There is a paper published in the 9th Ward that's very singular-one-half is printed in the South African language and the other half in the Caffraira. It circulates extensively among the colored people. There are 149 fire engines in Altoona city, besides a large number of hook and ladder companies. The City has 400 Street Commissioners and 5 Scavengers. Each of the former is required to station himself at a street corner and keep strict watch over that portion of the street that extends to the next corner. Dogs and hogs are not allowed to run at large, but are kept in cellars under the Chinese hotels. Desirable building lots have become very scarce, owing to the rapid growth of the city. Within the past few years we had thought of purchasing, but now fear we shall not be able to get nearer the heart of the city than the 9th Ward. Our present address is No. 1556, Altoona street, City of Altoona, State of Altoona.
