It has violated the plainest principles of free government, broken the written Constitution, and only yielded obedience to the behests of Party.

That the radicals have been guilty of all that has been charged against them in the Democratic Address is too palpable for controversy.

1. It has violated the plainest principles of free government. A free government contemplates a government in which every part of the country, and all the people, shall be represented. The radicals ignore and set at naught this principle. They have for years kept the representatives of the sovereign States out of their seats in Congress, while they impose all the burthens of government upon those who are denied a voice in its councils. Nay, they have gone much further. Kentucky, a State that always remained true to the Union—that stands as clear of the rebellion as Massachusetts or Pennsylvania—has been refused representation merely because her members of Congress are Democrats. At her last general election, held at the usual time and in the usual manner, she returned democrats to Congress, and for this, and for no other reason, she is denied a voice in the legislation of the country. Thus, while radicals rule the Rump, no democrat from any State is sure of a seat, no matter how fairly elected or what his majority may be. We appeal to reflecting men—for now is the time to think—whether this is free government!

2. It has broken the written Constitution. Radicalism has done more than this, it has entirely ignored that instrument. This charge some of their more unscrupulous partizans have attempted to deny, but their bolder leaders boast of it. Even the head of their party, Thaddeus Stevens, complaining of the Senate for tolerating President Johnson, boldly says, in a letter only written a few days ago, "Some of the members of the Senate seemed to doubt their power under the Constitution which they had just repudiated, and wholly outside of which all agreed that we were acting." In a country whose only hope is in its written Constitution, it becomes every man's duty to powder on this terrible state of things.

3. It has only yielded obedience to the behests of party. Instead of appealing to the people, the source of all power, radicalism, having obtained power by fraud, is determined to retain it by force. Hence, in order to perpetuate their power, the Constitution, the laws, the integrity of the Union—everything must yield to the behests of party. We trust those who yielded their support to the Union party believing that it was, as it professed to be, friendly to the restoration of the Union, will reflect whether they are now tending; and act with the only party that has always stood by the Union, the whole Union, and nothing but the Union.

The Indian commissioners, now in the West, have been questioning the prominent military commanders on the Plains as to the number of troops and the amount of money likely to be required for an effectual prosecution of the war. According to the New York Tribune, the result of these inquiries is that "with 60,000 men, three quarters of them cavalry, and an expenditure of $500,000,000, we may be able to conquer a peace in about five years." This is rather a dismal prospect for the success of a "war of extermination" such as is urged in some quarters. Government had better endeavor to Indian friendship by conciliatory

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

—On Thursday, in Chicago, a man fell into a vat of boiling swill, six feet in depth, and was scalded to death.

—A double apple tree is owned by Judge Moss, of Livingston County, Mo. The apples grow in doublets, Siamese twin fashion.

—Mr. James Young of Great Falls, N. Y., learning that his wife was sick, ran from Rochester home, six miles. On reaching his house he fell dead.

—A woman died of starvation at Fort Wayne, Indiana, on Sunday night. She refused to take nourishment for several days, saying she wished to die.

—Zion's Herald advertises two colored preachers "of superior parts," who want white congregations. It says, "now brethren, let us practice as we preach."

—General Grant found no less than twenty-nine quartermasters on duty in Washington, where only three or four are necessary! He gave them walking tickets with summary haste.

—A man fell head foremost into a well forty-six feet deep, and containing six feet of water, at Dubuque, on Thursday last. Strange to say, he was brought out alive, and less hurt than scared.

—Caroline Newman, 9 years old, was swinging on a clothes-line attached to two chimneys on the roof of a house at Buffalo on Thursday. One of the chimneys toppled over and fell upon her, killing her instantly.

—A little girl who got lost the week before last in the Blue Ridge Mountains, was found on the ninth day about three miles from her father's house. She was perfectly well when found, and stated that she had lived on berries.

—Bridget Durgan was executed at New Brunswick, N. J., on Friday last, for the murder of Mrs. Mary Ellen Coriell, on the night of Feb. 25th. She made a statement to the District Attorney in which she acknowledged her guilt.

