Stick to Your Business.

Stick to your legitimate business. Do not go into outside operations. Few men have brains for more than one thing.

The ceremony of electing a mayor in a belfry was performed according to ancient custom in the parish church of Brightlingsea.

MUST BE THE BEST

PRESIDENT TAFT'S POSITION ON JUDICIAL APPOINTMENTS.

Party Preferent and Personal Opinion Both Subordinated to the Best Interest of the Whole People.

The retirement for age of more than one justice of the supreme court may be expected during President Taft's administration. It becomes of interest, then, to know what he thinks of his responsibility as a judge maker and how he will discharge it.

Mr. Taft enlightens the country in the following letter to Judge Horace H. Lurton read at the dinner given to Judge Lurton by the Nashville Board of Trade:

"It is just the simple truth to tell you that the chief pleasure of my administration, as I have contemplated it in the past, has been to commission you a justice of the supreme court; and I never had any other purpose and was never shaken in it until there was presented to me the challenge whether I was not gratifying my personal desires at the expense of public interest in putting a judge of your age upon the bench under present conditions.

For this reason I took back my determination to appoint you, wiped it off the slate and gave two or three days to the introspective process to know whether I was yielding to personal preference and affection at the expense of the public. I became convinced that I was not—that the circumstances justified the departure from the ordinary rule, and that I had the right to gratify my personal predilection by doing what I have done, because the motive in doing it included a desire to strengthen that court as much as I could strengthen it."

Country Owes Debt to Marines.

Whether the occasion be the presence of calamity such as comes when a volcanic eruption overruns a country or the rise of a tidal wave that brings sudden desolation to a community, the ready marines are at hand to inspire confidence, to restore order and to administer the assistance of the country whose flag they proudly represent.

Democratic Harmony.

Contemporaries that declare we are in disagreement with Mr. Bryan do us an injustice. Excepting free raw materials, prohibition, government ownership of railroads, the initiative and referendum, federal charters for corporations, government guarantee of bank deposits, federal ownership of telegraphs, government payment of campaign expenses, and several other things of more or less importance, we are in entire agreement with Mr. Bryan.

One Democratic Family in Clover.

What an impressive sight it must be for a Democratic senator to walk into the conference room and behold: Senator Money, chairman of the conference; Hernando D. Money, Jr., assistant conference clerk; Miss Money, messenger. We call the New York Tribune to witness that the Lord has taken care of at least one Democratic family.

Needs a New Pilot.

Col. Watterson plaintively remarks that he is trying now and will go on trying to save the old Democratic Ship of Zion from shipwreck. The trouble seems to be not so much a lee shore as perfectly ridiculous navigation.

Always An Exception.

Mr. Bryan expresses his disapproval of the idle rich. Yet Mr. Bryan is rich and chiefly engaged in an idle effort to be president.

AS ROOSEVELT SEES AFRICA

Errors in English Government That the United States May Easily Avoid.

Ex-President Roosevelt pauses for a moment in his storied of the chase in Scribner's magazine to discuss African politics, commenting in interesting fashion on the rule of the white man in the dark continent, and looking to the future development of the races and of the country.

Col. Roosevelt is convinced that the British error, as he says America's has been in dealing with its savage peoples, lies in interfering too little with their tribal customs and practices, often immoral and repulsive. While much may be argued for this policy, he says, fussy and ill-considered benevolence being more certain to awaken resentment than cruelty itself, he is confident that more can be done than is being done in pushing the African tribes upward.

Though under the most jealous scrutiny from settlers and government officials only too willing to criticize every sin of omission or commission, Col. Roosevelt declares that the missionaries in Africa, as a class, are doing a splendid work of uplift. He is sure, however, that industrial training and a gradual elevation of the mind and character of the natives must precede the spread of any Christianity worth the name.

Not for Us.

There is a peculiar estimate of the hunger of the United States for more islands in the report that Russia hopes to sell its northern half of the island of Saghalien to this country. The story is that Russia finds that bleak and inaccessible remnant that it rescued from the wreck of the Japanese war of no value and not worth the expense of keeping.

Let it not lay that flattering unction to its soul. There is every reason to believe that the appetite of this nation for islands was fully satisfied ten years ago. We find much more valuable possessions than Saghalien only a bother and expense. Even the neighboring islands of the Caribbean group are not looked upon so ardently as at the beginning of the century.

If Russia wishes to get rid of that property let her offer it to Japan for what it is worth—which is close to nothing at all.

See Danger in Over Haste.

There is a strong movement to amend and change the Sherman law, and it is greatly to be feared that once commenced the amendments and changes may go to the effect of depriving it of all power and vitality. It lay dormant so long that nobody gave it attention, much less did any trust fear it, but since it has proven to be a live wire there is great anxiety to get rid of it.

Take Care of Naval Reserve.

Until now the militia has been looked on chiefly with regard to its possibilities as a reserve for the regular army. Important as this is, the naval militia is also of great importance, and it is yearly getting to be more so.

Where Burglars Are Unknown.

Consul Edward J. Norton of Malaga cannot encourage American safe makers to attempt the building up of a trade in that district of southern Spain. He writes as follows: Not over half a dozen American-made safes could be found in this entire consular district, and the outlook for the development of the safe trade is not an encouraging one.

