The Farmer and the Tariff. In the last House of Representatives Congressman Martin of South Dakota compared the advantageous position of the farmer now with what his position was in 1897 under the operation of a Democratic Tariff law.

He showed that a bushel of corn in 1897 would purchase 7 pounds of sugar; now it will purchase 16 pounds of sugar He followed this with other comparisone. Twelve years ago a bushel of corn would purchase 5 gallons of illuminating oil; now it will pucchase 11 gallons. Expressed in purchasing value in coffee, in 1897 a bushel of corn would purchase 3 pounds of coffee; now it will purchase 9 pounds of coffee A bushel of corn in 1897 would pur chase 18 pounds of barbed wire with which to fence in the farm; to-day it will purchase 33 pounds. The average hog in 1897 would buy 91 pounds of granulated sugar, now it will buy 192 pounds. That hog in 1907 would buy 65 gallons of illuminating oil; now it will buy 130 gallons. In 1867 the hog bought 42 pounds of coffee, now it it will buy 116 pounds of coffee. In 1897 it would buy 227 pounds of barbed wire; now it will buy 587 pounds.

The steadfast claim of believers in the Protective Tariff always has been that it would benefit the farmer at leas as much as any other member of the community by making for him a home market in which he would be able to sell his products near at hand, at good prices, instead of being obliged to send the bulk of them across the sea, to compete with the offerings from other countries in a foreign market. The advantage of the home market to the farmer was not overestimated nor overstated.

The American farmer owes a great deal to the Tariff, and would be a serious loser if the Tariff were blunderingly altered .- Milwaukee "Wisconsin."

Cost of Maintaining a Tuberculosis Sanitorium.

In a preliminary bulletin on the cost of maintaining a tuberculosis sanitorium, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis announces today that the average cost per patient per day in thirty semicharitable sanatoria scattered in all parts of the United States is $1.669. These institutions represent an annual expenditure of over $1,300,000 and over 815,000 days of treatment given each year. The bulletin, which is part of an extensive study the National Association is making for its bureau of information, points out how the country could save annually at least $150,000,-000, if the indigent consumptives were properly segregated.

It was found that the food cost in most institutions represented onethird of the annual expenditures. The average daily food cost per patient was $0.544. The expenditures for salaries and wages represented nearly another third, being $0.481 per day per patient out of a total of $1,669. The fuel, oil and light cost was $0.206 per capita per diem or about oneeighth of the total cost.

The daily cost in the several institutions ranged all the way from $0.946 per patient to $2.555. In the far West and South-west, as in Colorado and New Mexico and California the cost was higher than in the East, in New York and New England, being $2.025 per patient as against $1.748.

The total expenditures of the thirty institutions were $1,363,953.28, while the total receipts from all sources were $1,428,525.74. More than 70 per cent of the receipts were received from public funds and private benefactions, only 28.8 per cent being from patients. Stated in another way, only 35 per cent of the total expenditures were received from patients, the remainder being made up from other sources. Computing that there are in the United States at least 300,000 indigent consumptives who should be cared for in charitable or semi-charitable sanatoria and hospitals, the National Association estimates that the annual cost to the country for the treatment of these persons would be $50,000,000 at at the rate of $1.669 per day per patient. At the lowest possible estimate, the country loses $200,000,000 a year from the incapacity of these indigent victims of tuberculosis. This would mean a net saving of $150,000,000 a year to the United States if all the cases of consumption who are too poor to afford proper treatment in expen-
