John Stephens accompanied by Miss Edna Auchu, of Emporium, were the guests of his parents, A. S. Stephens and wife.—Coudersport Democrat.

Rev. Herman Brezing of Niagara Falls was a welcome visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kuehne this week. He is a great admirer of our beautiful mountains.

Miss Rose Cyphers, the popular little milliner at R. Kuehne's store, has finished her season and returned to her home at Saxton, Pa., last Monday. Miss Cyphers has made many friends at Emporium, who sincerely hope she may return for another season.

Miss Hazel Redman, who has just completed the season as milliner for Mrs. E. S. Coppersmith, returned to her home at Pontiac, Ill., last Tuesday via the Lake route, and will stop at Buffalo and Chicago, Ill. Miss Redman assisted the choir at the Presbyterian church during her stay here and has made many friends who regret her departure.

Mr. E. Mately, wife and friends Mr. E. E. Lindsay and Miss Stella Logue of Emporium, spent Sunday in town.

W. S. Sterner and Claude Rentz of Emporium, were in town last Friday to attend the funeral of Miss Fannie French, and Mr. Sterner rendered valuable assistance to the choir.—Austin Autograph.

Rev. R. Farley Fisher, pastor of Salem A. M. E. Zion Church, Williamsport, Pa., and his family arrived in this city Tuesday and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson on Fifth street. They will be in the city about ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Davison and Mrs. E. C. Davison, of Ridgway, were in town a few hours meeting old acquaintances last Friday and made a welcome call at the Press office. Ralph, as he is more familiarly known by his many friends here, will be remembered as a former Johnsonburg electrician. A couple of years ago he left for West Virginia, where he had a nice position as an underwriter's inspector in a Pittsburgh technical school. He has lately joined the ranks of the benedictines, the new Mrs. Davison being a popular Wheeling young lady.—Johnsonburg Press.

Mrs. Lizzie Kelley returned home last Friday from New Brunswick, where she has been visiting relatives and friends for thirteen months. This is her first visit to the old home in thirty odd years and it kept her busy. She had an enjoyable time and we are glad of it, and she richly deserved a good rest.

They Had Will Power.
I was sitting one morning in a quiet corner at Monte Carlo when two elderly men sat down beside me. One was evidently a Scotchman, and the other, I gathered, was from Yorkshire. The former remarked, "I have just managed it." This, I discovered, meant a win of 20 francs. Their daily routine was to appear at the same roulette table at an early hour and play the lowest stake of 5 francs on even chances—that is, on black or red or on the odd or even numbers. They would lose and win and win and lose, but they remained calm and self contained and persevered until they had each 20 francs to the good. I observed them daily. Some mornings they scooped in the amount in twenty minutes, and at other times it was a tough struggle until luncheon time before they managed it. I never saw them fall once, and I learned that they had pursued the same plan for four months. One thing was clear—nothing could tempt them to go beyond the modest stake, and they had the will to stop when they won the stipulated amount. It was really one of the best illustrations of will power I have ever seen, for few, indeed, who enter the portals of the casino are able to resist the compelling atmosphere of the tables to play on if losing and to plunge if winning.—Chambers' Journal.

Family Jars.
Schoolmaster (to his wife)—My dear, I wish you would speak more carefully. You say that Henry Jones came to this town from Sunderland.
Wife—Yes.
Schoolmaster—Well, now, wouldn't it be better to say that he came from Sunderland to this town?
Wife—I don't see any difference in the two expressions.
Schoolmaster—But there is a difference, a rhetorical difference. You don't hear me make use of such awkward expressions. By the way, I have a letter from your father in my pocket.
Wife—But my father is not in your pocket. You mean you have in your pocket a letter from my father.
Schoolmaster—There you go with your little quibbles. You take a delight in harassing me. You are always taking up a thread and representing it as a rope.
Wife—Representing it to be rope, you mean.
Schoolmaster—For goodness' sake, be quiet. Never saw such a quarrelsome woman in my life.—London Scraps.

Pretty Slow.
Horace L. Moore was lieutenant colonel of the noted Nineteenth Kansas cavalry. He could lead men for a longer period without rest on a single ration of cheerful good humor than any other officer. Though not given to jokes, he was the reputed author of as many astonishers as the great Lincoln.
One time, on the march, he sent an orderly with a message to an officer at some distance. Before the man was out of hearing Moore shouted: "Hey, orderly! Come back here!"
He came galloping back, sitting limply in the saddle.
Moore dropped his voice and, assuming a half confidential manner, inquired, "Orderly, in the course of your life have you ever seen a snail?"
"Yes, sir," was the astonished reply. "You met him, then," replied Moore, "for you'd never overtake one!"—Kansas City Journal.

His Business Ability.
In the Adirondacks lives a man too lazy to work, but evidently of great business ability. One winter when he was sitting around smoking his family came so near starvation that some of his neighbors, who could ill afford to help him, took up a collection and bought for the suffering family a barrel of flour, a barrel of pork and a load of wood. They were not considerate enough to cut the wood, but the business man knew how to manage. He hired some of the neighbors who had not contributed to his donation to cut the wood and paid them with half the pork and half the flour.—Lippincott's.

Admirably Equipped.
Cardinal Mezzofanti, the famous Italian linguist, who died at the age of seventy-five, knew and could speak more than fifty languages. He could entertain his English friends with specimens of the Yorkshire dialect and his French or German visitors with the patois of their respective countries. "Dear me!" exclaimed Lord Byron, to whom this was told. "He ought to have been the custodian of the tower of Babel!"

Breakfast Months.
A traveler stopped at a hotel in Greenland, where the nights are six months long, and as he registered asked a question of the clerk.
"What time do you have breakfast?"
"From half past March to a quarter to May."—Harper's Weekly.

A Bone.
"What sort of an after dinner speaker is Bliggins?"
"One of the kind who start in by saying they didn't expect to be called on and then proceed to demonstrate that they can't be called off."—Exchange.

The Quarrel.
"Last night we parted forever."
"Then I suppose Ferdy will not call tonight."
"No, but he'll spend the evening behind a tree across the street."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Disinfect

Some disinfectants and germicides might be classed as drugs but, you do not want to be drugged just now with a bug killer. However, now is the time to think of getting after the rose bugs and currant worms. We have a full line of the "remedies" for that class of pests. Also a non-poisonous bed bug exterminator in small cans.
