"Old Heads" the Best. Some of the world's greatest statesmen have proven that it takes the experience and hand of old age to run the machinery of nations.

African "Sundowner." There are many etymological excuses for drinking, as an "appetizer," or a "stirrupper," or a "nightcap."

To Live Long and Happily. Make a habit of regular daily relaxation. If you are a woman and head of a home lie down in a darkened room every afternoon, even if only for 20 minutes.

"Dare-Devil" Jockeys. Absolute "dare-devilness" often wins races—riding for a fall, lifting a horse over the last fence when he is blundering at them, and so on.

Politics and Religion. "Senator," said the interviewer, "it is rumored that you intend to retire from politics."

Actors Might Show Gratitude. The man who built the first sauerkraut factory in this country is dead, and actors should join in some memorial to the man who started the movement to divert cabbages to a better use.

The Human Owl. The cynic is one who never sees a good quality in a man, and never fails to see a bad one. He is the human owl, vigilant in darkness and blind to light.

Split and Scratch. "Yes, it took all of five minutes to really get my ballot marked the way I wanted it. I never vote straight, anyhow. I'm sure to always split my ticket."

The Philosopher of Folly. "Robbing Peter to pay Paul never won and never will," says the Philosopher of Folly. "You can't cure a sore throat by wrapping a woolen sock around it if you have to go barefooted to do it."

Worship. I've always thought that if I had my choice, an' my life could express worship, I'd choose for it to be praise.—Sonny's Father, in Century Magazine.

Good Will. Have good will to all that lives, letting unkindness die and greed and wrath; so that your lives be made like soft air passing by.—Edwin Arnold, "Light of Asia."

Surgical Operation on Raven. A raven in the London zoological garden recently was operated on for cataract and provided with spectacles, fastened to its head with a sort of hood.

Hitch Your Name to a Comet. If you want to be immortal, don't write a book. Remember Halley and get your name hitched to a comet.—Somerville Journal.

HAS HELPED TRADE

PRACTICAL WORKING OF NEW TARIFF LAW SHOWN.

November's Imports the Greatest Ever Known in One Month—Whole Volume of Foreign Trade Shows Expansion.

In the excess of zeal displayed by many critics of the new tariff law, at the time of its enactment, the assertion was commonly made that the new schedule of duties was so high that it would cut down the volume of imports and defeat its own usefulness, as a revenue measure.

The latest statistics of the foreign commerce of the country made such prophecies absurd. November's imports were the greatest ever known in one month, exceeding by many millions of dollars the figures for the best months of the spring, before the new tariff law took effect.

There is no hint of obstructed trade in such facts, nothing to justify the assertions so lightly made that the new tariff would prove unfavorable to the foreign commerce of the country. In November the total, for exports and imports together, was over $334,000,000, which meant a gain of about $69,000,000 over the corresponding part of last year and far surpassed the highest figures for any November in the history of the United States.

Much criticism of the new tariff law is certain to become grotesquely feeble and foolish, in the light of events since the act was passed. It will react against the enemies of the protective system and the Taft administration, because the attacks which were most relied on did not square with the facts.

Gen. Wood's Promotion. Formal announcement that Gen. Leonard Wood will succeed Gen. Bell as chief of staff of the army next spring marks the climax of a career that has been meteoric.

Col. Roosevelt's view of the future of Africa is significant. There are parts of Africa, particularly the eastern section where he is at present, which, he says, can be made a white man's country. No effort should be spared, he says, to make it so as speedily as possible.

A Practical "Trust Buster." Secretary Dickinson has ordered that the war department cease buying for army use oils, lubricants and other products marketed by the Standard Oil company.

Mr. Dickinson in this action proves himself a practical trust-buster. Against such tactics as his, if the people were to follow him, no trust could long endure. A cabinet member cannot properly rule out of his department the products of a trust until it has been found to be one in a federal court.

The Senate and House of Lords. Of course, the place of the senate and of the house of lords, in their respective national legislatures, is not alike in many particulars, and no such issue as now divides the British voters could possibly arise in this country in precisely the same way.

Said Uncle Silas, "How many weddin's did you ever attend that a bunch o' folks didn't whisper: 'I wonder why she threw herself away on him?'"

CRIMINALS MUST BE SOUGHT

Public United in Demand for Punishment of Guilty High Sugar Trust Officials.

Five employees of the sugar trust, including a dock boss, have been found "guilty" by a New York jury—guilty of swindling and defrauding the federal government.

Counsel for the defendants pleaded with the jury for their acquittal on the ground that they were mere tools in the hands of men "higher up," but of course the law cannot accept such excuse, though it may regard it as relevant in a recommendation for mercy.

