

THE FREEMAN.

THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1868.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

EDITORIALS, LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The liquor law of last session has been repealed by our State Legislature.

T. J. Chapman, Esq., County Superintendent, has taken up his abode in our town. We welcome him as a good citizen and worthy man.

William H. Newer, of Clover Creek, Blair county, was drowned on Sunday, 13th ult. He was about 40 years of age, and leaves a wife and two children.

A car loaded with barrels of oil was destroyed by fire in the railroad yard at Altoona, on Saturday night week. Supposed to have been set on fire.

A splendid new light and strong two horse wagon will be sold cheap for cash, or on time, by a man who has no further use for it. Inquire of the editor.

Winter is "lingering in the lap of spring" with a perfect vengeance. At present writing there are some live or six inches of snow on the ground. The weather clerk needs impeaching very badly.

Our readers in this vicinity who prefer to have their clothing made to order, will be interested in the card of Mr. David J. Evans, published in our paper to-day. Mr. E. is a good workman, and deserves to be patronized.

The dwelling house and furniture of Wm. Overly, in Mt. Pleasant township, Westmoreland county, was entirely destroyed by fire, on Friday night week, and the family with difficulty escaped from the second story windows.

An excellent couple (brother and sister) named Walker, residing in Rostraver township, Westmore county, were visited by a party of millions, one night recently, who beat and abused them in a most shocking manner, but failed to find what they were seeking—money. The old couple, it was feared, will not survive their injuries.

The Bedford Inquirer says that Mr. J. W. Miller, residing in the western part of the county, was attacked by a panther recently, but escaped through the fierceness of the animal he was riding. The brute made a spring at him from the branches of a tree, but his screeches frightened the horse, who springing aside in time to prevent the panther from fastening on him.

The act defining and limiting the amount of damages that can be recovered in cases of injuries or death sustained on railroads, which recently passed our State Legislature, has, contrary to all expectations, received the signature of the Governor. What will the Johnston Tribune say now? Will they still commend the "great failures" in shape of Governors and Philadelphia Attorney Generals? We may neglect this law further in our next.

BUSINESS CHANGES.—Our worthy and esteemed friend, J. Patton Thompson, owner of Philadelphia, has purchased the entire stock of merchandise from his brother, Jas. M. Thompson, and proposes to continue the business at the old stand in this place. He has the facilities for purchasing goods at the lowest prices, and feels confident that he can make it the interest of every one to deal with him.

MR. E. J. MILLS has sold out his interest in the store of Mills & Davis to his late partner, Mr. R. D. Davis, who will carry on the mercantile business on his own hook. We wish Mr. Davis success. Mr. Mills retires to private life for the present.

LAST WEEK FROM JOHNSTOWN.—Immense piles of large sized boxes in front of a Main street clothing store. Later—boxes opened and found to contain clothing. STILL LATER—It has been ascertained that this was the clothing purchased by Mr. Leopold, in his late raid to Philadelphia, and a glance at his shelves will convince the most skeptical that a finer assortment of clothing and gent's furnishing goods has not heretofore been brought to this town. Store on Main street, a few doors below the South House.

"A THING OF BEAUTY IS A JOY FOREVER," and the most beautiful sight imaginable is a glance at the superb stock of clothing now displayed in the saleroom of the famous "Star Hall," Johnstown. Murphy was in the city last week, and following close on his return was a most elegant selection of clothing now so tastefully displayed on his shelves. When you go to Johnstown call at "Star Hall" and examine those beautiful spring suits.

MONEY GOES—NO ONE KNOWS. Where it goes to—no one knows. Here it is everywhere. Rent, sun, dirt, dirt, spend, spend, lend, lend, send, send. Flush to you, short to-morrow—notes to pay, borrow, borrow. Money's a joy, and yet a sorrow. But when it is spent in the purchase of the splendid Spring goods just receiving at the store of H. A. Silvermaster & Co., the investment is a wise one. Go and see the fine array of new goods.

