

CAMBRIA FREEMAN.

EBENSBURG, PA., THURSDAY, Oct. 16, 1867.

APOLOGY.—The election has demanded so much of our time and energies that we have found it impossible to do full justice to the present issue of our paper. We feel, however, that the good tidings which the Freeman conveys to its readers this week will make ample amends for all shortcomings in other respects.

UNPRECEDENTED VICTORY PENNSYLVANIA REDEEMED!

GRAND POLITICAL SMASH-UP! White Niggers and Black Buried in the Ruins.

WALLACE HAS BEEN HEARD FROM.

As we go to press the returns are meagre and unsatisfactory, but enough has been received to enable us to assure our readers, that we have achieved a glorious victory. Sharswood is triumphantly elected by a handsome majority, and doubtless a Democratic Legislature has been chosen. Notwithstanding the falling off in the vote, the Democratic counties nobly sustained themselves, holding the vote of last year—Cambria, Clarion, Clearfield, Monroe, and several others, even increasing it. Many radical counties—Franklin, Washington, Jefferson, and others—have gone Democratic, while in the strong radical counties there has been an immense falling off.

We are not disposed in the hour of victory to triumph over a fallen foe, but we may and do congratulate our Democratic fellow-citizens on the auspicious result. It guarantees to our country a future existence worthy of the glories of her past history. Let Democrats, then, instead of vain boasting, return devout thanks to that good Being who holds the destiny of nations in the hollow of his hand, and through whose blessing and the intelligence of a conservative people, our glorious old Commonwealth has been "REDEEMED, REGENERATED AND DISKENTRALIZED."

The following telegraphic despatch was brought from Creson by last night's train: PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9, 1867. PHILIP COLLES, Esq.—The State gone certain for Sharswood. Democratic ticket elected in this city. Waterloo defeat. W. A. WALLACE.

THE OHIO ELECTION. There is scarcely a district thus far heard from in Ohio in which there is not more or less of a Democratic gain. Some changes of this kind are of the most remarkable character, and plainly indicate a general uprising of the people against the corruption and misrule of the party in power. It would, perhaps, be expecting too much to hope for the election of the Democratic candidates there, but certain it is that the proposed amendment to the State Constitution giving negroes the right to vote, has met with a most signal defeat, and we can only hope that the party base enough to propose it has gone down with its pet project, never again to be resurrected. God speed the good work.

The negroes in Buffalo resolved on the opening of the fall term of the public schools, to abandon their own free schools and put their children in with the whites. The teachers told them they were not allowed to accept them, but it was no avail. The Superintendent did the same thing, but still they persisted in sending their children to the white schools. The Superintendent was finally compelled to eject the colored children from the schools. At this the parents and a number of seedy radicals became exceedingly wrath, and they now threaten to prosecute that functionary under the Civil Rights law.

It is stated that a new and fatal disease has recently appeared in different parts of Montgomery county, Alabama. Thus far it has baffled the utmost skill of the physicians. It begins with a fever, and soon bloody discharges from the bladder ensue, which continue until a fatal termination within forty-eight hours. After death the corpse becomes exceedingly yellow. All the cases thus far have resulted fatally. The disease, however, seems to be confined to the country and to the whites, as not a case has occurred within the city.

A dispatch from Junction City states that thirty thousand head of cattle from Texas and New Mexico, bound for the Eastern markets, are now at Abilene, on the Union Pacific Railway, eastern division, one hundred and sixty-five miles from the State line. Buyers are reported scarce. This trade in Mexican cattle towards the United States is a new thing on this railroad, and the suddenness with which it has sprung up into such magnitude is remarkable.

The Nashville Times hears it reported that a company of Pennsylvania capitalists have bought about forty thousand acres of valuable iron lands in Hickman and adjoining counties, and are making preparations to manufacture railroad iron, spikes, chains and articles of hollow ware. They have a charter to construct a railroad to Clarksville and Corinth.

Of all the coal produced in the United States, Pennsylvania furnishes seventy-three and three-quarters per cent. Her mines are exhausted and their product is unusually increasing.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

McClellan has engaged his passage to America for the first week in November. —The "silver nuisance" of Canada can hardly be appreciated by the more fortunate dealers in greenbacks under Uncle Sam's rule. Silver is refused for any amount over legal tender.

