Guard The Young Girls.

In the suicide of the fifteen-year old girl who fled from her home at Chester, Pa., with a married man, and being tracked by the police, did the deed of desperation rather than submit to the mortification of returning home, is found the usual sequel. It is impossible to characterize the man, married and having a child, who deluded the young girl, taking from her the weak defenses of her sex and robbing her of all that should be the cherished possession of a young woman. A mere child, unversed in the ways of the world—albeit the world is too good in its ways to be gauged by its worst products—she was without the experience and the maturity of judgment to properly analyze the feelings that appeared to her to be sentiments of an altruistic devotion.

The fatal infatuation of young girls, mere school children like this one—often chargeable to almost criminal negligence upon the part of a parent. A weak mother, taking pride in the physical attractions of her daughter, permits her to receive attentions that should not be tolerated. They have no right to suppose that the attentions of married men when made direct and personal are harmless. They have no right to permit a daughter's unfolding sentiments to be subject to attack by men who frequently are masters in the art of ensnaring young girls.

The absolute need for protection and warning from parents is indicated afresh in this case. It shows the folly of negligence in this regard and the danger of even passive attentions to a daughter by a man who could not possibly offer her the love of one who has the right to make an honorable suit. Certainly, girls of the tender age of the one who took her life in an Alexandria hotel should not be permitted to receive attentions from anyone. The psychology of the emotions of youth show that the sentiments engendered at such an age are wholly unreliable, and that they seldom afford the basis for a lasting affection such as alone can bring permanent happiness in the wedded life. So that young girls should not be subjected to influences that tend to unduly develop their sentimental natures and cloud their views as to matters of essential moment in the serious matter of receiving attention from the other sex. The ever sad sequel to a misplaced emotional alliance should have its warning for all parents of young girls, whether or not these show romantic leanings.

Mrs. A. Extram, Sixth St., Emporium, Pa., says: "I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for they have done me a world of good. I suffered intensely from backache and pains through my kidneys and I was restless at night. Headaches and dizzy spells annoyed me and my feet often became swollen. Nothing gave me relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from Taggart's Drug Store. They proved to be just the remedy I needed and the contents of three or four boxes restored me to good health."

School Directors will be Elected This Fall.

Miss Mattie M. Collins, who has been our efficient Supt. of public schools for five terms and conceded to be one of the best in the state, sends us the following relative to the election of school directors:

Office of the Attorney General, Harrisburg, Pa., March 6, 1911.
Hon. Nathan C. Shaeffer,
Supt. of Public Instruction,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:

By your favor of February 14th addressed to the Attorney General, you ask to be advised whether the election of school directors will hereafter be held in November and whether the director whose term of office expires in June 1911, will hold over.

The February election has of course, been abolished, and the November election in the year 1911 is the election appropriate to the election of school directors. The Act of Assembly, approved March 2, 1911, entitled,

"An Act to carry into complete operation the amendments to sections 8 and 21 of Article IV, Sections 11 and 12 of Article V, Sections 2 and 3 of Article VIII, Section 1 of Article XII, and Sections 2 and 7 of Article XIV, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, adopted November second, one thousand nine hundred and nine, preventing any hiatus in the terms of offices affected thereby, fixing the time when the terms of certain offices shall hereafter begin validating the official acts of certain officers during their extended terms and defining the term 'public officer' as used in this Act," provides, in Section 1:

"That all public officers holding office at the date of the approval of said amendments not otherwise provided for, whose terms of office expire at any time during an odd numbered year, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January in the next even numbered year, and that all such officers whose terms expire in an even numbered year shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January in the next even numbered year."

The term "public officer" is defined in the Act to include "all officers elected by vote of the people, whether the offices that they fill, were created by the Constitution or by special or general Acts of Assembly."

This Act of Assembly answers your inquiry, and you are thereby advised that there will be no vacancy in the office of school directors in June, 1911.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) WM. M. HARGEST,
Assistant Deputy Attorney General

Do you know that of all the minor ailments colds are by far the most dangerous? It is not the cold itself that you need to fear, but the serious disease that it often tends to. Most of these are known as germ diseases. Pneumonia and consumption are among them. Why not take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and cure your cold while you can? For sale by all dealers.

Japanese Logic.

A teacher of English in Japan recently gave as an examination question, "What is a ventilator?" Besides the number of answers that were approximately correct, there were two which indicated that the students must have been absent either in body or mind on the day when the school-room ventilator had been discussed. The first was, "The ventilator lives in the mountains;" the second, "Columbus was a great ventilator." When occasion offered the teacher reminded his class that attention and application are requisite for acquiring knowledge and seriously asked them why any one should have given an answer such as the one concerning Columbus. One of the best spokesmen in the class essayed an explanation somewhat as follows:

"Columbus brought new ideas back to the old world; he changed the current of thought and opened a great door into the new and outer world; therefore he was a great ventilator."—Youth's Companion.

Washing Your Hands.

When you go to the washstand and carefully wash your hands with a generous application of soap and hard brush do not think for an instant that your hands are clean. The tenacious microbe refuses to be disturbed and clings to the flesh throughout the whole operation. There are some chemical compounds which will dislodge the busy bacilli to a certain extent, but not entirely. According to the investigations of a medical authority of the Prussian army, the best results in the direction of giving the hands a sanitary cleaning are accomplished by the use of alcohol. A bath of pure alcohol will remove about 99 per cent of the germs. Where it is desired to clean the hands hygienically it is recommended that the hands be not first washed with water, for this will so adulterate the alcohol that it cannot accomplish its work as effectively as otherwise.

Avoid Frauds.

A paint fraud is paint that looks fair for a year or so, and then makes repainting necessary.

Don't waste your money and injure your property.

The L. & M. Paint has been in use for thirty-five years.

You make one-half of it by adding 1 of a gallon of Linseed Oil to each gallon. It then costs about $1.60 per gallon, and is the best paint that can be made.

Cards on Sunday.

Pepps, the diarist, was greatly scandalized when he first saw cards played on a Sunday. "I did find the queen, the Duchess of York and another at cards, with the room full of ladies and great men, which I was amazed to see on a Sunday, having not believed, but contrarily flatly denied the same a little while since."

Small Things.

We are too fond of our own will. We want to be doing what we fancy mighty things, but the great point is to do small things when called to them in a right spirit.

The Tank.

'Friend (to confirmed toper)—I don't see how you can drink so much. It's shocking. Toper—It shocks me too. It surprises me. I suppose it's just luck."

To give awkwardly is churlishness. The most difficult part is to give. Then why not add a smile?—La Bruyere.
