JOB PRINTING.

The Job department of the Press is complete and affords facilities for doing the best class of work. PARTICULAR ATTENTION PAID TO LAW PRINTING.

Would Train Boys to Serve Country.

The London Lancet would welcome a comprehensive scheme by which, for instance, a boy, leaving school at about fifteen years, might pass through post office or messenger work for three or four years; then enter the army for five or six years or more; then pass to the police, post office, railway or other permanent employment.

A Welcome Threat.

"What has become of that man who used to threaten to shoot people who didn't drink with him?" "He left Crimmon Gulf long ago," replied Bronco Bob. "People came pouring in from all over the state to be threatened by him. He did a lot to boom the town, but his money couldn't hold out."—Washington Star.

Back to the Dead Past.

A Gaelic cemetery containing archaeological remains dating back between two and three thousand years, has been discovered at Pogy, near Rheims. The objects include magnificent vases, bowls, necklaces and bracelets, some richly jeweled.

The Boy Knew.

"Dear father," wrote a youngster of twelve, "we are all well and happy. The baby has grown ever so much, and has a great deal more sense than he used to have. Hoping the same of you, I remain, your affectionate son, James."—Puck.

A New Orchid.

From New Guinea comes a new orchid shaped like a cradle and found in a recent orchid hunting expedition in the island. The flower has a white margin, with reddish chocolate markings and a yellow lip.

The Pursuit of Happiness.

Half the world is on the wrong scent in the pursuit of happiness. They think it consists in having and getting and being served by others. It consists in giving and serving others.—Henry Drummond.

Sleep After Eating.

A man feels drowsy after a hearty dinner because a large part of the blood in the system goes to the stomach to aid the digestion and leaves the brain poorly supplied.

Strenuous Love.

A man who was fined for throwing stones at a window of a Welsh farm said he only threw a couple of bits of grit up at the window as a signal for his girl to come out.

If You Will Bet.

"Don't bet on fast horses, young man," cautions a New York minister. Still, parson, if a man will bet 'tis better to bet on a fast nag than a slow one.

Effects of Militarism.

Recent statistics of the German army show that neurasthenia is 3 1/2 times as prevalent among the soldiers as it was a decade ago, while hysteria cases are twice as numerous.

"Flating" Population.

It is calculated that no fewer than 85,000 people spend their lives on the canal boats and barges of England alone.

General Has That Effect.

She—"I wonder why Methuselah lived to such a great old age." He—"Perhaps some young woman married him for his no es."

Oh Houses.

In Nuremberg there are 1,700 houses built before 1600 A. D. and 3,537 built in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

Favorit Crimes.

Arson and counterfeiting are on the increase, though crime as a whole is declining.

Men's Mistakes.

About the only variety in some men's lives lies in the mistakes they make.

For Submarines.

Electricity is the only motor power used in submarine boats.

Leads Enchantment.

Distance is a great promoter of admiration.

NEW NOTE SOUNDED

PEOPLE TO HEAR THE TRUTH ABOUT TARIFF BILL.

Facts as to Prosperity Following Enactment of Measure in Themselves a Reply to Attacks of Its Enemies.

A new note in tariff discussion was sounded by Vice-President Sherman at Kalamazoo, Mich., says the Detroit Journal. The work of explaining that bill to the people is now begun.

The Journal has already remarked that it is the only tariff bill that was not followed by hard times. Vice-President Sherman brought this home again to the audience at Kalamazoo.

The ordinary receipts of the government, Mr. Sherman said, have increased more than $50,000,000 this year. A deficit of $70,000,000 last year is now only $15,000,000, and will be wiped out altogether by June 3.

Mr. Sherman in one passage referred to the recent speeches of Senators Dolliver and Cummins at Des Moines. He declares that these speeches were "a reflection upon the honesty and integrity of the president and the majority of the Republicans in both houses of congress."

"So far as the public is concerned, the tariff revision in fact carries rates as high or higher than the Dingley tariff law on most articles of general use in their finished condition. Most of the reductions were so trivial as to be ridiculous."

Against this series of mere words Mr. Sherman comes with the simple truth:

"The fact is that on most articles in general use the duty was materially reduced, being raised only in a few exceptional cases."

"Was the reduction of 60 per cent. on boots and shoes ridiculous? I should like to ask the senator."

"Was the reduction of 60 per cent. on lumber ridiculous? Was the reduction of 25 per cent. on meats ridiculous? Was the reduction of 55 per cent. on harness and saddle horses ridiculous? Was the reduction of 50 per cent. on steel rails, 60 per cent. on iron ore, 37 1/2 per cent. on sewing machines and typewriters ridiculous? Was the reduction of 20 to 50 per cent. on nails and spikes ridiculous? Was the entire repeal of the duty on hides and oil a ridiculous reduction?"

