BLUE BELL.

A Quiet Home Wedding.

Miss Kathryn Teresa Johnson, daughter of P. R. R., Foreman, W. W. Johnson, and Selburn Logue, second son of Mrs. Frances Logue were married at 1:30 p. m., Saturday, May 1st, at the residence of the bride's father in Huntley, by the Rev. Samuel Ebersole, of Sterling Run. Only a few of the relatives and friends were present. The bride is one of Huntley's estimable and popular young ladies and is the second eldest daughter of Foreman Johnson. The happy groom is one of our town boys and is a steady, industrious young man. The young couple will begin housekeeping in the house recently vacated by J. E. Johnson.

The Huntley band was out in full force Saturday evening and played the wedding march and other popular airs for the benefit of the bride and groom, after which a fine supper was served for all. Everybody had a fine time and extended hearty congratulations to the happy pair. We wish them a long life of happiness and prosperity.

J. F. S.

Some Handicaps.

"Sir, I wish to marry your daughter," faltered the young man.

"You do, eh?" exclaimed the fond parent. "Well, I have been rather expecting this, and to be thoroughly orthodox, I shall put a few questions to you. Do you drink?"

"No, sir. I abhor liquor."

"You do, eh? Smoke?"

"I never use tobacco in any form."

"Well, I didn't suppose you ate it. Do you frequent the race tracks?"

"I never saw a horse race in my life, sir."

"Um-m-m! Play cards for money?"

"Emphatically no, sir."

"Well, young man, I must say you are heavily handicapped. My daughter is a thorough society girl, and I can't for the life of me see what she is going to do with you. However, it's her funeral, and if she wants to undertake the job—why, God bless you both!"—Washington Post.

Woman's Work.

After dinner the other evening Mr. and Mrs. Brown started to speak of their respective duties, and soon an argument as to whether the husband or the wife had the hardest work to perform was in full swing. First Brown warbled and then wifery sang.

"A wife," argued the good lady, "has to cook, wash dishes, clothe the kids, scrub the floors, sweep the house, make the beds, build the fires, carry up coal, nail slats on the back fence, dig—"

"Is that all?" sarcastically interrupted Mr. Brown.

"No," was the prompt rejoinder of Mrs. Brown. "In addition to those duties every wife has to keep her husband from making a fool of himself."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Anchored Him.

"I was at a reception with a certain young lady the other night," said a man who always tells the truth, "and her father was there too. He doesn't think much of me, and he followed us about from room to room—wouldn't let us get out of his sight for a minute. Well, I knew the old man was an awful tight wad, so I thought up a scheme. I carelessly dropped a 10-cent dollar on the floor while he was looking. He moved over and put his foot on it and never stirred until the party broke up. Meanwhile daughter and I beat it and enjoyed ourselves."—Cleveland Leader.

Saving Cuff Addresses.

Folded up with the laundry bill was another slip of paper, on which were several lines of fine writing.

"What is this?" asked the new customer.

"Those are the addresses we copied off your cuffs," said the clerk. "We always make a record of the addresses we find on cuffs and return them with the laundry, so if our customers have not put them down any place else they won't be lost."—New York Press.

When There Was More of It.

An old chap with hardly a hair on his head snapped at the young barber on the completion of a hair cut:

"You are not the thorough workman your father was, my boy. He used to take a good half hour to cut my hair."

More Than Liberal.

Mr. Highmus—You gave your son a liberal education, did you not? Mr. Muntburn—Disgustingly liberal. His four years at college cost me $27,000.—Chicago Tribune.

The greatest man in the world may stand as much in need of the meanness as the meanest does him.—Fuller.
