Bibles of the World.

The so-called "Bibles of the World" number six, as follows: The Koran of the Mohammedans, the Tri Pitikes of the Buddhists, the Five Kings of the Chinese, the Three Vedas of the Hindoos, the Zandavesta of the Persians and the Scriptures of the Christians. The Koran is the most recent of these sacred writings, dating from the seventh century, while the oldest is the Zandavesta, going back thou-sands of years before the birth of Christ.-Literary Digest.

A Bright Blacksmith.

The greatest improvement in vehicle construction was when some bright blacksmith thought of heating the tires and shrinking them on the wheel. While many claim the honor, it is not known to whom it rightly longs. Previously to this event tires were made in short sections and held Degrees of Quarrel.

I will name you the degrees. The first, the retort courteous; the second, the quip modest; the third, the reply churlish; the fourth, the reproof valiant; the fifth, the countercheck quarrelsome; the sixth, the lie with circumstance; the seventh, the lie di-rect; all these you may avoid but the lie direct, and you may avoid that, too, with an if.—Shakespeare, "As You Like It."

The Autocrat's Story. Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes used to tell a story to the effect that a man called early one evening to see his pastor, and a little girl of 9 opened the door to him. "Father is not at home," she said, "but, if you have come to talk about your soul, you had better come in, for I understand the whole plan of salvation."

ANALYSIS OF VOTERS' FONDNESS FOR THE BEAST.

Stubborn, Unvielding, Yet Intellectual, the Symbol of Republicanism Has Weight With the People for Good Reasons.

It is very easy to fall out of patience with the Republican party. For of all thick-skinned, self-satisfied, ponderous, immovable animals, it is undoubtedly the worst. Some poet it surely was, with an imagination that saw into the essential heart of things, who dubbed it the elephant. When once it has taken its stand you can jab all day without budging it. Building a fire underneath is about the best way of obtaining progress.

Now just why the American people prefer to deal with such an irresponsive brute is often hard to compre-hend. The big point in his favor, of course, is his intelligence. When he does move, he moves in the right direction; for he happens to possess the ablest intellectuals in the business. But a little less intelligence and a somewhat more obliging spirit would surely do as well by the country and every one would be in a much more amiable frame of mind. So, why the elephant.

The answer is unfortunately all too plain. It was given only the other day, for example, in an inconspicuous observation of the Hon. Champ Clark, Democratic leader in the house of rep-resentatives. Said he of the Republican proposition to give plenary pow-ers of investigation to the tariff board: "The house Democrats are united in their opposition to it." Think of it! Here at last is a chance for the country to obtain the information which everyone wantsthe facts whereupon a proper revision of the tariff by any party can alone be made. And the Democrats will unani-mously oppose it-for fear, of course, that it may help the Republicans get together! Of course, the facts would ultimately, if the Democratic dogma is correct, annihilate the Republican party. But never mind that. Hang the principle of the thing—or even its far-sighted expediency. Let's be as pettily partisan as we can, say the

Champ Clark Democrats. Is it any wonder that with such a

What the Tariff Law Is Doing. The volume of business throughout the country as shown by the bank clearings continues to increase. The indications at the beginning of March were fully borne out by the figures for the entire month, in which nearly every financial center of importance showed material improvement over March of a year ago. Total clearings for the United States, according to the returns of the New York Chronicle. are $15,017,000,000, an increase of 19 per cent. This is the highest March total yet recorded, and shows that all the ground lost during the panic has been made up. The total for March, 1909, was $12,621,000,000; for 1908, $9,-798,000,000; 1907, the previous high record, $14,657,000,000; 1906, $13,007.-000,000; 1305, $12,918,000,000. Early returns for April show continued activity. The increase for the first week amounted to 11 per cent. Totals for the first three months of the year tell the same story; the 1910 figures being $45,267,000,000, as compared with $22,958,000,000 in 1908 and $41.

Kern's Great Record.

The Democrats of Indiana are justly proud of the record of John W. Kern, and they are going to give him an op-portunity to embellish it.

Wise Administration of Country's Finances Under Republican Rule Is Proved.

When the present congress assembled in special session a little more than a year age economy was the watchword on every side, because the treasury was confronted with a deficit of $60,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year ending with June, 1909. While some improvement in revenue was expected as a result of the revision of the tariff and because of improving business, there was a settled belief that the fiscal year 1910 would also show a good deficit.

