Disinfect

Some disinfectants and germicides might be classed as drugs but, you do not want to be drugged just now with a bug killer. However, now is the time to think of getting after the rose bugs and currant worms.

We have a full line of the "remedies" for that class of pests. Also a non-poisonous bed bug exterminator in small cans.

Some of the Free-Trade organs are copying with ghoulish glee articles from foreign newspapers intimating that if certain provisions are retained in the pending tariff bill there will be retaliation in other countries. But that sort of intimidation never frightened American legislators, and will not now. United States Tariffs are framed in the interests of Americans, not to help others—Troy Times.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

ROCKWELL.

MRS. JANE L. ROCKWELL, aged 69 years, two months and two days, passed to the great beyond on Friday morning, July 23, 1909. Her husband, Daniel Rockwell, a carpenter and builder died many years ago. She was married June 22, 1856 and came to Cameron county in 1859, thus residing here fifty years. Several years ago she was taken seriously ill, being afflicted with cancer on the liver, and made her home with her grand-son, George L. Page at Cameron, since his birth. She received every care that money could procure from Mr. and Mrs. Page and nothing was denied her that she desired.

Deceased is survived by one son, Harvey H., of Renovo; one sister, Mrs. Clara Starr, of Hughesville; two brothers, G. B. Manley, Brooklyn, N. Y., William L., Williamsport.

The remains were taken to Hughesville, Pa., last Saturday evening, the funeral taking place at Pleasant Hill Cemetery, her body being laid at rest beside her mother in the family plot.

Among those relatives and friends who attended the funeral were: Mrs. Lyda A. Simpson, Denver, Col., Mrs. Laura Bryan, New York; H. H. Rockwell, wife and daughters Ada and Eva, Renovo; Geo. L. Page and wife, Cameron; A. L. Starr, daughter Eva and son Raymond, Mrs. Clara M. Starr, Hughesville; A. P. Starr, son and daughter, Thos. Butler and family, Muncy, Pa.

Mrs. Rockwell will long be remembered by the citizens of Cameron as a great friend of the sick and afflicted and never failed to offer her services no matter how far from home. It was nothing for sick friends to send for her at all hours of night. This kind woman has often gotten up in the dead of night and went to old Mount Hope to care for some sick person and pass night after night without rest or sleep. Her kindness will never be forgotten.

HAMILTON-MUMFORD.

Mrs. Dorcas Hamilton-Mumford, died at the old homestead, East Allegany Avenue, on Tuesday, July 27th, 1909, aged 84 years, six months and sixteen days. The lady, who has been a resident of Emporium for many years, was the widow of Delos Hamilton, her first husband, who was killed at the battle of Cold Harbor, while fighting in Hancock's division. He was mortally wounded and died lying between the two lines. His remains were interred in the National Cemetery at City Point.

The funeral takes place from the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kline, (Mrs. Kline being her faithful daughter) on Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. J. F. Anderson, pastor of M. E. Church, will conduct the services.

The Don's Opinion.

Fashion is as inexorable in men's as in women's dress. The undergraduate is perhaps the most telling example of this. It was so even a century ago, when Oxford led the way in adopting the new nankeen trousers that were to supersede tight breeches and top boots. Just about that period a don of Trinity met an undergraduate arrayed in all the splendor of the new fashion. "Young man," said the don severely, "you will come to no good. You wear nankeen trousers and keep a dog." The young man afterward became Dr. Sumner and bishop of Winchester—London Chronicle.

Interested.

He was telling his wife about a small game of poker in which he had lost 45 cents.

"It was the worst game I ever played," he exclaimed, still angry over it, "and I got so mad I couldn't see."

"What did you do then, dear," she asked sweetly—"go it blind?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Caught.

She—Did you hear they were going to tax bachelors? He—Yes, but they'll never get it out of me. She—It is nice of you to put it that way, but I must speak to mother first.—Illustrated Bits.

The Castle Garden Church.

Editor Press:—

The dedication has passed but it will always be remembered as the time of Castle Garden, July 18th, 1909. Rev. A. T. Jennings preached an able sermon. The Rev. gentleman is editor of the Wesleyan Methodist, Syracuse, N. Y. The meetings were the best ever held in this section and the services held the congregation with rapt attention. Rev. H. C. Shares, Houghton, N. Y., made the plea to raise the debt balance, which was $549.00, as follows: Barclay Bros, for lumber, $74.02; Fred Bliss, balance on concrete blocks, $275.00; Hon. G. W. Huntley, $500. Total $849.00. To apply towards liquidating debt we received through the efforts of Rev. Shares and other friends, $408.00 in cash and pledges. Previously raised by myself, $239.00, making a total of $647.00, reducing the debt to $192.00 which is yet to be provided for. We have already received from Hon. C. F. Barclay, $25.00; Mrs. A. J. Barclay, $2.00, and a pledge from Col. J. O. Brookbank and J. M. English $10.00 each when $172.00 has been pledged. We believe God is going to make short work of this little debt, so we praise God and take new courage and see it done. This edifice is built of concrete blocks and it is an honor to the place, for it is the first church to be erected in this place. The cost was small and the debt is still smaller. Sometime later we will publish the actual cost of the building. Joseph Newton, of Emporium, who was present at the dedication, accompanied by his good wife, said: "My, I never thought you had such a nice and substantial building. I am surprised beyond measure." Hon. J. C. Johnson congratulated us on the success of the project. Very few letters have been against us. We would be glad to give names and the amounts contributed, but there are so many of them that it would take too much space. Many thanks to all who so nobly came to our help. May God bless them. And again I say thank you.
