

Pimples, Blackheads, Eczema, Etc. QUICKLY CURED.

"It is astonishing," remarked a well known authority on diseases of the skin, how such a large number of people, especially ladies are by attractively written advertisements, induced to purchase some one of the many beauty Creams now on the market, not knowing of course, that they mostly contain oily or greasy substances that clog the pores of the skin and are, for that reason, the very worst thing that they could possibly use. My treatment of Pimples, Blackheads, Blotches and all eruptions of the skin, are as follows, and has invariably proved very successful: Wash the face carefully every night before retiring with warm water and a little oat meal tied up in a small cloth bag, then, after drying well, use the following inexpensive and perfectly harmless prescription, which can be filled at any drug store: Clearon 1 oz., Ether 1 oz., Alcohol 7 ounces. Use this mixture on the face as often as possible during the day, but use it at night and morning anyway, allowing it to remain on the face at least ten minutes then the powdery film may be wiped off. Do not wash the face for some little time after using. By following this simple treatment, you will soon have a clear brilliant complexion.

THE IRON REINDEER

I'm up to date, and, be it said,
I certainly this year
Shall break and burn the ancient sled
And cook the ancient deer.
Those things are out of date for me;
They're now a shattered dream.
Oh, I'm as happy as can be
About my brand new scheme.

That sets all hearts aglow.
And I shall call, and not in vain,
While stockingward I head
My mile a minute flying train,
"The Christmas Limited."

PULL soon across the boundless plain,
Beneath the Christmas stars,
I'm going to travel on my train
Made up of baggage cars,
And they'll be simply stuffed with toys
And other precious things
For little girls and little boys
For whom I spread my wings.

Oh, yes, in jigtime, down the track
I'll gayly glide along,
From home across the land and back
To all our hearts with song.
And to my agent at each town
I'll toss a bundle great
Each artless child with joy to crown
And make its heart elate.

THE train's made up. Already I
Am getting up the steam,
While piling in the cars sky high
The gifts of which you dream.
With joy I stand upon my head
And shout both far and near,
"Goodby unto the ancient sled—
All hail the iron deer!"
—R. K. Munkittrick in Success.

I'll run along on schedule time,
Through wind swept drifts of snow,
My bell shall be the Christmas chime

Christmas in the Colonies.

'Twas the merry Christmas season, and the palms swung in the breeze of the lovely hot December in an island over seas. And a meditative maiden of the kind called Philippine sat and gazed, with pensive visage, on the sultry winter scene.

Well she knew that on the morrow all her folks would celebrate. Place a palm tree in the parlor, hang their anklets o'er the grate. On the heaped up Christmas table, groaning with its load, there'd be Appetizing bird's nest truffles and banana fritoesse.

"Let me see," she murmured softly, "father 'll get his string of beads, blue and yellow. I am certain they're the very kind he needs. For his old ones looked quite shocking, though he never seemed to care, and his new set's quite the sweetest thing a gentleman can wear."

"And for mamma there's the nose ring that I bought on Thursday week. With the handsome whalebone stickpin for insertion in the cheek. He'll be immensely pleased. That or a bamboo jumping jack are the things for which he's teased."

"And as for me, I only hope they've got the things I need— Just one or two nice costumes made of genuine coral bead. A toe ring would be lovely, and a piece of copper wire. To wear around the instep make up all that I desire."

"Except, of course, some other things that every girl receives, such as various kinds of dresses made of nicely ripened leaves. For surely," said the maiden as she smiled a scornful smile, "I'm not like those American girls who always think of style."
—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Timely Caution.
Don't give any one bric-a-brac or pictures unless you are morally sure you know his taste. Presents that must be displayed are apt to be a great strain on the affections. No matter how the receiver may hate them, he must father them and deface his rooms with them or insult the giver. Now, a book, for instance, even if the receiver doesn't like it and doesn't want it, can be tucked away among other books and forgotten, but an ugly vase we have always with us—at least till we can smash it.

Christmas With Stevens A.

Passengers aboard the steamship Lubeck unexpectedly spent Christmas at sea in the year 1890, but the fact that Robert Louis Stevenson, the famous story writer, was among them made that a most memorable holiday. The Lubeck was en route from Australia to Samoa. She broke a shaft and limped along several days under sail. "Mr. Stevenson," says the captain in relating the incident, "cheered everybody up by telling funny stories that were better, coming offhand from his lips, than most literary men could write if they worked over them for weeks. He knew, too, that it was only a question of a short time before he would die of consumption and that he could never again go home for more than a brief visit. It was simply wonderful what a difference that one man made among the passengers, and I guess almost all of us would gladly spend the time to make port under sail, with machinery disabled, if we could have a Stevenson aboard."

A Polish Custom.

Peasant lads in the villages of Poland have a pretty Christmas custom which affords great delight not only to themselves, but to the other villagers. This is called the procession of the star. At Christmas time the boys make a large hollow star, two or three feet between points, lighted from the interior. This is carried aloft at the end of a pole or staff. It symbolizes the star of Bethlehem. The three wise men of the East—Caspar, Melchior and Balthazar—are impersonated by boys. Others in the party bear a little puppet show cabinet, in which are performed the drama of the Nativity and other Scripture incidents appropriate to the occasion. From house to house around the village this procession trudges in the snow at night singing carols, and the villagers present the boys with small coins as 'Christmas gifts.'

Mistletoe on Apple Trees.
The growth of the mistletoe on oak is now of very rare occurrence, but it flourishes luxuriantly in many parts of England on the apple trees.