—A remarkable character named Said, a native African, lives on one of the Sea Islands, near Charleston, South Carolina. He is said to be a great linguist, and speaks, reads and writes a dozen languages. He is now studying Hebrew.

—At Clair, Michigan, Chas. T. Wheeler sprang into the river and saved a young girl from drowning, but while himself climbing back on the dock, he was struck by a propeller coming up, and injured so severely that he sank back and was drowned.

—Jordan, Chairman of the Republican Committee, finds a hard road to travel this year and thinks there is great danger unless the loyal legions are revived and a large amount of cash forthcoming immediately. It won't do, Mr. Jordan, you are gone up.

—The new Catholic Church at Alplsville, Allegheny county, of which Rev. P. M. Ward is pastor, was dedicated to the service of Almighty God on Sunday last. The church is a neat and commodious brick structure and will be an ornament to the thriving village of Alplsville.

—Jay Cooke, who made his millions out of the sale of Government bonds, upon which the poor pay usury, assuaged his conscience by the erection of an aristocratic church near Philadelphia. This sacred temple of bond aristocracy is very properly called "The Church of the Holy Five-Twenties."

—Pegged boots, it is stated, if occasionally dressed with petroleum between the soles and the upper leather, will not rip. If the soles of boots or shoes are dressed with petroleum, they will resist wet and wear well. The pegs, it is said, are not affected with dryness after being well saturated with this liquid.

—A man calling himself Crenshaw, who has been at Ramoth, N. C., for nearly twelve months past teaching a negro school, and the "Head Centre" of the Union League in that county, left for parts unknown on last Tuesday night, forgetting to leave behind him about $300 belonging to the League.

—A man named Butler, living in Cedar Valley, Iowa, in whose honor Butler County in that State had received its name, recently took to drink, and the other day shot his son, while in a state of insanity from drink, and soon after being arrested himself, died in jail from an attack of delirium tremens.

—Prentice of the Louisville Journal says, "Before we would employ in our business, or patronize in our business, any man, white or black, who should vote to disfranchise us and rob us of all civil rights, we would ask that our head should be chopped off and cast upon a dunghill." Every man feels the same way.

—An old farmer near Lynchburg, Va., has had a standing bet of ten dollars with a neighbor for the last thirty years that it would rain on the first Saturday in August of each year. During the time he has won twenty-seven out of thirty bets, winning, of course, again this year. He will not explain what meteorological rule governs his opinion.

—Among the novelties at the Paris Exposition is reported to be an instrument which is a combined organ and piano, worked by wheels similar to those in a hand-organ, only this has a dozen wheels, and each play ten different operatic pieces. The mechanism is moved by steam, furnishing music for the multitudes from morning till night.

—At a recent baptism of nine persons in Derby, Vermont, by a Methodist minister, four modes of baptism were practiced. Two of the candidates stood on the water's edge and were sprinkled; some went into the water a little way, knelt down and had water poured on them; others went in waist deep and had water poured on them, and some were immersed.

—President Johnson has been elected an honorary member of the Mutual Base Ball Club of New York, which gained a victory the other day over the Athletics at Philadelphia. We hope the President will now show the country some extra vigorous battling against the pesky Radical base bawlers, and that he will make haste to put the rest of the satraps and other Radical negro-suffrage propagandists "out on the fly."

WHY ARE THEY SO SILENT?

Why are the Radical newspapers so silent on the subject of forcing negro suffrage upon the people? Surely they do not, at this late day, intend to repudiate that great principle of the radical party! They may drop impeachment of President Johnson, in case they will find it will not pay to go on with it, but how are they to drop negro suffrage and the thrusting of negro rulers over white people? It is the very life blood of radicalism. Without negroism, radicalism is a nonentity. The Radical leaders have staked their all upon this one throw, and if the radical newspapers begin to back down on this vital point of radicalism, what will be left to them? Have they any other principles now presented to the American people, than this one of forcing the white people to accept negroes, everywhere, as their equals, and to knuckle to them as their superiors, wherever by trickery, or with the aid of bayonets, they may appear more niggers than white men!