A legless impostor was soliciting alms on St. Louis' streets recently. His poverty was investigated, and he turns out to be owner of property in New York city to the amount of sixty-five thousand dollars. —It is said the Mexican usurper Juarez has ordered Generals Corona and Marquez to "colonize" Mexicans on the waste lands west of the Rio Colorado, in order to forestall settlement by United States citizens.

General Scott's will, just probated, bequeaths all his property to his daughter, the wife of Colonel Scott; his Pulaski sword to the West Point Academy, and his sword worn in Mexico to his grandson, Winfield Scott Hoyt.

H. W. Green, who murdered his wife in Hartford several years ago, and was acquitted on the grounds of insanity, died at the private hospital of Dr. Buell, in Litchfield, Conn., on Friday. He was about sixty-four years of age and leaves an estate of nearly $200,000.

A shrewd villain in Nashua, N. H., on Thursday, walked deliberately up to a store window and broke in a pane of French glass, and when asked to pay for it as deliberately drew out a $100 bill, which the storekeeper took, giving him $70 in change. The bill proved to be counterfeit.

A serious accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Northern Central railroad, at Millersburg, on Friday morning. The up and down express trains collided, injuring the locomotives and scattering the baggage in every direction. A colored boy from Harrisburg was killed. A few passengers received slight contusions.

Nicholas Hyman, of Buffalo, the natural guardian of Anna Hyman, a little girl of twelve years, sues Ellen Burk, wife of Wm. Burk, for wilfully cutting off two large black curls from the said Anna's head and converting the same to her own use. The suit is in the Supreme Court, and the damages are held at $2,000.

Mr. Martin Gates, of Duaneville, Blair county, Pa., was severely wounded in the chest during the late war. He came home and got well. The other day, he extracted a large brass button from the wound. The button, which was flattened, had been driven into his body by the bullet, and had remained there fully three years.

A man, supposed to be a returned Californian, committed suicide on the 22d by hanging himself to a tree a few miles below Detroit. He was an entire stranger in the neighborhood, but letters found upon him indicated his name to be Clarence Brewster. He also had $2,200 in his pockets and in a belt, nearly all in gold.

A gentleman left New Orleans and came North until the fever abated, and while in New York he purchased a ticket in the Georgia State Lottery for the benefit of the Masonic Orphans' Home, and drew the capital prize of thirty thousand dollars, on the 24th of September, ultimo. Lucky to avoid the fever and get thirty thousand dollars by his visit.

A year ago, Dr. Youmans was called to attend a man in Pontiac, Ill. The man died, and the doctor ran off with his widow. There being suspicions afloat, the body was taken up, and it was ascertained that the man had been poisoned by arsenic. Ever since officers have been in pursuit of the doctor, and he has been arrested at Kewanee, Wis.

Near Rock Island, Illinois, recently, Mrs. Campbell Barthell was bitten by a rattlesnake in a field of watermelons. The whisky cure was immediately tried, quantities of the article being administered; but this remedy, as well as the skill of physicians subsequently called, failed to counteract the poison, and Mrs. Barthell died six days after being bitten.

Fires, floods, railroad accidents, crimes of every grade, and suicides, have periodic turns in which they rage, one or another taking precedence. Just now, suicides are prevailing all over the country. The papers come from all parts laden with shocking details of self-murder, sometimes accompanied by the murder of others, and sometimes without such horrid accompaniments.

A severe storm passed over Danville, Pennsylvania, on last Wednesday afternoon. Several houses were unroofed, and a number of trees blown down. About seventy feet of the steeple of the Mahoning Presbyterian Church was broken off by the wind, the point passing through the roof into the audience room. The bridge across the Susquehanna river was damaged.

At the trial of one McGarrey, for an outrage upon the wife of a canal boat captain, in the Patterson, New Jersey, courts, a singular scene occurred. The accused brought forward three friends to establish his innocence, when each was successively recognized by the woman as his companion in guilt, there being four implicated in the crime, and only McGarrey having been previously identified and arrested.

