate of soda would set things straight again!'"

Dyeing Real Flowers.

"Every once in awhile some florist gets busy and puts some odd colored blossoms in his window as an extra attraction to the display," said a clubman. "I just noticed one down the street. It consisted of a bunch of impossibly green carnations. At first glance a good many people thought they were made of paper, but they got interested when they found out that they were 'natural.' Now, anybody who wants to have any of these freak flowers can get them by buying some kind of aniline ink, any color desired. Carnations are the easiest to color—white ones, of course. Put their stems in a glass filled with ink. Their stems are soft, and in a short while the larger veins in their petals are filled with the ink. Don't let them absorb too much color. They are prettier with just so much. Then remove them and put them in a vase of salt water. Lilies of the valley lend themselves to this scheme also. In fact, any white, soft stemmed flower may be used."—Philadelphia Record.

Famous Golf Match.

A projected golf match between two well known amateurs and a leading member of the London stock exchange for a stake of £500 recalls the famous foursome in which the Duke of York, afterward James II., took a prominent part on the Leith links in the year 1682. It was really an international contest, in which the duke, with John Paterson, a golfing shoemaker of great repute, championed Scotland against two noblemen of England, a heavy wager depending on the issue. The duke and the cobbler had an easy victory, thanks largely to the man of the last, and John Paterson's share of the stakes was so substantial that he was able to build a goodly house in the Canongate, in a wall of which the duke caused a stone to be placed bearing the Patersons arms with the motto "Far and sure," a tribute to the cobbler's driving powers. Paterson's house, we understand, survives today. —Westminster Gazette.

Foiled.

Noislessly, but with all his might, the burglar tugged at the dressing table drawer. In vain. It refused to open. He tugged again.

"Give it another jerk," said a voice behind him.

The burglar turned. The owner of the house was sitting up in bed and looking at him with an expression of the deepest interest on his face.

"Jerk it again. There's a lot of valuable property in that drawer, but we haven't been able to open it since the damp weather began. If you can pull it out I'll give you a handsome royalty on everything that's in."

But the burglar had jumped out through the window, taking a part of the sash with him.—Exchange.

Tat For Tit.

They were sitting out in the conservatory. Sam sat on the sofa, and Sally sat on Sam, but it was all right, for he had just asked her to marry him. She had said, "I don't care if I do," and thus they were engaged.

"Sam, dear," she began, "am I the only girl?"

"Now, look here, Sally," he interrupted, "don't ask me if you're the only girl I ever loved. You know as well as I do."

"Oh, that wasn't the question at all, Sam," she answered. "I was going to ask if I was the only girl who would have you."—London Answers.

Difficult Advice.

Mrs. Rayce was talking to another young woman at a tea.

"How decidedly better off a man would be," said the other young woman, "if he would only take his wife's advice!"

"Quite true, my dear," said Mrs. Rayce. "I've advised my George time and time again not to bet on horses that don't win, but he will do it."

Why He Quit.

"So you abandoned the simple style of spelling?"

"Yes," responded the former advocate of the fad. "I found it so difficult to make people understand that I knew better."—Philadelphia Ledger.

As Good as He Gave.

"Here is my seat, madam, but candor compels me to say that I think you are as well able to stand as I am."

"Politeness compels me to say 'Thank you, sir!'"—New York Journal

Religious.

The Sabbath School Convention and District Quarterly Meeting of the Bradford district of the Free Methodist Church at this place, April 28 to May 2, was well attended. The stormy weather did not seem to mar the interest and enthusiasm of those attending. The addresses of Rev. J. S. McGeary, of Sharon, Pa., were unusually inspiring and instructive. Preachers, delegates and visitors from all parts of the district came in such numbers as was surprising, considering the storm and most continuous downpour of rain.

The meeting was characteristic of old time Methodism, and much of that joyful freedom and confidence through faith in the gospel, was manifest in the outbursts of song and praise during the services. The love feast Sabbath morning was one long to be remembered by those attending. Testimony, song, praise, attended by seasons of rejoicing in the Lord, came very near crowding out the preaching of the word as announced.

Rev. W. A. Quick, of Bradford, Pa., preached the Sabbath morning sermon, followed by the administration of the Lord's supper.

Rev. J. N. Bennett, of Coudersport, formerly pastor at this place, preached the afternoon sermon, preceded by the meeting of the Junior Missionary Society, on the topic, "Encouraging Features of Our Foreign Missionary Work."

Rev. J. S. McGeary, gave an outline history of foreign missionary work of the last one hundred years, and an account of the twenty years of Free Methodist missions in foreign lands. As a member of the missionary board of the church, he reported at present that the church is now supporting seventy-six missionaries in foreign lands, assisted by sixty-five native preachers.

Sabbath evening was a service of song and praise, followed by the preaching of the word by Rev. T. W. Murry, of Eldred, Pa.

This service will no doubt be long remembered as the time of joyful enthusiasm in praise, prayer and preaching services. The church was crowded to its full seating capacity. Even after the service was over and the district meeting was ended, the people lingered long in the church, loth to part from the place of prayer and praise.
