P. R. R. TO HELP BOARDS OF TRADE

Will do all Possible to Assist in the Development of Progressive Towns.

Announcing that the Pennsyluania railroad is ready to co-oper ale with Boards of Trade and commercial organizations in the location of new enterprises in the cities on its lines, W. J. Ross, division freight agent at Harrisburg has addressed to these commercial bodies a letter entitled "Suggestions for Boards of Trade, Chambers of Cammerce, Business Men's Leagues and other Social Civic organizations Seeking to Promote Local Development.

The Pennsylvania's announce-ment to these trades bodies closes by saying: "The Pennsylvrnia Railroad Company has enlisted for the war and will co-operate with you as far as it consistently can, if you will now and periodically hereafter, take account of stock and keep the undersigned fully informed as to the local advantages and other in-ducements you have to offer, to those seeking locations for new en terprises. Quoting Woodworth Clum, editor of "Town Development" who recently made an address before the Lancaster, (Pa.,) Chamber of Commerce, Mr Rose' letter says:

'To promote sucessfully and solve the problem of local development, each of you must consider it as you do your individual business. What would it profit a manufacturer to erect a modern plant, equipped with the best up-to-date machinery and producing the best of a needed product, if he stored it in his warehouse and let it go at that.

"The community has something lots for to sell: vacant building lots for houses, stores, warehouses or industrial plants or similar plants for rent or sale; merchants and manufacturers to be patronized and professional citizens to consult and a destiny to determine. The shelves of the local wareroom are filled with the commodity called local advantages. Is this stock covered with the dust of years or hidden by a curtain of cobwebs and have its owners forgotten their warehouse and its salable contents?

"In these modern days of keen civic competition the handle of the big front door of the warehouse must be polished and the dust and cobwebs banished and the world advised of the quality, nature and utility of these wares, by advertising and exploiting them as we do in private business. For what is true of it, is equally and in greater degree true of the community's interest, for without active co-operation neither can thrive, hence the campaign of local promotion and development is no longer optional. There are three essentials to mental activity. First, to interest second, to convince; third, to force action. Every citizen worthy the name is interested and it is comparatively easy to convince him of the necessity for action if supremacy is to be won, but the difficulty is reached in forcing action. You can hold meetings, talk things over and agree upon what should be done, but the fighting volunteers are usually few and the majority are prone to shift the burden work and worry to other shoulders, forgetting that united action is es-sential and every man's shoulder must be put to the wheel to insure 'Carefully assemble and compare your local advantages. minate the disadvantages as far as practicable. Consider your resources, bear in mind present de-velopment, determine the character of development needed and for which your locality is best adapted then spread the news and tell the world about it. A city set on a hill cannot be hid, and your community must not hide its light under a bushel. When in contemplative mood, we are prone to reflect upon 'piping time of peace, but if if you imagine that these are days of peace, it is because you cannot or will not hear the roar of battle. The battle is on, one of the greatest conflicts in American history-that wholesome, uplifting, good natured conflict between American Communities for supremacy. It is no ordinary battle, this conflict between American Communities, for although contending with one another we are at the same time fighting a commen enemy, it is legion with spies and pickets everywhere. It has three closely allied generals, Apathy, Lethargy and Inaction. They are deeply and strongly in-trenched they think, but these trenches are only the ruts that so often retard but must never be allowed to halt, the march of progress. Under the leadership of Enthusiasm."

HOTEL'S GREAT PIPE ORGAN

Largest Musical Instrument of the Kind in America is in the Astor, New York.

The Hotel Astor, in New York, boasts the largest pipe organ in the United States and one of the largest in the world. A pipe organ is an in-novation in hotel fixtures, and as such is of more than usual interest.

The great organ represents all or-chestral instruments, and its many speaking stops, nearly 100, make the tonal resources of the instrument almost inexhaustible. It is divided into four distinct divisions, the main or gan occupying two chambers on the east and west sides of the ball room. The other two divisions are arranged on either side of "L'Orangerie" room Completely hidden from view by the decorations of the walls and ceilings, the music comes as a surprise.

The pipes, varying from 32 feet in length to only a fraction of an inch, are hundreds of feet away from the playing cabinet containing the keys and stops, and each one is operated by its individual train of electro-pneumatic action. The pressure of a key gives current to a wire that finds its through various cables switches to a magnet, which operates pneumatic mechanism that opens a valve and gives pressure to the pipe

HAYTIAN CUTLERY SALUTE

Steward of Naval Vessel Put Knives and Forks in Gun and Hotel

Discipline aboard men-of-war belonging to tropical countries is not as strict as that obtaining on the vessels of colder countries. Indeed, in some instances, it is very lax. The Defense, a Haytian naval veswas lying in the harbor of Port au-Prince. One day a mess cook, for some reason, cleaned about a peck of knives and forks on the gun deck, and, being suddenly called away, and not wishing to spend time to go to the knives and forks and stuck it in the muzzle of the ten-inch gun, putting the tampion in after it. About an hour afterward the admiral came aboard, and, as the gun was loaded with blank cartridge, they used it to fire a salute It happened that the gun was aimed toward the town, and almost point blank at the Grand Hotel. The guests assembled on the porch to witness the ceremonies, when they were saluted with a rain of knives and forks, which stuck against the wooden walls like quills on a porcupine. Fortunately no one was hurt, although there were many narrow escapes.