An Atlanta newspaper brags lustily that a large body of troops is to be permanently quartered in that city, and says "it points to Atlanta as the great interior city of the South." This reminds the MacCon Telegraph of the contest between two children as to the possession of their respective parents, when one was completely silenced by the other, who triumphantly exclaimed: "Aha! my pa has got a mortgage on his house, yours hasn't!" —Omaha dispatches state that a party of railroad thieves, whose operations have extended over the Pacific Railroad for the past six months, have been broken up, and most if not all of them arrested. A large amount of property was found secreted in Omaha. It is also ascertained that a large quantity of goods has been shipped to points in the East during the summer. All the parties implicated have been connected with the road.

Mrs. Lincoln's Wardrobe.—Further Revelations.

[From the N. Y. World of Saturday.] The exclusive publication in Saturday's World of Mrs. Lincoln's correspondence with her agent in this city in regard to the sale of her wardrobe, has created a great flutter in circles fashionable as well as political. Yesterday the rooms of Mr. Brady, 609 Broadway, were filled nearly all day by ladies and gentlemen, who came to look at goods displayed for sale under such unfortunate circumstances. The people could hardly reconcile the unimpeachable accuracy of the World with such a state of facts, and hundreds came on simple missions of inquiry to go away satisfied that there was more truth than poetry in the statement. During the day three United States Senators, whose names by request we withhold, called to see Mr. Brady, and on just such a mission. A large number of letters from all parts of the country have also been received by Mr. Brady, asking to know the truth, and making indignant protests against permitting a forced consummation of Mrs. Lincoln's plans.

The sales yesterday did not exceed $150, notwithstanding the large number of ladies that called. Many no doubt were prompted by curiosity, and after examining the goods to their satisfaction, retired without purchasing. Among those who called were the wives and daughters of several prominent merchants.

As previously announced, if the greater part of the inventory is not disposed of within a few days they will be put up at auction, and sold for what they will bring. WHAT THURSDAY WOULD HAVE TO SAY—FURTHER REVELATIONS.

[From the Commercial Advertiser, Oct. 4.] We have never approached a question with half the sorrow that this one awakens. To vindicate, shield, and protect "Heaven's best gift to man" is a grateful duty, while to even reprove, and much more to assail a woman, is painful and if without a perfect justification, unadvisable.

If the American Congress or the American people have failed to meet the pecuniary expectations of Mr. Lincoln's widow, it is because that personage failed, during his life and since his death, to inspire either with respect or confidence. They should not, therefore be subjected to the reproach, or rest under the imputation, of ingratitude. Had Mrs. Lincoln, while in power, borne herself becomingly, the suggestion of a Lincoln Fund, by voluntary contributions, would have been promptly responded to. The national heart was warm. It gushed out in liberal endowments for Grant and Farragut. It would as cheerfully have met the appeal in favor of Mrs. Lincoln if it had not intuitively closed and chilled.

In her conversation Mrs. Lincoln is represented as bitterly denouncing Secretary Seward, for which, of course, there is no warrant or excuse, for he wrongs no man, and much less is he capable of injustice, wrong, or even unkindness to woman.

But we happen to know—the late Caleb B. Smith, then Secretary of the Interior, being our informant—a fact which incensed Mrs. Lincoln against Mr. Seward. The President gave the Prince Napoleon a dinner, for which Mrs. Lincoln sent to the Secretary of the Interior for payment of a bill of some $900. This demand, though wholly illegal, coming from the President's wife, embarrassed the Secretary, who called upon the Secretary of State for advice, where he learned that Mr. Seward had also dined the Prince, having the same number of guests, and giving them a duplicate of the dinner at the White House. In fact, Mr. Seward ordered both dinners from the same restaurant, and by his own bill knew the cost of each. For what Mr. Seward paid $300, Mrs. Lincoln demanded $900. But whether three or nine hundred, the claim was alike illegal, and could not be paid. For this, however, Mrs. Lincoln quarrelled with Secretaries Smith and Seward. This amount, however, was subsequently covered up in a gardener's account, but occasioned scandal; which respect for Mr. Lincoln measurably suppressed.

Though Mr. Lincoln left an estate which enabled his family to live quite as comfortably as they had ever lived, Congress and the people would have promptly and cheerfully provided munificently for them if Mrs. Lincoln herself, with every advantage that high position gave her, had made friends or inspired respect. And this last exhibition proves how instinctively right the popular estimate of her character was.