REAL HEIRESS OF THE WEST

Miss Jennie Crocker by the Death of Relatives Has Fortune of $11,000,000.

San Francisco.—Miss Jennie Crocker of San Francisco is the real heiress of the west, and all other young women of money and millions are merely fractional luminaries.

Miss Crocker inherited $5,000,000 from the estate of her father, the late Fred Crocker. On the death of her sister, Mrs. Mary Crocker Harrison, she inherited nearly $2,000,000, and now, from the estate of her uncle, George Crocker, who died in New York, she will inherit between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000. That makes $10,000,000 easily.

But added to that is the matter of the increase, what the British parliamentarians are now, in the language of Henry George, calling "the unearned increment." The unearned and the hard earned increment of Miss Crocker's fortune is several millions, for the Crocker estate company shrewdly invests its money where it will earn dividends, and the properties it holds in San Francisco and elsewhere are busy multiplying the fortune of the California heiress.

So Miss Crocker can afford to lose pearl necklaces with impunity. Even if the necklaces were not found on the following day Miss Crocker could lose 200 of the baubles to the value of $30,000 jewels she misplaced a few months ago, and still have $1,000,000 or so to invest in polo ponies and Boston terriers.

Her brother, Charles Templeton Crocker, is practically as rich as his sister.

BOY PIANIST IS A WONDER

Pepito Arriolo, Who Began Playing at the Age of Three, Visits America.

New York.—Pepito Arriolo, the boy pianist who has delighted hundreds of music lovers in the east, undoubtedly is a remarkable youngster. He was born at Barcelona December 14, 1896, and he showed such astonishing musical instinct that when he was 2 1/2 years old he was examined in Paris by "an erudite and austere body of phrenologists," and the remarkable formation of his head excited their wonder.

At the age of three he began to play the piano and compose. Arthur Nikisch, who was conducting in Spain became acquainted with him, secured for him a stipend from the court of Spain and took him to Leipzig for thorough instruction. Pepito studied for a year in Berlin with Moritz Mayer-Mahr, and on March 28, 1906, played Beethoven's concerto in C minor with orchestra, at a charity concert in the Philharmonic hall of that city.

He played in London in 1906 and again in June of this year, but he has not been foolishly exploited for the sake of gain. He is said to be like the Mischa Elman of the first years, in this, that he is not only an extraordinary virtuoso for his age, but one extraordinarily endowed with musical taste and feeling.

Deeds of Youths.

At 20, Tintoretto was one of the most prolific and popular painters in Italy; Schelling had grappled with the philosophy of Kant; Galileo had discovered the use of the pendulum; Lafayette was a major general, and Garrison voiced emancipation for the slave.

For Once He Had Asked Question and Received Answer That Ficed Him.

He was a regular patron of the restaurant. Perhaps that is why he felt justified in making clever remarks to the waitresses, remarks which they were puzzled how to answer. One day, however, the smallest and thinnest girl happened to be serving this irritating customer, and it fell to her to answer him in kind.

"I'll have some steak," he said, coming in late for dinner, "and some squash, and some—got some baked potatoes, fine, brown, baked potatoes?"

"Baked potatoes are all over," said the girl. He leaned back in his chair and gazed at her quizzically. "Baked potatoes all over, are they?" he repeated. "All over what?"

"With," she replied, simply.—Youth's Companion.

BITTER DISAPPOINTMENT.

Kind Lady—It must be hard to find that you have inherited a taste for beefsteak.

Sandy Pikes—Yes, mum; especially when yer find dat yer haven't inherited de beefsteak.

Period of Joy for Casey. Casey's wife was at the hospital, where she had undergone a very serious operation a few days before.

$125,000 net from 1200 acres grapes. $15,000 from 22 acres peaches. $3,200 from 20 acres raisins, in the San Joaquin Valley, California

A cow and an acre of alfalfa will earn $120 a year in the San Joaquin Valley. Grapes will yield from $100 to $300 per acre; peaches and apricots, $150 to $500; while oranges will produce from $250 to $500, and in many instances more than $1000 an acre. There are ten million arable and irrigable acres here. You still may buy unimproved land for $50 an acre.

Ten acres are enough to comfortably support a small family. Twenty acres afford a fine living, with money in the bank. Forty acres should make you rich.

You pay from one-fourth to one-third down, balance easily can be paid for out of the crops.

Almost anything can be raised in the San Joaquin country—peaches and wheat, figs and apples, delicate grapes and hardy potatoes. Products of the temperate and semi-tropic zones flourish side by side.

Plenty of water for irrigation drawn from the near-by Sierra snows. It is easy for one to make a start. Land between the rows can be used, while orchard is young, for many profitable crops. The point is to make every square foot bear something.

What some farmers have done: Frank Thomas, of Fresno, Cal., bought twenty acres of land five years ago. He had but $300 to start on. Today his place is paid for and he has an income of over $2,000 a year.

William Shroyer, R. F. D. 7, Fresno, Cal., bought his first ten acres six years ago. Now owns sixty acres all paid for, and refuses $12,000 for his place.

M. F. Turpey, of Fresno, owns vineyard of 1,200 acres, from which he takes an annual profit of $125,000. On the Harold estate, twenty-two acres of peaches yielded a $15,000 crop.
