Tickling the Debtors. John Barrett was only twenty-seve years old when President Cleveland appointed him minister to Siam. The first important task which confronted the youthful envoy was to press a claim against the Slamese government for $1,000,000. Experienced ambassadors warned him against using threats in obtaining the money. "Be cunning: avoid arrogance," they said. "That is," responded Mr. Barrett,

"you favor tickling with a straw to Drug Co. pricking with a bayonet." The statesmen nodded assent.

Acute or Chronic-Which. No matter if your kidney troable is acute or chronic Foley's Kidney Remedy will reach your case. Mr. Claude Brown Reynoldsville, Ill., writes uf that he suffered many months with kidney complaint which baffled all treatment. At last he tried Foley's Kidney Remedy and a few large bottles effected a complete cure. He says, "It has been of inestim-able value to me." Sold by Emporium Drug Co.

"It's no disgrace to fail if you have done your best," said the philosopher. "That may be so," replied the man who had failed. "But it's pretty tough to have to admit that the best you could do was fail."-Detroit Free Press.

Yorkshire Men's Fingers.

A Yorkshire man and a Lancashire man were conversing together the other day. The Lancashire man said to the Yorkshire man, "Well, Bill, do you know the best way to find a York shire man's lost fingers?" 'No." says Bill.

"Well, I will tell you what happened at our place the other day. Yorkshire Dan had two of his tingers cut of with a steam saw, and they got lost among the sawdust, and two of my mates were down on their hands and knees looking for them when the fore man came up and asked what they were doing. One of them said:

"'We are looking for Dan's fingers. "'Ob, come out of the road,' said the foreman. "That's not the way to find a Yorkshire man's tingers.' at the same time taking a shilling out of his pocke and throwing it among the sawdust, when the two fingers at once popped at not finding me at home, closing with a dinner invitation. Once at Geneva, in Switzerland, I received a long. overflowing letter, full of buoyant odd ities. written from London. Two of three hours later came a telegram: Burn letter. Blot it from your mem-Susie is dead.' ory. Susie was Mrs. Clemens.

TURKISH WOMEN.

They Are Curiously Fastidious In Some of Their Ways. The habits of the Turkish women of Constantinople are wonderfully fastidi-For instance, when they wash ons. their hands at a tap from which water runs into a marble basin the fair ones will let the water run until a servant shuts it off, inasmuch as to do this themselves would render them "unclean." They cannot open or shut a door, as the handle would be unclean. One of these fastidious women was not long ago talking to a small niece who had just received a present of a doll from Paris. By and by the child laid the doll in the lady's lap. She was horrified and ordered the child to take it away. As the little girl would not move it and no servant was near and the lady would be defiled by touching a doll that had been brought from abroad, the only resource left her was to jump up and let the doll fall. It broke in pieces. Another Turkish woman would not open a letter coming by post, but required a servant to break the seal and hold the missive near her that it might be read: also should her handkerchief fall to the ground it was immediately destroyed or given away, so that she might not again use it .- Exchange.

Defoe and Savings Banks.

Though Duncan of Duthwell was the founder of our first savings bank, the first suggestion came from Daniel De When he found himself compelled foe. to hide from the bailiffs in a small Bristol inn he turned his enforced leisure and financial failure to account by writing the "Essay on Projects." It deals with savings banks, friendly so-cieties, insurance, academies and bankrupts. On all these subjects Defoe offers from his fertile brain suggestions that startle the reader by their modern ring. On bankrupts and savings banks Defoe naturally wrote with feeling During his stay in Bristol he was known as "the Sunday gentleman," owing to his natural unwillingness to take the air except on that day of the week which deprived bailiffs of their sting.-London Chronicle.

A Cup of Sugar. A large china cup with a handle was shoved across the counter and a child's voice said. "Ma wants a cupful of sugar." The grocer filled the cup, weighed the sugar, poured it back into the cup and said, "Two cents."

her aunt Mrs. Malvina Nelson returned home on Monday.

Mrs. A. T. Smith is on the sick list. C. W. Johnson transacted business at Driftwood on Tuesday.

Providing For His Guests.

Two men stopped at the store of a haberdasher who displayed in his showcase a job lot of collars at 5 conts apiece. One of them bought two dozen, in sizes ranging from 15 to 171/2. His friend politely controlled his sur prise at discovering that the broken wore five cent collars and inquired only about the elastic neck. The purchase said:

"We live in the suburbs. Friends who visit us and remain overnight unexpectedly want clean collars the next morning. It depletes my own stock too far to keep furnishing these I can't always supply a comfortable size either. Of course the collars nev er come back. Since I discovered the scheme of five cent collars I can pick up anybody, take him home with me and inform him that he need not bring any luggage, because one of my wife's beneficences includes five cent toothbrushes for the wayfarer."-New York Sun.

TRADE MORAL-The quality of what you have to sell is known to some people all of the time and all of the people some of the time, but advertise regularly with us and you'll reach all of the people all of the time.

To a customer who expressed surprise at his willingness to sell groceries in such small quantities he said: "Have to in this neighborhood. Mos of these people live from meal to meal, which means that they buy things by measure instead of weight. Reckoned by the cupful, the spoonful or the pail ful, they know just how much of any thing they need. In order to satisfy both customers and the inspector of weights and measures we measure first to suit the trade, then weigh afterward."-New York Sun.

His Trick.

A pearl belonging to her brooch had got fastened in the lace of her collar. He offered to disentangle it.

"That's a great trick of mine." said as he wrestled with it. "Separating pearls from"-

Old Gent-Noa, lad dy, it's no that; I'm just making sure that I haven't got that one back which I passed off on thee!-London Punch.

A Poultry Fable. The hen returned to her nest and found it empty. "Very funny." said she; "I can never find things where I lay them."-Lippin cott's.

For one who can stand prosperity there are a hundred that will stand adversity.-Cariyle.

When the young minister had finally succeeded in collecting the claim the ambassadors asked in astonishment "How did you accomplish it?" "By tickling," explained Barrett. "! had to tickle them almost to death, though, before they agreed to pay it."

Quaint Remedies.

Among the members of the Greek church in Macedonia the following recipes are regarded as highly useful To pacify one's enemies write the psalm "Known In Judea," dissolve it in water and give your enemy to drink thereof, and he will be pacified. For a startled and frightened man take three dry chestnuts and sow thistle three glasses of old wine and let him drink thereof early and late. Write also "In the beginning was the word' and let him carry it.

Plump Birdie.

She (after the service)-You dreadful fellow! Why did you smile during the offertory? He - I couldn't help it. There was Miss Addie Pose singing "Had I the wings of a dove." The mental picture of a 200 pounder trying to fly with a pair of four inch wings was too much for me.