The fact for which Mrs. Lincoln seeks large publicity, namely, that she received presents valued at $24,000, is a pregnant and suggestive one—suggestive, at least, of offices and contracts, unless the more charitable construction is reached through the assumption that they were expressions of regard and friendship. But it is not known that the wife of any President, however estimable, was so loaded with shawls, laces, furs, diamonds, rings, &c.

Mrs. Lincoln's propensity to sell things was manifested early, and before any necessity was foreseen. If our information is reliable, eleven of Mr. Lincoln's new linen shirts were sold almost before the remains, which were abandoned in the twelfth, had started for that "bourne from whence no traveller returns."

Individually, we are obliged to Mrs. Lincoln for an expression of her ill-will. It is pleasant to remember that we were always out of favor in that quarter. And it is equally pleasant to remember that we possessed the friendship and confidence of Mr. Lincoln to the last hour of his life, without paying court, as others did, to Mrs. Lincoln, and in spite of her constant efforts to disturb our relations.

This mortifying revelation will go abroad, and as is natural, the press of Europe will make the most of it, in depicting the ingratitude of our government and the want of liberality in the American people. This consideration alone constrains us to discharge the unpleasant duty of showing that neither the government nor the people are justly obnoxious to these accusations.

THE LATEST.

Mrs. Lincoln, it is said, authorized the publication of her letters to her broker for the purpose of stimulating the sale of her property. In New York she registered herself as Mrs. Clarke and also as Mrs. Morris. She is accompanied by her son and servant. Appeals have been made in her behalf to several Republican office-holders who are partly indebted to her for their position, but without success, and she has been obliged to borrow money of her broker. The following letter is of interest:

CHICAGO, Sept. 14, '67.

W. H. BRADY, Esq.: My Dear Sir—Please call and see Hon. Abram Wakeman. He was largely indebted to me for obtaining the lucrative office which he has held for several years, and from which he has amassed a very large fortune. He will assist me in my painful and humiliating situation, scarcely removed from want. He would scarcely hesitate to return in a small manner the many favors my husband and myself always showered upon him. Mr. Wakeman many times excited my sympathies in his urgent appeals for office, as well for himself as others. Therefore he will only be too happy to relieve me by purchasing one or more of the articles you will please place before him. Very truly, Mrs. A. LINCOLN.

Mr. Wakeman, it is said, has not yet been heard from.

HORROR.—A Young Lady Abducted and her Ravisher Skinned Alive.—Three or four days have elapsed since the dark and horrible transaction narrated below transpired, at or near Plowelling's X Roads, Mississippi. A young lady of the highest respectability and most amiable character was proceeding to a neighbor's house, where a party, to which she had been invited, was given, when she was overtaken by a negro man and forcibly drawn from the high road into the woods, her cries stifled by a cloth of some sort pressed over her mouth. Taken to a secluded and desolate spot, she was tied by the negro, and there detained for a week, while the black scoundrel effected his vile purpose, without the miserable victim being able to offer the slightest resistance.

Two men, who were out hunting, unexpectedly came upon her, still tightly bound and alone. Her captor had left her at the moment either to procure food or pursue some other purpose. Learning from the wretched girl the circumstance of the atrocity practiced upon her, they concealed themselves until he should return. Nor had they long to wait—and, upon his coming they at once seized and secured him. Believing that the victim should pronounce sentence upon him, they awaited his decree. It was to flay him alive. They at once proceeded with their hunting knives to relieve him of his epidermis. The forest resounded with his cries and imprecations as they stripped the skin from the soles of his feet to his body. By the time they had progressed to his waist, he could stand no more, but completely exhausted, yielded up the ghost—the monster dying a horrible death. The girl was conveyed to her home, where everything was done to relieve her suffering, but she died the next day in great anguish.—Memphis (Tenn.) Avalanche.

The colored radicals in Louisiana, it seems, in many cases, decline to go to the polls and vote, because they were not to get pay. They understood when registering their names, that they were to have land or something else given them, but on ascertaining that such was not the fact, they treated the election with the utmost indifference. They thought that which the "selective franchise" promised them, was something to eat, and many took baskets with them to get it in when they had voted, and many refused to vote until they had it in their basket safe and sure. These are the radical sovereigns!