"I could mention 650 articles, mostly of common use, on which the duty was very materially reduced, while increases were made on only 220 articles, most of them luxuries."

The declamation of Mr. Dolliver is not new. By many repetitions from many voices it has become as common as "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight." The enemies of the bill never wanted or needed time for observation, study and research. The friends of the bill, those who meant and tried to do well, have been waiting and observing. They are now ready to discuss it, and they will find that the country is ready also.

Free Trade and Emigration.

Emigration from the United Kingdom has been increasing rapidly this year, owing to the depressed condition of business in that country. The Standard of Empire, a British newspaper, states that "present indications from shipping offices and other agencies show that the total for the year is likely to be over 300,000." Sir Gilbert Parker, a member of the British parliament, speaking on this subject, said: "There is depression in every department of our industrial life. Men shake the dust of England off their feet and say, 'Thank God!' as they go, because they go to countries where there is work to get and permanent work to be had—where they can increase their standard of living and claim a higher wage; where the workman and the manufacturer combine to defeat the unfair competition of foreign nations. No workman in any of our colonies or in the United States wants to come back to free trade; they had it and they had enough of it. That there should be exultation on the part of thousands of our fellow countrymen leaving these shores for want of opportunity to earn a decent living is a queer interpretation of the facts. No other country shows such an exodus; no other country wants to show it."

You've noticed that lots of baseball clubs win the pennant in February and March—just before the season opens. Let's see, for the last 50 years hasn't the Democratic party been winning most of its elections in May and June?

Serene.

Yet above it all, the president stands perfectly unruffled, strong in his own integrity and in the respect and confidence of all honorable people, who must love him the more for the kind of enemies that are sedulously seeking by innuendo to traduce him.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Let's see; we haven't had a Democratic congress since the panic days of '93. And wow! didn't we get a stomachful at that time?

Taft's Judicial Appointments.

If Mr. Taft had accomplished nothing else as president, the wise judgment he has shown in the appointments he has made to the Supreme court would sufficiently entitle him to the gratitude and confidence of the country.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Gaynor-Hearst controversy makes one thing clear. There will be room for both of them in the Democratic party without uncomfortable crowding.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

BEWARE OF SECOND ERROR

Good Advice Concerning Tariff, Given by the Ohio Republican League.

People in Ohio can remember when bogus peddlers went through the state after the passage of the McKinley tariff bill explaining that the high prices they asked for their saucepans and dippers were because "everything's gone up on account of the new tariff."

Don't be fooled again! Ohio Republicans remember that when they awakened from their hysteria over the McKinley bill, they elected its author governor by a majority unprecedented in the political history of the Buckeye state.

Just now the Democrats are persistently repeating, as they reiterated twenty years ago, that increases in prices today are "due to new tariff law." And there is just as much truth in their present-day assertions as there was in their reckless slanders of the McKinley bill.

Don't be fooled again! Bear in mind that while lumber has advanced, the Payne tariff reduced the schedule on common boards 75 cents a thousand feet.

Do not forget that though the wholesale price of shoes has been increased recently, hides went on the free list through the enactment of the Payne law.

Remember that the woolen schedule was unchanged except in two minor instances where it was reduced, from the Dingley duties, and that therefore the Payne law can in no way be responsible for advances in the prices of clothing.

Don't be fooled again!—Ohio Republican League.

Why the Knocker?

Wages are higher and still ascending; farmers are everywhere prosperous; the unemployed are few and skilled and unskilled labor is in demand; banks are flourishing; manufacturers are making money; prosperity is general, and no great evil confronts the people. Then why the knocker? What business has he under such conditions? He says the cost of living is too high. The cost of living has always been too high for people who would buy more than they can pay for; but high or low, the cost of living has not yet been found in guilty connection with the tariff, while the ability of the wage-earner to pay that cost is dependent largely upon the tariff.—Tarkio (Mo.) Avalanche.

Give Credit to Tariff System.

Nowhere else in the world is there the buying power of the American wage-earner, the general consumer who earns his living—and he makes up virtually the whole of our race. A day's work for the man who is earning his living in the United States under our tariff system will get him more of the food, clothes and luxuries he seeks, will provide him more amusements and will enable him to lay up larger savings than are to be had out of a day's work, on the average, anywhere else on earth.—N. Y. Press.

Facts to Be Remembered.