This is the greatest issue the radicals can present to the people of the United States—for by the aid of negro votes alone do they hope to maintain their negro supremacy, continue their plundering and increase taxation. They may attempt to cover it up in long winded addresses, but there is absolutely nothing in their republican addresses, if it is not this. We as Democrats must accept the issue, and fight it out on that line "if it takes all summer." Every vote cast in October, a little over a month from this time, is to be either for or against this kind of supremacy in this land. There can be no half way business. It is rule or ruin with the radicals. It is to rule the whites with the aid of negro votes, or it is for the whites to maintain, as they have heretofore, the reins of government in the hands of whites; and this can only be done by supporting democratic men and democratic measures. Why don't the radicals talk out?—Pittsburgh Post.

EXECUTION AT BROOKVILLE.—Charles Chase, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, of Jefferson county, was executed at Brookville on Wednesday last. Until within a few days of his execution he manifested the utmost indifference as to his fate, and utterly refused the ministrations of neighboring clergymen who were anxious to prepare him for the solemn hour. Through the influence, however, of Miss Margery Devine, a young lady of Hollidaysburg, Chase was induced to embrace the Catholic faith, and was baptised on Monday night preceding his death. When brought upon the scaffold he made a short speech, in which he declared that the religion he had embraced had not been forced upon him, but that he had been saved from hell through the efforts of Miss Devine, who he said was an angel if there ever was one. He protested his innocence, however, of the crime for which he was to be executed, but forgave those who brought about his conviction, and hoped he himself would be found worthy of forgiveness. When first swung off the noose slipped from his neck, and Chase fell to the ground. When again brought to consciousness he was carried on the scaffold, the rope a second time adjusted, the trap sprung, and after a few minutes struggling Chase was no more.

FACTS FOR REMEMBRANCE.—Here are a few facts that are worthy of remembrance. The Government did not promise to pay gold except for a small portion of its bonds of indebtedness. Nevertheless the bondholders are claiming and their friends are insisting that all the bonds shall be redeemed in gold. The same bonds which the holders now demand gold for they bought with legal-tender greenbacks. They lent paper and want gold in return. The people, on the contrary, who had lent gold—were compelled to take greenbacks in return. The rule has been one currency for the people, and another for the bondholders. The soldier who may have lost an arm or leg in the war, and who put his bounties and other savings of money into a house and lot, is taxed three or four per cent. upon it, while the man who lent greenbacks to the Government and took its bonds, payable with usurious interest, has his money, so invested, exempt from taxation. The rule has been, tax the people, tax even the maimed and wounded soldier, but spare the wealthy bondholder.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE DIFFERENCE.—Supposing Democrats had been implicated in a conspiracy against President Lincoln, as Holt, Butler and Ashley are implicated against President Johnson, what would have been the result? Every man of them would have long since been arrested and confined in prison, or else consigned to the gallows by verdict of a military commission. There was not one-tenth of the evidence against Mrs. Surratt that there is against Ashley, and she was hung. There was not a tithe of the evidence against Mudd and Spangler that there is against Butler and Holt, yet they were sent to the Dry Tortugas for life. It makes a decided difference as to the guilt of a person in these days, whether he offends against radical ideas or the laws of the country. The first in the eyes of some, are sacred, the latter are worthless.

A RADICAL paper says "the public debt must be paid," but it insists the proposition to pay it in greenbacks, or the payment of it in greenbacks, is not a payment. Why not? Does it propose that there shall be one kind of currency for the people and another for the bondholders? The creditors of the Government receive nothing but greenbacks for the payment of their accounts, yet this, it contends, is no payment in fact. Such is the currency the Government pays the people, and if it cancels the public faith in one instance, why should it not in all? Or does the Radical insist that greenbacks are good enough for the people, but the bondholders must have gold?
