Autumn Arbor Day.

He who plants a tree,
He plants love;
Tents of coolness spreading out above
Wayfarers he may not live to see,
Gifts that grow are best;
Hands that bless are best.
Plant—Life does the rest!
Heaven and earth help him who plants a tree,
And his work his own reward shall be.
—Lucy Larom.

The observance of Arbor Day has created a patriotic interest in the planting and preservation of trees. It has convinced the public of the importance of preventing and stopping forest fires, of the need of re-foresting the vast mountain areas from which the timber has been cut, and of the necessity of conserving the forests at sources of our streams thereby to regulate the flow of water and to lessen the floods and freshets which rob the land of its soil and fertility.

Moreover it is now generally admitted that Arbor Day should be observed when all the country schools are in session. For this purpose Friday, Oct. 28, 1910, is designated as Autumn Arbor Day, and all the schools, both public and private, are hereby urged to observe the day by suitable exercises, especially by the planting of trees. Let us all plant trees. Let us plant trees for fruit, for shade, for beauty and for the sake of the many industries in which wood is used. Let us plant trees for the sake of ourselves and our posterity, for the sake of the nation and of humanity everywhere. Let us put our prayers for future blessings into visible shape by starting trees that will answer our prayers by making possible the conservation of our national resources and the perpetuation of our national greatness.

A Few Reports Corrected.

EDITOR PRESS:—

Please allow me space in your paper, in which I wish to nail some lies, which have been reported in our Valley as well as in Emporium. The first is the false report of my wife and myself not paying for the property we now have. Our good (?) friend, if you wish to call him such, has perhaps forgotten that more than half of the amount for our property was paid twenty-nine years ago and if he denies this statement, we can show him receipts signed by his wife and the balance of purchase money was paid when he and his wife went before Mr. M. M. Larrabee, J. P., and had the deed made out and the full amount receipted on said deed which can be seen at the Court House in Emporium. The same party has sent out the report that I cheated him out of twenty-eight dollars worth of ginseng in weighing it. Now I weigh ginseng and pay for it on the same scales that I weigh the goods that I sell over my counter and I will give ten dollars to the party who will show that I have cheated in weight or measure. Another lie of our good friend, as you may call him, is that I stole forty or fifty dollars worth of lumber from the School Board of Shippen township and got it home before day-break with my team and hid it in my barn under the hay, and then built two porches with it. Now I will say that these are lies, without polish or whitewash. There is not one dollar's worth of lumber in either porch that I did not buy at Mr. Rowley's lumber yard in Emporium and the old lumber, my good friend who has so much to say about, is the lumber I sent my offer into the school board for and they accepted, deducting the same from my order for carpenter work, and every man that is honest and just in his judgment will say the school board was correct in selling the lumber at my offer. One more lie will be sufficient for this time. Our good friend made the statement that one director paid forty dollars for a grocery bill with lumber. Now there has not been one school director ever paid one dollar with lumber to me for store bills or anything else. I have more respect for our officers than to give out or report such a lie. If this is not enough we will give more later on.
