the past week has been pretty sescourged by the devouring element. is than four fires having occurred in ane locality within less than three days the of them, in fact, within twelve or neg hours of each other. Two of these signations resulted in considerable loss. his less a cause of wonder that the serties in question were destroyed than hose surrounding and in the immedighborhood were saved from a like Only the favorable condition of the her and the almost superhuman efforts citizers served to stay the destroying at and confine it within the compara-

small limits which it laid waste, the first of these fires broke out on Thursfierto in last, and for a time threatened cost serious consequences. Thomas a sm of Mr. Edward Glass, while in the men department of his father's foundry, he west end of town, at the time stated, his eyes towards the roof and to his or discovered fire between the shingles the boards which line the roof. Withdelay he gave the alarm, which soon ad through the streets, and in a very ort time a large concourse of people were the ground with buckets and other els, and all went to work with a will rring water, and in a few minutes the nes were completely subdued, after burna large hole in the roof and charring sevvaluable patterns which were stowed under the caves. This fire was doubtcommunicated from a spark thrown the cupolo, the workmen having been ged in casting a short time previous to Saurday of erpoon about half past clock our citizens were again startled ery of fire, and this time it was disissuing from the stable of F. P. sey, Esq. who resides in the fext house ng the foundry property. From Mr. ey's stable the flames communicated to me Evans, in close proximity, and by the an effective force of workmen reached scene the three buildings were so comely enwrapped that it were worse than dess to attempt to save Either of them. efforts, therefore, were directed to the servation of the houses and other buildwin the immediate vininity, and it reand the most heroic exertions and untiring lastry to accomplish this almost hopeless t. Lines were promptly formed and later tapidly passed from the tannery of Mr. Evans on the opposite side of the street, d under the direction of skillful firemen s water was applied in such a way as to But the desired object, although it was a meter of doubt for fully an hour as to which the elements, fire or water, would prove victor. The origin of this fire is altother a matter of conjecture, and we shall attempt to advance any hypothesis on We did not learn the amount sistained by the respective owners of estables, but understand that Mr. Grifis much the heaviest loser, two of the tires having been filled with hay, chop. belonging to him. Mr. Tierney, warned he late fire at the foundry, had his house. ture and stable insured just the day erious, and we trust that the insurance on elatter building will fully cover the dam-parties were insured or not. Scarcely had this fire been rendered harmas for further mischief and the greater porof the citizens returned to their homes places of business, than still another fire resounded through our streets, and this time flames were seen emerging from the roof of Mr. Win. Mills' house, the that but one below the burnt district. A hw buckets of water, properly applied, suf-fred to quench this fire ere it had accomished much damage. The most plausible heory as to its origin, is that some of the sparks from the burning stables had got fitto barrel of rags on the garret, and after mouldering for a time burst forth into a same, which communicated to the roof, with the reself stated above. The efforts of severpersor s who still lingured about the scene the other conflagration alone served to appress this fire before it got under full

It was now reasonable to suppose that no further apprehensions need be entertained as to this terrible agent of destruction, alhough several persons remained on watch bring the night to guard against any disater of a like character. How startling hen was the summons, at about five o'clock Sunday morning, which called our cititens from their beds to witness the burning of still another building in the same locality, and occupied as a weaver's shop by Mr. John Williams. This building, a small one and a half story frame, was quickly wrapped in flames be sond the control of human efforts, and as in the case of the stables, all attention was turned to the saving of other tenements surrounding it. And what superhuman exertions were required to accom-plish this work only those who labored with might and main can properly estimate. But, all honor to the noble men who faced he scorching heat, the good work was done, notwithstanding one end of Mr. Mills' house was little better than a mass of cinder, from top to bottom when the fire was finally subdued. And then the question haturally arose, how did this fire occur? There had been no fire about the shop from which it could have been communicated, and it was thought scarcely possible that mbers from the other fires had found lodgment in or about the building, and lay dormant so long without revealing their presmay, the destruction was complete, and the loss has fallen upon persons who were illy able to bear it. The building was owned by Mr. Mills are the disposition wife, sister or sweetheart, a fine dress pattern from their ample and handsome stock. Mr. Mills, upon which he had no insurance. Mr. Williams, who occupied it, and who is peting. It is a somewhat singular coincidence in connection with Mr. Williams' loss, that he had the misfortune, just one year to the following account of a libel suit coppreviously to the day and almost to the hour, ied from the Philadelphia Sunday Mercury destroyed by a similar catastrophe.

