PAID UP.—Another issue of the Freeman will include two-thirds of the first year of subscription, and as many of our patrons have not yet paid their subscriptions, and as we are of course unable to have the desired result, we do not require any more than $1 per year from any one who will pay that amount voluntarily, but if we are forced to do what is due us at the end of the year the extra expense will have to be forthcoming from those in arrears. In order to afford work as we can the opportunity of paying without the trouble of remitting, we name the following gentlemen whose receipt will be as good as cash, and we trust they will have plenty of chances afforded them for putting out their paper: C. W. Eady, John Town, John McGowan, Shoenaker, John Carter, Esq., H. McKee, A. J. Shoenaker, or Peter McGough, Esq., Seaman, Mark M. Langhlin, Jr., Cresson, John Sharrangh, Esq., Summitt, John J. EDITORIALITIES, LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A telegraphic line is at present being put up between Tyrone and Lock Haven.

"To My Father," lines written by a lady friend in Johnstown, will find a place in our next issue.

Mr. George Crowther, of Tyrone, had one of his hands crushed by a freight train, at that place, on Friday last.

Sam'l C. Wingard, Esq., formerly of this place, has been nominated as the Republican candidate for State Senator in the Lycoming district.

Bernard Beisler was struck by an engine at Hillside station, on the Pennsylvania railroad, on the evening of the 5th inst., and almost instantly killed. He left a family.

Gov. Geary pardoned three men, radicals of course, who pleaded guilty of violating the liquor law, in the Centre county court, week before last. How are you, Good Templar?

Mr. Edward Hughes has recently disposed of his fine residence on Centre street, in our borough, and designs seeking a home in the West. Mr. B. Vaughn, of Cresson, was the purchaser, and the sum paid is said to have been $3,400.

A watchman on the Pennsylvania railroad named Daniel Green, was run over by a freight train, near Greensburg, about three o'clock on Tuesday morning of last week, and was killed on the spot. The deceased was a married man, about 55 years of age, and resided at Brinton's station.

At a meeting of the Mountaineer B. B. Club, on Friday evening last, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, J. Alex. Moore; Vice President, Thomas J. Lloyd; Treasurer, V. S. Barker; Secretary, Sam'l W. Davis; Directors, W. E. Hutchison, Geo. Roberts, F. H. Barker.

The following persons for the good fortune to draw the valuable prizes offered for chances at the recent festival in aid of the new Catholic church in this place: Anthony Warner, Croyle township, the large Durham cow; Mrs. E. K. York, Loretto, the splendid silk dress; Mrs. E. P. Truesell, Ebensburg, the American watch, and James G. Hanson, Ebensburg, the little mule.

The two last prizes were not disposed of until Friday evening last.

The Tyrone Bulletin says that Messrs. P. & T. Collins, contractors for the building of the Tyrone and Clearfield Rail Road, deserve great credit for the energy they have displayed in putting this important work through, and predicts that the road will be completed to Woodlands by the 1st of January next.

The Messrs. Collins are among the most extensive and successful railroad contractors in this country, and not only do their work well but do it in the shortest space of time possible.

Will Kittell, Jr., son of our townsman, Wm. Kittell, Esq., departed our town, on Monday morning last, on his way to the Western City, whither he goes as a student of the Propaganda, in which institution he has a brother being educated for the priesthood. Will is about 17 years of age, and consequently his collegiate course will extend over a period of nine years before he arrives at a proper time of life to receive his orders. We wish him a safe journey, good health, and the successful accomplishment of his noble purpose.

The first term of the Iron B. B. Club of Johnstown visited Ebensburg, on Thursday last, for the purpose of participating in a trial of skill with an equal number of the Mountaineer Club here, and notwithstanding their jaded condition (having been on the war path from Monday morning) our boys had enough to do to gain a victory over them.

The Irons left the bat on the ninth inning, and were ten runs ahead of their competitors, but the Mountaineers went in with the determination of overcoming these great odds and going in a better, and righteously, at the end: Mountaineers, 35; Irons, 31.

While Mr. Celestine Parrish and Mr. Michael Quartz were returning home from Loretto, on Sunday afternoon last, one of the sleighs was thrown overboard, in which they were riding suddenly broke, near Lily's cemetery, a short distance from town, and both these gentlemen found themselves just as suddenly on the outside of the vehicle.

Mr. Parrish fell on top of Mr. Quartz, and strange to say, was the only one who sustained any injury, he dislocating his thigh by the concussion. He was conveyed to the residence of Mr. Quartz, near at hand, where medical aid was rendered him, and he is now lying well. Mr. P. has doubtless concluded that quartz is a hard substance to fall upon.

PORTAGE, Sept. 9, 1867.

MEASURES. Editor Freeman—I don't wish to dictate to you what you should print, but I do think that, unless you are well paid for inserting those base ball matches or games, almost anything else would suit nine-tenths of your subscribers just as well.