This is a point that Republicans, during their campaign should dwell upon in every stump speech. Whatever of dissatisfaction there may be with certain schedules in the Payne-Aldrich act, it has prostrated no industry, reduced no wages, precipitated no depression. Instead, there has been a tremendous revival of business, hundreds of thousands of men have had their wages increased since its passage, and it holds no menace for the future. Why, therefore, a Democratic house?—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

People Learning to Know Taft.

Taft's strength is rapidly becoming more appreciated. His high purpose; his courage to battle for the right, are becoming more understood, and not so very many months will elapse before the American people will realize the truth of this prediction privately made by President Roosevelt, two months before Mr. Taft's nomination: "Before his first term shall have expired, Judge Taft will be the most popular and best beloved president this country has had since the civil war."—Ohio Republican League.

Outlook Not Discouraging.

With factional differences ironed out the outlook for a fairly good seasonal record is becoming brighter. If the Republicans can succeed in passing a substantial part of their program throughout the two houses they will be in a vastly better position to enter the campaign this fall than if nothing had been accomplished, and the threatening clouds of a few weeks ago will disappear before November.—Detroit Free Press.

Taft's Judicial Appointments.

If Mr. Taft had accomplished nothing else as president, the wise judgment he has shown in the appointments he has made to the Supreme court would sufficiently entitle him to the gratitude and confidence of the country.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Gaynor-Hearst controversy makes one thing clear. There will be room for both of them in the Democratic party without uncomfortable crowding.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Casey at the Bat. This famous poem is contained in the Coca Cola Baseball Record Book for 1910, together with records, schedules for both leagues and other valuable baseball information compiled by authorities. This interesting book sent by the Coca Cola Co., of Atlanta, Ga., on receipt of 2c stamp for postage. Also copy of their booklet "The Truth About Coca Cola" which tells all about this delicious beverage and why it is so pure, wholesome and refreshing. Are you ever hot—tired—thirsty? Drink Coca Cola—it is cooling, relieves fatigue and quenches the thirst. At soda fountains and carbonated in bottles—5c everywhere.

The Business Instinct. An English farmer, taking his little son with him, was going to the polling station to give his vote. On the way he met a friend on the same errand, and the two entered into conversation. After an excited and heated argument about the budget they came to blows. The poor lad was much frightened, and seeing that his father was getting the worst of it, suddenly called out to him: "Hit him in the watch, father; that'll cost him something!"

STATE OF OHIO CITY OF TOLEDO, Lucas County. FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

Reasoning of Youthful Mind. A schoolmistress whose hair was of the blackest hue, was one day giving a lesson on a coal mine to a class in Suffolk, England. To make the lesson interesting as possible she went on to say she had herself been in a coal mine, and when pointed to said: "Please, teacher, is that what made your hair so black?"

Jimmy's Definition. "What is geography?" asked the father, who was testing his son's progress in study. "Geography," replied little Jimmy Jiggs, "is what you put inside your trousers when you think you are going to get a whipping."—Sunday Magazine of Los Angeles Times.

Such a Polite Little Boy. "We keep our own cow," explained the hostess, proudly. "So we're sure of our milk." "Well," interrupted the small son of the guest, setting down his cup, "somebody's stung you with a sour cow."

Rather Personal. Tallman—Only a fool makes the same sort of mistake the second time. Shortman—Do you mean to insinuate that I am a fool? Tallman—Certainly not. Shortman—Well, I didn't know I've been married twice.

An Economist. "Do you mean to tell me you enjoy being fat?" "Yes," answered the philosophic citizen. "I get more transportation for my money when I buy a railway ticket."

An Average. "Doesn't it annoy you to be bald headed?" "Not at all," replied the genial citizen. "When we go out evenings my wife wears more than enough hair for two."

Some good men fear the world will forget they are shining if their lamps do not smoke. You will not get to heaven any quicker by provoking your neighbors to wishing you were there.

Are you spending your money for advertisement in haphazard fashion as if intended for charity, or do you advertise for direct results? Did you ever stop to think how your advertising can be made a source of profit to you, and how its value can be measured in dollars and cents. If you have not, you are throwing money away. Advertising is a modern business necessity, but must be conducted on business principles. If you are not satisfied with your advertising you should set aside a certain amount of money to be spent annually, and then carefully note the effect it has in increasing your volume of business; whether a 10, 20 or 30 per cent increase. If you watch this gain from year to year you will become intensely interested in your advertising, and how you can make it enlarge your business. If you try this method we believe you will not want to let a single issue of this paper go to press without something from your store. We will be pleased to have you call on us, and we will take pleasure in explaining our annual contract for so many inches, and how it can be used in whatever amount that seems necessary to you. If you can sell goods over the counter we can also show you why this paper will best serve your interests when you want to reach the people of this community.'