Since the federal government has taken up the sugar frauds various settlements have been made and stolen money has been surrendered with some alacrity. But, as Mr. Wickersham has stated, these transactions can in no wise affect criminal prosecutions of willful thieves, whether they belong to the "meanest of trusts" or to its competitors.

Control of Railroads. In its report transmitted to congress the interstate commerce commission calls attention once more to needed changes in the law to make government control of railroads more effective.

For one thing, the commission urges again that provision be made for a thorough valuation of the physical properties of the railroads. Such a valuation would be of service in many ways, among others in making it easier to determine what are reasonable rates for freight and passenger service.

The commission urges also that congress amend the law as to make the consent of the commission necessary to changes in rates by the carriers. At the present time the railroads may increase their rates at will by giving the required notice, placing on shippers the burden of unreasonable new charges until these can be shown to be unreasonable.

The interstate commerce commission long has been trying to benefit the public under unfavorable conditions through the medium of inadequate laws. It is time for congress to give serious attention to the request of the commission that it be provided with additional powers to make its work more effective for good.

Roosevelt on Africa's Future.

Col. Roosevelt's view of the future of Africa is significant. There are parts of Africa, particularly the eastern section where he is at present, which, he says, can be made a white man's country. No effort should be spared, he says, to make it so as speedily as possible.

Syndicating Central American States.

The well-known present condition of Nicaragua and its Central American neighbors, as well as their recorded history, compels us to look to the future with some degree of anxiety and with forebodings of further trouble, though, as we have hitherto contended, these are likely to diminish, perhaps slowly, but none the less surely.

Congress at the present session is likely to take the first steps toward changing the presidential inauguration date to the last Thursday in April. March 4 will then cease to be a day of evil reputation in the health reports of Washington.

UNPROFESSIONAL.

Diner—Have you seen that a doctor intends to inoculate himself with the cholera virus so that he may have the results of the experiment. Isn't that fine?

Proprietor—No, perfectly mad, I call it. Supposing I ate the same meals as my clients.

BOY TORTURED BY ECZEMA

"When my boy was six years old, he suffered terribly with eczema. He could neither sit still nor lie quietly in bed, for the itching was dreadful. He would irritate spots by scratching with his nails and that only made them worse.

"I took care of a friend's child that had eczema on its face and limbs and I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They acted on the child just as they did on my son and it has never returned. I would recommend the Cuticura Remedies to anyone.

A Pessimistic View.

Among the patients in a certain hospital of Harrisburg there was recently one disposed to take a dark view of his chances for recovery.

"Cheer up, old man!" admonished the youthful medico attached to the ward wherein the patient lay. "Your symptoms are identical with those of my own case four years ago. I was just as sick as you are. Look at me now!"

The patient ran his eyes over the physician's stalwart frame. "What doctor did you have?" he finally asked, feebly.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Her Mistake.

A lady overtook a little girl of her acquaintance on her way to school. "Do you like decimals, my dear?" she asked.

New Tonic Mixture.

At this sea on many people especially old folks need a tonic appetizer which will also relieve kidney and bladder troubles and strengthen the blood and tissues.

Just Turned About.

"With my husband," said the wife of the busy man, "it is always a case of talking shop."

Those who claim that a woman isn't so apt to indulge in crooked work as a man evidently never saw a woman try to drive a nail.

There's a difference between dignity and pomposity, but some people don't seem to be able to realize it.

What some farmers have done: Frank Thomas, of Fresno, Cal., bought twenty acres of land five years ago. He had but $300 to start on. Today his place is paid for and he has an income of over $2,000 a year.

COUGHED ALL NIGHT

Till This Recipe Was Tried. Cure Followed in 5 Hours.

A prominent medical man, who suffered with a severe cough and cold on the lungs, often being kept awake all night, and weakened by loss of sleep, finally discovered a simple formula which will cure any cough in five hours by the clock.

Mix in a bottle one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then take one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day.

For Celestials.

I once visited a very rough boom town in Oregon, near Cottage Grove. In the leading saloon a man in a red shirt said to me:

"Ye wanter carry yerself almighty straight in these parts, stranger. Go wrong the least mite and, by crinuss, we'll lynch ye as quick as look at ye."

"Would you lynch me," I asked, "if I killed a dog?" "Would we?" he snorted. "Why, stranger, we've lynched fellers here for killin' Chinamen!"

Coals of Fire.

One Christmas evening a Sunday school pupil appeared at church, only to be surrounded immediately by a number of deriding playmates.

"And she's got her brother's gloves on!" cried another.

"Yes," was the retort that turned the tide of ridicule, "and I came with my mother's blessing."—Judge.