Need for Two Collars.

Having bought a dog that he admired a Washington Heights man undertook to buy a dog collar. had a neck nearly as big as his head and the dealer advised the man to buy two collars. "What for?" said the man. "He's got only one neck, so I guess he can get along with only one collar, can't

"Maybe so." said the dealer, so the man went away leading the dog by his new collar and chain.

In less than a week he brought the 'I'm afraid I can't keep him," he said. "He is too obstreperous. I can't keep him tied up. His neck is the biggest part of him and he is as strong as an ox, therefore it is a sinch for him to slip his collar off." "That is why I wanted you to take both on and fasten the chain to the back collar and he can tug away all night without getting loose. He may commit suicide, but he won't get

Plague of Monkeys.

Awaking from her sleep to find that monkeys had taken possession of her house and were disporting themselves in her parlor and dining room, was the recent experience of Mrs. Lippman, Los Angeles. Mrs. Lippman tried to dislodge the monkeys, but failed. The following day she appeared at the prosecuting attorney's office and demanded a warrant for the arrest of Antonio Ryder, her next door neighbor, who she asserts instigated the invasion. Ryder is a trainer of monkeys and dogs. Two of his can-ines, which preferred Mrs. Lippman's clothes basket to their own kennel as sleeping quarters, were poisoned re-Ryder suspected Mrs. Lippman of administering the poison and she asserts he sent his band of monkeys into her house in an effort to be revenged.

WHAT WOMAN LIKES IN MAN

Pleasing Manners, Deference, Courtesy and a Vigorous, Healthy and Well-Groomed Appearance.

A woman likes pleasing manners in a man. She likes deference and courtesy and attentiveness in small things. Manners often make more of an appeal to her than sterling worth. That's the reason foreigners make such headway with American women. They never forget to be deferential and courteous, to say the little things and to do the little things that warm the cockles of the feminine This may be all wrong. haps she ought to appreciate the character more than the veneer. But she The average woman isn't doesn't. practical. She's romantic. She likes roses and bonbons. Many men give her cabbage and beefsteak. Cabbage and beefsteak are all right, but as a steady diet they are tiresome. She'll take less cabbage and beefsteak if thereby she may have some roses and bonbons.

A woman likes a man to look healthy and to be well groomed. She likes a vigorous body, a healthy skin and a look that betokens a daily acquaintance with the bath tub, not merely because she likes beauty, though she does, but because these things betoken good habits. A woman, if she is a wife or a sweetheart, likes expressions of love. She gets tired of taking a man's love for granted. It grows faint and faraway, and life is cold and commonplace, when he does not tell her in actual words he loves her, and show her by actual caresses, how much. To some men, this seems all foolishness. They think that paying bills is the best proof of their love. But again, women are not practical, most women are not practical, and bills are uninteresting things, not half so enjoyable or warm and vital as a kiss or a caress.

QUEER THING IN BIRD LIFE

Fantail Pigeons Hatch Out a Bantam Chick but Have Trouble in Feeding It.

The following experience, says a writer in the Strand, I have recently had may be of interest to your read-I have two fantail pigeons, both male birds, and I noticed one day that they built a nest and then were sitting on it alternately, as if they were going to hatch eggs. It struck me that it might be a good idea to put an egg of my bantams into the nest to compensate the pigeons for the trouble they had taken in building it. Apparently they appreciated my doing so, as from that time they never left the nest for about three weeks, when, to my great surprise, I found a little chicken peeping from the pigeon's nest. It was touching to see how the pigeons tried to feed the chicken by opening their beaks, like pigeons and inviting the youngster to help himself to the contents of their crops, which, of course, it refused to do, because it is a chicken and not a pigeon. The pigeons are very fond of the little one, and take it under their wings to keep it warm whenever it wants it, exactly as a hen treats her chickens.

The Women of Brittany.

To the casual observer the Bretonne is not attractive or even supremely interesting. As a femme de chambre she is clumsy, slovenly and rough of speech, lacking the graces and neatness of her Parisian sister. She shuffles about in felt slippers, her voluminous black skirts catch in every-thing, and if she waits at the table d'hote her method of handling cutlery is strongly calculated to sever one's jugular vein. She has no regularity in her work, and at the hour that she ought to be making beds she is prob ably sitting on the public staircase nursing her baby. She is generally married and, conversely, often ten years younger than you take her to To English eyes she is rarely Her hair is strained tightly under her cap, her cheeks have seldom any delicacy of tint and her figure and motions are ungainly and awkward.-Wide World.

Queer Marital Relations.