We are weary of the Muffins beat the Knock-outists or not? We have those games here every day. We had two real knock-out matches at Portage station, a few days ago. First, two men and one woman fell out about a wooden bucket. After pulling the bale off the bucket the woman and her man got the other down, but the man below reached up and caught the other's check between his teeth, and top man cried murder and begged for quarters, when under man opened his mouth, and thus ended No. 1. No. 2 occurred on Sunday, 8th inst., when Engine No. 1 knocked Mrs. Kestling's sleigh off. So you see we have some knock-hir-stuff here too. As I said at the start, I don't wish to say what you should or what you should not print, but for one I like to hear from "MacShane" and "Siku Bal" and in your paper of the 29th ult. you gave some very good family recipes, such as I always cut out and preserve. If you would, every week, occupy a column, or even half a column, with sensible agricultural matter, it would be much better than base ball.

If you can make any sense out of this you are at liberty to use as much of it as you see proper. Yours, &c., W. R.

[After the election we shall endeavor to comply with our respected correspondent's wishes in regard to establishing an agricultural department in our paper. As regards base ball matches, our friend claims only nine-tenths of our patrons as opposed to their position, and as these reports don't occupy one-tenth of the space allotted to reading matter, it follows that those who are in favor, and not those who disapprove of such publications, are the losers in the operation. However, if W. R. will agree to occupy the space every week heretofore given to base ball matches, we feel sure that every person will be satisfied.—Eds.]

CAN'T SAY.—We can't say when J. M. Thompson designs leaving in his fall and winter stock of goods, but we can say that he has just now as complete an assortment of all styles and textures as any man or woman could wish to select from, and that too as cheap as the cheapest.

WAIT AND WATCH.—Mr. V. S. Barker designs visiting the Eastern cities in the course of a few days for the purpose of stocking his extensive store room with a splendid assortment of fall and winter goods. So look out for the best of bargains in the choicest of goods.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

JOHNSTOWN, SEPT. 16, 1867.

Dear Freeman—Saturday last was the anniversary of the falling of the platform at the depot here—the memorable accident by which over five hundred of our citizens were injured, and resulting in the death of eleven persons. The heartrending scene at that awful calamity are so vividly impressed upon my mind that time can never efface the horrible recollection, and the sad fate of one of the most esteemed young ladies of this place, who to-day one year ago died from the injuries received, has brought the tears to the eyes of not a few who loved and appreciated her for her many noble qualities of head and heart. Poor Mary! Little dreamed the writer of this as he beheld her the evening previous to the accident, all life and gaiety, that not a few short days would elapse ere she stretched upon a bed of pain, would from his window see the coffin, containing the hallowed clay of the fair and gentle Mary Quinn, taken by to its final resting place. Her pure and unsullied life was one of unostentatious piety, and when death was inevitable, it brought no terror to her mind. If she felt pain upon the brink of her eternal separation from earth, home, and the loved ones, no word or sign betrayed the strain of the mournful occurrences of that day none so sad as the tragical death of this fair young girl.

A man named McDonald, who was blown up in the mines a few weeks ago by the premature explosion of a blast, is lying in such a precarious condition that no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Another foot race was to have taken place on Saturday between a young man named Blacklock (a name probably familiar to a few of your readers) and David Patton. The course selected was Portage street, from the Woodvale bridge, to its intersection with Canal street. Over one thousand persons located themselves along the course, and were a long time waiting for the ditory racers to make their appearance, but their patience was well rewarded by seeing B. at length making his debut in a gorgeous dress, which set off his muscular form and small feet to great advantage. I would like to give a full description of his haut ensemble, but it would require too much time, and I will merely liken his dress to a red flannel shirt and red knee breeches, skin tight, and a pair of ladies' white hose, large size, drawn over his well developed calves. His contestant was dressed in "sombre black," with the exception of the hose arrangement, which was similar to Blacklock's. After walking a portion of the course, doubtless for the purpose of displaying their symmetrical proportions and tasty attire, they proceeded to the starting point. Here they delayed several more minutes, and each getting a swallow out of a suspicious looking bottle, B. allowed that time was up, and he was not going to stay any longer, so without the word to start from the judges, he started on his own hook and went along in a splendid trot, without even taking time to dodge into any of the numerous beer saloons which abound on Portage street to investigate himself, making the best mile in the course of several minutes. The other racer meandered slowly down, and after stating the case to the referees, substantiated by the sworn testimony (sworn on a copy of "Johnstown and Suburbs") of the gentlemen who were to start them, it was decided a draw. The large and enthusiastic audience came to the same conclusion, and all dispersed with, I grieve to say, some ground and lofty cursing from that portion of the audience who are not church members in good standing.