SUMMIT MANSON HOUSE.—Mr. James M. Riffe has leased the above stand to Mr. John H. Herbert, formerly of Broad Top, who is already in possession—in the full title of success. Mr. Riffe will vacate the new landlord will receive, as we are confident he will deserve, the public patronage. To the retiring landlord and his estimable lady, we wish the most ample success in any future undertaking.

NEW MAIL ROUTE.—Our North Cambria friends who desire a new post-route are in a fair way of having their wishes gratified. The mail will leave Carrolltown, pass Glessner's, Elder's Mill, St. Lawrence, (or Glen Connell) Walters', and connect with the Mount Pleasant route. We have the assurance of Hon. D. J. Morrill that the route will be established, although it cannot be done immediately.

A BARA AVIS.—Our young friend, Francis O'Hara, last week left a swan near his father's residence, measuring 7 feet from tip to tip of his wings, and 5 feet one inch from the point of its tail to its toes. It was in prime order and afforded a rare dish.

LOOKING UP.—Real estate in Ebensburg. Johnston Moore, Esq., has sold his brick dwelling and lot of ground to William M. Lloyd, Esq., of Altoona, for the round sum of $5,500. It is to be occupied as a Banking House and private residence.

EBER & LANDELL prefer dealing in good Goods at fair prices. This is a Dry Goods House of long standing, and has acquired a REPUTABLE reputation. Read advertisement in this issue.

M. B. C. C.—A regular meeting of the Mountaineer Base Ball Club, will be held in the Court House to-morrow (Friday) evening, 10th instant, at 7 1/2 o'clock. By order of the President.

MacShane has been to Wilmore.

Dear Freeman—I have been to Wilmore! It is pleasantly situated between the Ebensburg and Green branches of the Conemaugh, a short distance above their confluence. Neither branch is navigable for the larger craft, but a sugar trough has been known, at a good stage of water, to float in safety some distance above the town, and large clips are floated on the county seat, branch nearly as far up as the county seat.

Wilmore is an old town—settled originally about 1800. It is named from a family of that name—the original, if not aboriginal, proprietors of the soil upon which it stands.

The village originally consisted of a few log cabins, and was derisively called Gaulea, from the fact that there was at that early day a radical tincture of African blood in the Wilmore family. Good Father Gallitzin of jurgated the opprobrious sobriquet of Gaulea, and the more Cassian and patriotic name of Jefferson was adopted. Thus it stood, a thriving hamlet, until the Old Portage gave it its importance.

The Portage added to its importance—During a goodly portion of the career of that road Jefferson was the dining point for the passengers, and it soon assumed the post and dimensions of a prosperous country town. At that time, as matter of course, became necessary, and as the name (Jefferson) had been appropriated to another office in Pennsylvania, a new name was required, and the name of the proprietors, WILMORE, was adopted.

The subsequent construction of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and consequent abandonment of the Old Portage, was damaging to the prosperity of the place, as the new road followed the opposite bank of the Conemaugh branch of the Conemaugh, south of the town. A first-class station was, however, established, to which the name Wilmore was given, thus ignoring the name of Jefferson; and this was followed up by the village themselves legalizing the name by getting themselves incorporated into the "Borough of Wilmore."

So much for the history of this enterprising village. It contains a population of some 400 souls—has two taverns, with a prospect of a third, some half dozen of merchants, two millers, (in addition to Joseph) two blacksmiths, an excellent physician, carpenter, cabinet-maker, shoemaker, etc. Your friend, Isaac Wike, Esq., whom Treasurer of Cambria county, as well as sundry others, showed me much civility. The veteran caterer, Hamilton, supplied all my physical and spiritual wants, and my only regret is that he contemplates leaving Wilmore.

Wilmore is the home of Capt. William R. Hughes, who, during the late rebellion, made so gallant an attack upon the Monitor. He is now in easy retirement.

I have spoken of various branches of business in this healthy and growing town, but failed to state that the oil business has been attracting much attention; and indeed, during my brief visit, I found that the chief interest of the leading citizens seemed to be in a petroleum enterprise.