Curious marriage customs prevail among the people dwelling in the Tan-gi Valley in India. Here it seems that the women are polygamous, and that several brothers possess one wife in common. The custom is said to be due to the poverty of the people. The children bear the names of all the husbands of the mother. How such a custom as to names works out in practice it is difficult to comprehend. The divorce customs are very simple If the husband establishes that his wife is a bad cook it is a sufficient ground; and on the wife's side, if she can show that her husband fails to provide for the upkeep of the house she obtains relief.

Shock Alarmed Glasgow

Severe earthquake shocks are rare in Scotland and therefore the districts surrounding Glasgow were thrown in-to a state of considerable alarm last week following a sudden jar and up heaval which lasted for a few seconds. The inhabitants rushed from their houses into the streets, thinking at first that the shocks were caused by an explosion at a gasworks. No serious damage was done, although the earth tremors caused many gas man tles to break. Buildings in Glasgow were shaken, crockery was rattled, and the girls in the telephone ex-changes were alarmed by many bells being set ringing. The same area was shaken in 1888. CAT WAS REVERED IN JAPAN

She Lived in Temples and Was Known as the Guardian of the Manuscripts.

According to a Japanese writer, the domestic cat appeared in his country at a relatively recent epoch, having traveled from China with the mis sionaries of Buddhism. In the middle the sixth century of the Christian era sacrifices were offered to the cat, which was known by all as "the guardian of the manuscripts."

"The guardian of the manuscripts" kept away the mice, who otherwise would have eaten the precious papyrus. In some instances placards were in conspicuous places among manuscripts as a warning to the mice: Beware! The cat is here. She drives the mice. Portraits of cats were also placed in places frequented by mice

The cats were revered. For a long time they were kept in the temples. But their beauty, their general desirability and the charm of their grace, affection for man, and adaptability to human conditions so appealed to the layman that one by one very gradualtheir kittens were permitted leave the temples and to become the pets of the nobility. After entering the families of the high officials of the Empire they won their way into humbler households.

NEW WAY TO CURE BALDNESS

Work in Cold Storage Plant or Go to Arctic Regions and Your Hair Will Grow.

The latest "universal hair grower" discovered is a trip to the Arctic re gions, or failing time and inclination for that, employment in a cold storage company. According to Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, extreme cold is one of the best means of strengthening the hair. In the course of an interview recently, Sir Ernest said

"All of the men who went with me on the south pole expedition with one or two exceptions possessed stronger crops of hair on their return to civi-

"Extreme cold undoubtedly strengthens one's hair. As our party ap-proached nearer the south pole our hair grew more slowly, but became thicker and stronger."

An official of a London cold storage company, interviewed on the same subject, stated that there was not a bald-headed man in the employ of the company. He said that the men worked all day in a temperature of 20 degrees of frost and the cold undoubtedly made their hair thicker.

Covers Much Space.

A New York department store gets out a postcard which contains interesting 'acts for the curious. Here are some of the store's features which it mentions: Ten freight elevators, 26 passenger elevators, 120 flights of stairs, 1,020 telephone stations, 8,000 automatic sprinklers, 17 miles of pneumatic tubes with 370 stations, 22,-000,000 pounds of steel, 221,400 cubic feet of concrete in foundations, a mile and a half of showcases, 25 miles of steam circulation pipe. 2.406 steel columns, 24,040 incandescent lamps, show windows with the largest plate glass in New York, 5,250,000 bricks used in erection, 540,000 feet of copper wiring for lighting, 390 separate de partments, 250,000 square feet, nearly 27 acres of wood flooring, which gives the floor space 800,000 square feet of plaster surface, 100,000 square feet of outside window glass.

American Robins in England.

An attempt has been made to intro-duce the American robin into Surrey, with apparent success. Six pairs turned loose last June near Guilford have reared about 40 nestlings. The name of our robin was given by the Pilgrim Fathers to the largest and most numerous of the American thrushes (Turdus migratorius), because of its red breast, and friendly association with man. The American robin is closely related to our blackbird, and has a sweet, melodious song. Its introduction to Surrey will be regarded by market gardeners with much misgiving, for though his food consists chiefly of worms or insects, he works sad havoc among the cherries.—Westminster Ga-

Character in Women's Walk. An observing man insists that he can tell a woman's character by her manner of walking and the kind of shoes she wears. He says that the listless way of lifting one's feet indi-cates laziness or ill health. A heavy, flat-footed step means a good house keeper, but an aggressive nature. dragging, shuffling step denotes indo-lence of mind and body. He observes further that the woman who likes mannish shoes is not dainty or feminine, and that the ideal woman wears well-fitting shoes in the street and dainty slippers in the house.

Expensive Furs.

Actresses who wish to assert vic-torious power in their toilet have a torious power in their tollet have a mania for rich furs. The supply grows scarcer and the demand rapidly rises. The skin of the Andes rat now costs, first hand, 90 francs. It is this little animal that gives us the beautiful Chili fur, now so prized for motor wraps, stoles, muffs and garnitures. A contact that the beautiful Anapoles is the second of the Bolivian Anapoles in t overnment having forbidden the ex-ert of the pelts of the Andes rats. Purriers have fallen back on the skin of the opossum, which costs but eight francs.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work.
