The "Other Fellow" Poem.

I asked a class of 7th grade pupils to write compositions, telling something they had done which their conscience approved of, explaining that our conscience is the "Other Fellow" and that he judges everything we do. Sometimes he tells us we are right, sometimes that we are wrong.

The following "Poem" was handed in by Joseph Cox, a twelve year old boy. He tells of a case where the "Other Fellow" told him what to do.

MISS QUIGLEY, Teacher of 7 and 8 Grades. "THE OTHER FELLOW."

On one summer's day Percy Nangle and I were walking along beneath the blue sky. Till we came along to where some green apples grew. Percy grabbed some and away he flew. An old lady came out and began to jaw me. For taking the apples from her apple tree. I said "was not I, she said 'was a lie, And she needed the apples to put in a pie. She jawed and she scolded, 'then who was it,' said she? 'I'll give you some pie if you will tell me.' I was going to tell her for I 'love' apple pie. But the 'Other Fellow' said to me 'Stand by Old friends, for they stand by you.' So I said to the old lady, 'No, I will not tell. My friendship for pie.' Along came John Glenn. And he said the thief was Percy N. He swallowed the pie, then gave a loud cry. And fell to the ground and straightway did die. And I was glad I hadn't told, was I.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

SMITH.

ORTHA LAVINA SMITH, was born, at Sinnamahoning, August 13th, 1893, died April 25th, 1910. The sad accident, which cost this young girl her life, occurred near the Lick Island Station, where she and two others were hauled from a river suspension bridge across the First Fork which had been made a raging stream by the heavy rains. The little party was about midway on the bridge, which the water nearly reached, when a floating log struck against it, partly wrecking the bridge and throwing the three into the angry waters. Two of the party, a man and boy, were saved but the young girl sank beneath the surface and was seen no more. The time was about 12:15, her watch having stopped at that hour. The most diligent search by the large party who at once set to work and continued from day to day failed to recover the body until Friday afternoon, when she was found nearly five miles below the scene of the accident. She was taken to the home of John Clontz, an uncle, and the funeral services were conducted from there and the M. E. church by her pastor, Rev. Runyan, of whose church she was a member, at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

A large congregation came from her home and nearby towns to be present at the sad services, many being unable to gain admission. The casket was banked with beautiful floral pieces and the remains were borne to their last resting place in Crum cemetery and placed by the side of her mother, who died several years ago. Deceased was the daughter of H. E. Smith and Edith Smith nee Clontz. She is survived by her father, one brother and one sister and the family relations who mourn the sad and untimely ending of the life of this girl "whose sun hath gone down while it was yet day."

Judgment is the Determining Factor, Leading to Wealth or Poverty. Good Judgment Has made the dollar of the poor man multiply itself until the poor man became rich. Bad Judgment Has made the dollar of the rich man disappear, leaving him poor. It is by the use of GOOD JUDGMENT that INVESTMENTS are made safe and profitable, and by the use of GOOD JUDGMENT a dollar has been made to earn another dollar in a year with as great safety as another dollar has been made to earn five cents in a year. No one questions the safety of the investments made by Morgan, Rockefeller and men of their stamp, and no one questions that their dollars are invested to return more than five per cent. as otherwise their colossal fortunes would never have been made. This Advertisement is Inserted for People of Good Judgment Who would like to invest in the same securities, with the same safety, and the same earnings as Morgan and Rockefeller are to-day investing in.