Besides its railroad advantages, Wilmore has the advantage of a road to intersect the Franklin road; a road to Portage, to Munster, and to Ebensburg. A plank road was completed to Ebensburg, but it has been abandoned. A similar road was also projected to Bedford, of which you, Mr. Editor, was appointed a Commissioner.

The foregoing analysis, giving the number of grains of the different ingredients in the gallon, is as nearly correct as that of our mineral springs generally. The learned professor, however, expressed the belief that the great preponderance of the last ingredient resulted from some foreign liquid having found its way into the vessel.

But what I have wanted for my theme, and extended my epistle to a greater length than I had intended. In conclusion, I must say that I quit Wilmore regretfully, and fully convinced of the generous hospitality of its inhabitants. MACSHANE.

OUR BOOK TABLE.—"Godley's Ladies' Book" for April already has been noticed in this issue. To say that this serial sustains its well-earned reputation, is not doing it full justice. The frontispiece engraving, "The Rustic Belle," is executed on steel, and of the finest finish, while the other illustrations commend themselves as works of the highest order. The fashion plate is unusually attractive, while the pattern drawings continue themselves to the taste of the ladies, as invaluable auxiliaries of fashion. The deeply interesting story "Phenice Rowland" is continued. "Our Duty," a "Charade—Patronage," "The Engagement Ring," and "The Double Marriage" are in the letter press. But, after all, to our country ladies old and young, the "Work Department," "Recipes," &c., are alone worth far more than the subscription price. Terms, $3 per annum, or two copies for $5.

The Radical? is a Freethinker's Monthly, in which members of every religion, or without any, can have a word without regard to their opinions. We cannot recommend it. It is, of course, published at Boston.

Ballou's Monthly Magazine for May is filled with a great variety of interesting matter. It is an ably conducted work, and we take pleasure in recommending it to our readers. Terms only $1.50 per annum—Elliott, Thomas & Talbot, Boston.

ENLARGING HIS SPHERE.—Our enterprising mercantile friend, Mr. Geo. H. Huntley, is enlarging his store room and transferring the upper apartments of his building into offices. When the improvements are complete he will have the largest and best arranged business house in Ebensburg, and as his stock will always be in keeping with his establishment his custom should increase accordingly. The housekeeper, the farmer, and the mechanic, in fact every man, will find many things for daily use and consumption with Mr. Huntley, who sells as cheap goods as any dealer in the county.

The "Elgin" or "National" Watch, manufactured by the National Watch Company of Elgin, (near Chicago,) Illinois, has just been introduced in this community by Mr. G. T. Roberts, who pronounces it the most perfect time-keeper that has ever been manufactured on this continent. It has all the latest improvements and is made of the best materials, and cannot fail to commend itself to all who examine its workings.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Fenian Meeting—Accidents—Freeman's Ball.—The Black Hook—New Bridge—The Truce Steer—Personal.

JOHNSTOWN, April 6, 1868.

Dear Freeman—A Fenian meeting was held on Saturday night last in Froelicher's Hall, and a very large audience was in attendance. The meeting was addressed by Gen. O'Neill, President of a branch of the Fenian organization, and Mr. Gibbons of Philadelphia. These gentlemen stated that in an able and eloquent manner, and the proceedings came to a close with a request that any gentlemen present who wished to join either the civil or military branches of the organization would then have an opportunity of enrolling themselves.

The patriotism of the Irishmen residing here is not to be doubted for a moment, but they have seen the duplicity of an O'Mahony and the treachery of a Stephens, the interminable discussions of rival factions and the thousands of dollars which poured into the coffers of the different despots, and which have been bestowed upon their henchmen of the poor but patriotic and conflicting fellow-countrymen, and for the disposition of which no satisfactory account has been rendered. As it may wonder, then, that the impulsive Irishman, after being duped so frequently, will now bestir himself, and require something more than the stirring recital of his country's wrongs, or the eloquent appeal and well worded sentences of an able orator? The Irish people require something more than this, but once assure them an honest and capable leader, one upon whom they can rely, and let their organization be such as will secure them the countenance of their clergy, and the generous Celtic heart will not wait for an appeal, but everywhere throughout our entire country they will be ready to the last man and last dollar to avenge the wrongs and insults which for so long centuries have been heaped upon their hapless but unhappy country; aye, and esteem it a glorious privilege to give their last cent and the last drop of blood in their veins in the effort to humble the tyrant's power, and over the ruins of the despot to elevate the people to the level of the free and equal name of Liberty. At the meeting held in this place about a dozen irresponsible recruits were enrolled.