And what shall we say for those who labored so zealously and unwearily in preserving their neighbors' property from the de-vouring element? We feel that words of praise would add nothing to the satisfaction they feel in the accomplishment of a good act well done, although their efforts were beyond all praise. Especially did Mr. Wm. Day and Mr. Alex. Eckels labor with the East and I am Day and Mr. Alex. Eckels labor with the most praiseworthy efficiency at all the fires, ever occupying the most dangerous and exposed positions, and always directing their A. M., or on departure of Phila. efforts to the accomplishment of the greatest good. or advice at this time. These conflagrations should teach their own lesson, and we trust FIBE FIEND IN EBENSBURG-Four that the next disaster will not find our town rations in Three Days .- Our town | so illy prepared to combat the fiery element.

EDITORIALITIES, LOCAL AND GENERAL -

The wife of Wm. Bear, of Ligonier, Indiana county, was caught by her clothes in the shaft of a steam mill at that place, not long since, and very seriously injured. A six year old lad named Robert Chester fell into the Kishacoquillas at Lewistown, on Monday afternoon of last week, and was drowned. His body was found the same day. The barn of Jacob Shallis, in Somerset county, together with a lot of rye, hay and eats, was consumed by fire on Friday week.

Careless boys and lucifer matches did the Milton Howe, a young man belonging to daysport, fell from a scaffold at Gallitzin, this county, on Monday week, a distance of forty-two feet, but fortunately escaped with few slight bruises. Jacob Marchand, of North Huntingdon township, Westmoreland county, died a couple of weeks since from the effects of an overdose of landanum which he had taken for medical purposes.

The Hollidaysburg Radical and Whig has learned by telegraph of the death of Lt. John W. Hicks, U. S. Infantry, formerly of Duncansville, who died at Natchez, Miss., on the 22d inst., of cholera.

In speaking of the probable nomination of Gen. Grant by the Radicals, one of otir cotemporaries says-that that distinguished officer never opens his mouth but he puts his foot in it. A very large mouth or an exceedingly small foot.

On Friday morning the engine of a freight train struck a colored woman named Emma Lewis, at Middletown, and knocked her down an embankment. She was seriously but not fatally injured. The accident was the result of her carelessness.

Henry Bowers, a brakesman on the Pennsylvania railroad, met with a fatal accident on Friday night, at Irwin's Station. In the pursuit of his duties he had to couple an engine to a freight train, in doing which he was caught between the two, and so badly crushed that death ensue I in a few moments. He leaves a wife and several children in

The vault of the Prothonotary's office in the Court House at Hollidaysburg was forcibly entered by burglars on Wednesday night last, who helped themselves to $1,000 n government bonds, ($5,00 of which belonged to the Prothonotary, Mr. Baldridge, and the other $500 to his son, and a $100 compound interest note belonging to another parcy. The tillains made a hole through the thick wall, through which they entered. No clue has been gained to the thieves,

About six o'clock Friday evening James Smith; a citizen of Greensburg, was walking on the track of the Pennsylvania Railroad, near the Tunnel, a half mile east of the town, when he heard a train approaching, and in the endeator to get out of the way he slipped and fell with his head in such a position-that it was struck by the cow-catcher, and the scalp knocked off. He was rendered insensible by the concussion, in which conliton he remained for several hours, when he was discovered by the watchman of the Tunnel, who had him conveyed to Greensburg, where he at present lies. His recovery is considered doubtful.

Poot Hotst Aprointments .- The new Board of Poor House Directors, consisting of Messrs. Joseph Daily and Henry Byrne, of the former Board, and Mr. John D. Thomas the newly-elected Director, met at the Poor House ou Monday last, and after rescinding the appointments made at the last meeting of the old Board, selected the following gentlemen for the po-itions named:

Steward-Col. B. McDermitt. Treasurer-Geo. W. Oatman, Esq. Attending Physician-Dr. R. S. Bunn.

It is casting no reflection on the late appointees to say that the gentlemen named above are competent and trustworthy, and we doubt not they will render general satisfaction in their respective positions. The Directors were most kindly treated during their visit to the Poor House by the present acting Steward, Mr. Kaylor, who did everything to render their intercourse pleasant and agreeable. The latter gentleman will retain his position until January.

More Incendiarism .- Another bold and successful attempt has been made to destroy property in the neighborhood of our town. On Sunday evening last, just after dark, the attention of Mr. Abram Meakin and family, who reside in Cambria township, a few miles from Ebensburg, was directed to a pile of wood near their residence, to which fire had been communicated by some dastardly villains, and while Mr. M. and his household were endeavoring to save the wood, a stable set on fire and with its contents destroyed. During the excitement consequent upon this fire the incendiaries entered the house of Mr. David Powell, a short distance from the scene, for the purpose of robbing it. but were fortunately alarmed before they had succeeded in securing anything of much value. They were seen leaving the house, There were two of them-as tall man and to place ourself inside one of those splendid one of small stature.