Now at the close of the tenth month of the present year the federal treas-ury is found to be in a very strong position. Instead of a deficit the present fiscal year now promises to close with a substantial surplus. The gov ernment's receipts for the ten months show an increase of $50,500,000 over the corresponding ten months in 1909, the increase being shown in both tariff duties and internal revenue receipts. On the other hand the or-dinary expenditures of the govern-ment for the same ten months have decreased about $2,000,000.

The deficit for the ten months is $16,700,000, against a deficit in the previous year of $69,236,000. But the treasury has paid out since July 1, 1909, $27,000,000 on the Panama canal account. No bonds have yet been sold to make good this expenditure, so that the treasury has really to its credit on the operations for the year so far about $10,500,000.

The last two months of the fiscal year will probably show surpluses and at the end of the fiscal year the cor-poration tax will be turned into the treasury, the revenue from this source amounting probably to between $25. 000,000 and $30,000,000. This would bring the total surplus for the year up to $40,000,000. It is very clear from this that the treasury will have plenty of money for all purposes from now on, and that the nightmare of possible bond issues has passed.

Barometer of Trade.

The production of iron in the United States during the month of March was at a slightly smaller daily rate than prevailed during the winter, but was still higher than any earlier rec-ord. The total for the month of Is it any wonder that with such a pared with 1,836,000 in March, 1908, bray resounding in the air the Ameri-can people turn back peevishly to the total for the 12 months ending March total for the 12 months ending March total for the 12 months ending March 31, 1910, amounted to 27,703,000 tons, as compared with 17,611,000 tons during the same period of 1908-9, and 22,166,000 tons in the corresponding period of 1907-8. Money circulation in the United States continues to expand, the treas-ury department's monthly statement giving the total at $3,138,000,000 or $34.87 per capita, on April 1, 1910. In 1909 it was $34.85 and in 1908, $28.25

All Will Indorse Bill.

One thing, however, has been de-termined without doubt: The president and the entire legislation of this congress, including the tariff bill en-acted at the special session, will be indorsed in the platform of every Re-publican convention. Even those Insurgents who voted against the tariff bill admit that they must indorse now this Republican measure which has proved so successful and beneficial to the people. It is true that the meas ure of indorsement may vary at dif-ferent state conventions, but for the most part it will be satisfactory to the president and the party leaders. There can be no criticisms of a bill that has proved to be so successful, not only in the raising of revenue but in bringing about prosperity to all ostrich plumes have provided color combinations that vie with those in flowers. Ostrich, in two or three shades of one color, in two or three colors, and even in brilliant dashes of many colors in the same plume have been brought out and placed in the hands of milliners throughout the country. It is the grace of plumes that endears them to the heart of every designer of really beautiful millinery. If securely fastened by the stem to the body of the hat and left to its own sweet will (or curve rather), and the law of gravity, the ostrich feather will dispose its length most gracefully. The trimmer can-not improve these lines which nature has drawn with the supple quill and dainty flumes. Blown by the wind the airy fibers move in graceful lines and come back to rest in the original positions that they held before they were disturbed. This is true of the "skeleton" willow ostrich (plumes with tied flumes) more especially. In tying the flumes to lengthen them, the manufacturer is able to introduce new colors or shades and produce blended

THE diaphanous picture hats in | harmony or contrast, as he desires. These plumes are light in weight and very beautiful. In black they have a tendency to come to pieces. For some reason the black dye so efher "dreams of beauty," in fects the feather that moisture makes materials and colors. Many colored it shrink or "crawl" and the knots untie. But in colors they wear fairly well. Women have been buying fragile materials too long to dispense with willow plumes on that account.

The natural ostrich plume with wide spread of fibers, slightly curled, should be selected if one is buying black. A good ostrich plume, moder-ately heavy, and made of uniformly good stock, will prove about the most lasting article and the most satisfac-tory in which the investor in mil-linery can put her money. Two plumes of this character will do serv-ice summer and winter. They are at their loveliest on the black picture hat for midsummer. This hat, of hemp or hair braid, with broad, sweeping flare of brin, through which the light flters, is the ideal model for a "stunning" effect. It is cool looking and always distinguished. In white with elements the state of the state of the state of the state with elements of the state of the state of the state of the state with elements of the state with plumes in white and black it looks as chaste as frost, and throws a becoming reflection upon the skin of the wearer. The wide brims require this sweep of plumes in which trimmers delight.