A man named Vaughn, employed by the Cambria Iron Company as an engineer, met with a very serious accident last week. He had been shifting some cars on the company's track, and leaving several trucks standing on the bridge, had started up the grade in Cambria borough with the intention of permitting his engine to back down while he would put on steam in the cylinders, but it attained such momentum that by the time he returned to the valve it was so slackened the speed, his engine collided with the cars which had been left on the track, and the shock was so severe as to throw him against the valve with great force, and to injure him very severely. The cab of the engine completely demolished, as also a portion of the machinery.

A man named Stern, a resident of Somerset county, had his shoulder blade broken a day or two since, while assisting to load some goods on a wagon, at the depot, and which were to be conveyed to that county. His injury, though painful, will only confine him for a short time.

The "Assistance" Engine Co. will give their first annual ball on Easter Monday evening, in Park's new Hall. A large number of invitations have been issued, and a glance at the list of managers will assure every person interested that the committee, having the matter in charge will spare neither pains nor expense, in making this one of the grandest affairs of the kind that has ever transpired in our town. Admission tickets has been fixed at the low price of two dollars, a splendid band of music has been engaged, and the second night will be a curet for a refreshment room, where all the delicacies which tempt the palate of fatigued dancers will be served in the very best style. The Turners will also give a grand ball the same evening.

The interesting and spectacular drama of "The Black Crook," has been exhibiting here to-night, to continue for "six nights only." Some fifteen ladies (?) are connected with the performance, and as it is said their costume on the stage is rather airy, with so very extensive trails to their dresses, the young men of the town are in a great hurry to get into the opportunity of seeing more of them in ordinary dressed females. Judging by the penchants which our young men have for standing near street crossings on windy days, and their praiseworthy desire of observing the length of these worn by ladies who are compelled to be out at such times, I have no doubt the "Black Crook," or grand spectacle of fifteen pairs of ankles, assorted sizes, will be largely attended.

The emergency bridge across the Stony Creek, near the head of Franklin street, has been rebuilt, and this time made perfectly secure. The workmen on this bridge were only a little over twenty hours from the time they commenced it until they had it ready for the crossing of teams. Proposals for building a permanent bridge on the site of the old one will be opened to-day, and it will doubtless be but a short time until a safe and substantial structure will span the river.

The mammoth prize steer of Akers & Baumer will be reduced to beef-steaks roast, etc., on to-morrow, (Tuesday,) and I am requested by Mr. Akers to state that if any of our citizens wish to procure some of the best of the fine animal he will be happy to accommodate them. By sending him a line per mail he will, on Friday or Saturday, furnish them with any desired quantity of the finest meat which has ever been disposed of in this country. So, ye lovers of juicy beef-steaks, pitch in.

Quite a number of Ebensburgers were in town last week, and I also noticed on the streets Mr. Michael McColgan and our jovial, whole-souled friend Steph. Conwell. The former has been located for several months past on the line of the Pacific Railroad and the latter furishes in the ancient village of Blairsville. Sku Bal.

ALTOONA, April 6, 1868.

Friend Mac—At present writing there is quite a change in the atmosphere. The clerk of the weather has changed his programme very perceptibly, and instead of the usual blustering wind which so frequently greeted us for the last few days, we are now experiencing one of the coldest, snowiest, and most blustering mornings of the season.