CAME TO HAND .- Our young friend, Geo. amply stocked. Yeager, of Altoona, has taken our hint about a toot horn or tin whistle for our boy, in its literal and broadest sense, and has not only respectful and plain, which we are sure never sent the aforesaid juvenile a horn, whistle | can grieve you, but will prove to your profit and rattle, but has also kindly bestowed up- and gain. If you seek for the worth of your on ourself a horn of larger dimensions, which money, and we are sure you will ask for ence. Be this as it who, we trust, will find use for them in Mills & Davis, and buying your mother,

FIRE IN ALTOONA .- We understand tha Dyspepsia Cure has performed more cures in Poor and industrious mechanic, lost his a very destructive fire occurred in Altoona cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and General and everything else pertaining to his on Monday afternnon last, by which some Debility, than any medicine ever compoundbusiness, while several of our citizens came five or six business houses and one or two ed. It is excellent for Sick Headache, Sour out minus carpet chain and rags, which had stables in a central portion of the town were Stomach, Heartburn, Cramps, Colic, and the "Mansion House," Ebensburg, Pa.

IMPORTANT LIBEL SUIT .- As a matter of interest to many of our readers we give place to have his dwelling in Gaysport, Blair co., of the 20th inst., in which Mr. J. H. Davis, formerly a resident of our town, but at present an extensive lumber merchant in the "City of Brotherly Love," figures as plaintiff. ties of life, as his tirade manifests neither "brotherly love" nor christian charity, and gave just grounds to Mr. D. for the proceedings he inaugurated. WHAT CONSTITUTES LIEEL. - A Minister Convicted in the Quarter Sessions .- Ministers of the Gospel are as apt to get into trouble Nor need we indulge in a word of warning professing Christianity under cover of being ing his vocal powers with the popular recrites, and as sinful as sin can make them. The case we have reference to is that of the Rev. J. L. Richards, of the Welsh Congrega-Treasurer of the church, in a letter, written Court on Friday, and from it we present our readers with that part of it said to be libel-

Why did you not inform them of your own dishonesty than you knew of my reputation or of any one that belongs to me. If you are bound money and became rich through the labor of his superiors; that he accomplished the meanest things imaginable in business; the man that is fond of drunkenness; a religious ages man, at the same time breaking the Sabbath in the most disgraceful manner; tell them of the man that receives preachers at his cuse to blacken their reputation; tell them that you are fond of carrying fictitious letters, full of the meanest lies that an eye ever withessed, and fond of persuading people est pleasure is to have poor people to select it in a terrible manner. you as treasurer, so that you can have an opportunity to swindle. "It is poor care the devil will take of his servant," is an old Weish proverb, and that you will see before selling body and soul to the devil; the amount is little more than Judas got, for what ' profiteth a man if he gain the whole railroad, east of the depot, and it is supto be measured according to its knowledge, yours would not be worth much.

I have seen some mocking you while yoff were uttering sham prayers, after I came here : not you alone, but the other two likewise. Is it old whiskey barrels and lager man soweth that shall he also reap." o

Not being satisfied, however, with giving the Treasurer the benefit of his clerical wrath, in the letter written by hint, Richards, it is alleged, kept a copy of the same and exhibited it to several members of his church, with the intention of ruining the character of his victim. The evidence elicited before the jury was sufficient to warrant a conviction. In our religious column next week we propose saying something more in regard to this pastor of a flock.

Another Festival .- In order to aid in the erection of the handsome new church which our Catholic friends are pushing for-ward with such commendable enterprise, the ladies of the congregation have made up their minds to hold another festival, similar to the one held last month, during the approaching holidays. A number of valuaarticles will be offered for chances, among them the irrepressible little mule and a donated for the purpose. We hope to throw | cards. further light on the subject next week.

IMPORTANT FROM ALTOONA .- Our latest advices from this rapidly growing village at the foot of the hill is to the effect that our enterprising young friend, Billy McDevitt, has stocked the renowned "Green Corner" with a most beautiful, varied and extensive assortment of the choicest dry goods, groceries, notions, etc., that has ever been displayed upon his shelves. So he is now ready to attend to all who seek attractive bargams.

A FINE ESTABLISHMENT. - Cham. Roberts has his new stock of fancy goods, clocks, etc. most temptingly displayed in his newly en-larged store room, and can now rest content in the possession of the neatest establishment for its size and the best variety of goods in his line in the county. His store is well worth a visit and his assortment well worth the attention of purchasers.

Fires and weddings, serenades and squabbles have terded to make the past week one of intense excitement in our town, and for the time being probably some of our citizens have lost sight of the fact that J. M. Thompon the premises containing hay, etc., was son's cheap store of High street is the great emporium for the best goods at the lowest prices. Keep this fact in mind and profit by the knowledge.

AFTER being blessed with one of the most delightful Indian summers on record, we are just now experiencing those cold and chilling rains which always precede grim old winter, but made good their escape in the darkness; and which remind us how cozy it would be suits of seasonable clothing with which V.
