in the course of a year hundreds of prescriptions are given into our hands for compounding. Upon many of them consequences of a most serious nature depended. Some were matters of life and death, where even a slight error would be a fatality. All were filled with conscientious exactitude and drugs of the purest and highest quality only were used. No one has the slightest cause for complaint, as our prescription department is a source of the greatest pride to us.

The love interest in that ever popular play, "Billy, the Kid," is reported to be exceedingly well sustained throughout the entire action of the play. It is the real love of a young woman for a young man that the authors are said to have depicted, and not the mawkish sentiment so frequently found in plays of this sort where both the hero and heroine do impossible things for one another. In this instance the friendship of the boy and girl, ripens into the real love for the man and the woman, the latter showing her womanliness in the many sacrifices she makes for him. The players engaged for these two roles are especially commendable and with the balance of the company make up a cast that is most worthy. Manager Butler announces "Billy, the Kid" as the next attraction at the Opera House, on next Monday, Oct. 3.