The Iron B. B. (meaning badly beaten) Club were "swinging round the circle," last week, playing match games with a Huntington club, the B. E. V. R. Club of Tyrone, and also the Tyroneans of Harrisburg, who were in Tyrone on that day, the Mountaineers Stars of Altoona, and some country club in one of the rural towns of this country. I do not wish to be ironical, but I believe our club did not bring home many trophies in the shape of prize balls or bats. In fact, I think the Irons were pretty generally beaten, for I overheard one of the second nine of the Kicks, making a desperate resolve that their nine would challenge the above club immediately. The Iron club is certainly one of the best, if not the very best, of this kind of Harrisburg, but they undertook too much when they attempted to play five games in five days, besides undergoing the fatigue of travel, and I venture to say that when the return matches are played here, the Irons will assert their superiority over each and all their late opponents.

The Juniata club of Hollidaysburg will play the Irons, on the grounds of the latter, on Friday next.

The German Catholics of this place have decided upon building a new church, upon the site where the present one stands. The new structure will be of brick, 80x120 feet, with arched and groined ceiling. The preparatory work will be commenced immediately.

The Turnverein Association have decided upon building a large hall, and as soon as an eligible location can be secured the work will be put through. I understand the contracts for material, etc., have already been made.

The committee appointed to re-locate the water works have reported several eligible sites below town, and a choice will this week be made by the association. It appears to be the determination to have this much-needed improvement as speedily as possible.

The new bridge across the Conemaugh, at Woodvale, is about completed, and the work of digging a dike to prevent the encroachment of the water upon this growing village will doubtless be commenced at once.

Your correspondent was made the recipient of an exquisite serenade this evening, given by the members of the Beethoven Troupe of this place. The following are the names of the troupe: W. Sees, basso; Geo. Saylor, soprano; A. Fockler, tenor; J. Fieldhouse, alto; Prof. H. F. Jones, leader and instrumental performer. Without wishing to detract in the least from the superior merit of the other performers, I am compelled to speak particularly of the rendition of the beautiful song entitled "Zeline," the leading part of which was sung in faultless style by Mr. Fieldhouse, one of the best solo singers I have ever been pleased to listen to. The reputation of Saylor, as a soprano singer, is so well known as to require no special commendation from my pen, and the merit of the entire troupe need only be heard to be appreciated. I understand it is the intention of this troupe to visit Ebensburg in the course of a few weeks, with the intention of entertaining your citizens with a number of their choice songs, &c., and I bespeak for them a reception commensurate with their merits, feeling assured that the lovers of sweet music in your town will enjoy the rare treat they offer. SKU BAL.

Editor Freeman—I think it a duty I owe to my neighbors in Cambria county, to say that I this season purchased one of Hoffheims, Myers & Co's Combined Reapers and Mowers, and after taking off my whole crop with it, I have come to the conclusion that they stand in their own light in not having one, for I have saved almost the entire cost of it in one season, and it has given me entire satisfaction. E. C. McMULLEN.

EBENSBURG, SEPT. 11, 1867.

GOING VERY FAST.—This is an age of wonderful inventions. The minds of ingenious men have brought forth machinery facilitating and making labor easy. And among the rest the Blacksmith has not been forgotten, for I. C. Singer has invented a machine which makes the process of bending light or heavy tires, bands, &c., an easy and very pleasant task. This machine is gauged and numbered so as to tell exactly where to place the rollers in order to bend any desired diameter. Hundreds of references can be given. To get the machine, address B. H. Singer, Ebensburg, Pa.

N. B.—A few State rights remain to be disposed of. None need apply for Pennsylvania, as the inventor intends holding it for the purpose of selling machines.

P. S.—The place to get your horse well shod, your wagon the made and general blacksmithing done, is at R. H. Singer's shop, near Isaac Evans' tannery.

SPLendid PRIZES IN GREENBACKS.—Over $5,000 in Greenbacks; $10,000 in Sewing Machines; $9,000 in Wadding Machines; a vast amount of Hoop Skirts, Albums, Books, Gold Pens, Pencils, Lockets, &c., &c., to be distributed to the subscribers and purchasers of the Home Amusement. Those desiring to be furnished with any of the new compositions can call at the editor's office, where lists will be furnished. We commend the house to our Ebensburg musical friends.

DR. J. H. JORDAN. Indianapolis, Indiana, says: "I have known Dr. Strickland's Pile Remedy to be thoroughly tested in numerous cases during the past year, and with perfect success in every instance. And so it is with his Remedy for Diarrhea or Cholera, and his Corns Balsam. They are all genuine and pure."

FAREWELL. departed one!
Wife, mother, friend, farewell!
We feel, we know, that thou hast gone,
We hope among the blest to dwell.

With none to fill thy place—
A place that few can fill—
That pleasant, smiling face,

Then, Mother dear, farewell!
So mable cold thy brow!
This heart of mine alone can tell
How much we miss thee now.

Wilmore Sept. 7, 1867.

TULLY.—At Sumnerhill, on the 6th inst., from inflammation of the bowels, Mary Ellen, daughter of John and Mary Tully, in the 21st year of her age.

"The sands of terrestrial life are run

Fondly she performed a daughter's part,
And offered to her God a christian's heart.
What a balm to those lonely parents here
Is that fond child's memory dear!" K. S.