The Democracy of this place had a gay time a few evenings since. There was a grand rally to hear speeches from Hon. James Meloy, one of the State Senators from this district, and a Mr. Deise of Ohio county. The address of Mr. Meloy was one of those able, steeple-hammer efforts which never fail to carry conviction to an unprejudiced mind, and Mr. Deise's speech was that of ready, witty and eloquent character, which announces while it entertains in his political faith. Mr. D's manners and gestures are somewhat like those of the imitable Brick Plover, and his description of "old New England, Godly Puritanism, pharisaical piety and patent humbug peddling Yankeeism, land of stiff-necked, snipe-nouted saints, was truly grand and exhaustive. The loud peals of laughter and thundering applause which greeted him were testimony to his wit and eloquence as an orator.

I notice in the papers that the little Rump at Harrisburg had ousted Mr. Stump, a Senator from this district, and admitted to his seat that tool of John J. Patterson, the bumper Robinson. Darkness deeper than that which envelops Egypt—darkness blacker than the heart of a traitor—has settled down upon our once happy, but now tax-ridden, negro-bedevelled, demagogued, Constitution-disregarding and law-defying country. The great unwashed black-and-conceited party is the legitimate child of the Tory party '76; but it has strayed away into strange and unaccountable paths, and by corruption and prostitution it has become so sick and decayed that death must soon put an end to its existence. In gulping down whisky and the negro at one swallow, the wool has better than lead, and the whisky has so affected its head that the party has gone crazy, and even now it is evident that our State and national capitals are little better than insane asylums.

"Eye has not seen, ear has not heard, nor has it ever entered into the mind of man to conceive" such an infamously set of rumps as the present Congress contains. As they hear from the spring elections all over the country the fat offices fall from their cock-eyed visions, and they roll back their optics like Goary's dyng cat—sizzer on the brain strikes in on them, and it is no wonder that they are so much affected by lunacy.

But next November the people will speak their thunder tones of condemnation of the tyrannical, plundering, thieving policy of this bizzard rump faction. The ship of State will be brought back to its good old Democratic moorings, and in place of extravagance, plunder, and negro domination, will have low taxes, equal rights, equal privileges, and a white man's government.

Our Caribbean friends are making extensive preparations for holding one of the grandest and best fairs ever projected in this vicinity. It is to be under the immediate supervision of the ladies of the congregation, and it were to name the ladies it would be a sufficient guarantee to you of the success of the enterprise. They have already on hands a large number of articles of rare value and exquisite workmanship, and many others will be added, and altogether the Fair and its attractions will exceed anything of the like character ever witnessed in this city. It will open on Monday next, 13th inst., and during its continuance an excellent band of music will be in attendance. I advise every friend of the cause to go and see, and cheer the Fair during its progress. The proceeds are to be devoted to the completion of the new Convent.

All hail, Altoona City! We are going to have another paper. And what kind of a paper do you suppose it is going to be? An independent one, or one that will give a dig every now and then? Well, I guess not; we have a quantum sufficit of that kind here just now. No sir; this is to be a real live, wide-awake Democratic paper, courteous and frank, but firm and determined—its motto, "fraternity and union with all men, and the rest of mankind, but if it or the principles it maintains are assailed by any of the black and tan faction, glory be to Hallelujah! but they will catch their death." The new paper is to be called "The Altoona Vindicator," and will be published by Jas. McCollins & Son. I hope no Democrat in this vicinity worthy of the name will fail to lend a helping hand in making this enterprise a perfect success. T. I. M.

CARROLLTOWN, April 6, 1868.

Dear Freeman—We have been enjoying for the past few days all the gentle attentions of old fog Boreas, and our streets and fields were the appearance of a winter, owing to the fierce conduct of the weather clerk, who but a day or two since held out the pleasing assurance that winter had abandoned the soft embrace of spring. Winds, storms and tempests, however, do not appear to dampen the religious ardor of our creditable congregation, and in consequence hence the strict rules of Lent are religiously and faithfully observed by past and people alike in this section, and Palm Sunday brought out our usually large congregation in its full strength.

Next Sunday (Easter) will be a grand day at St. Benedict's church, and we advise any person wishing to assist at the observances of the Feast of Easter, in a most worthy and becoming manner, to visit Carrolltown. The brass band has been regularly practicing, and no doubt, as is its wont, will lend its assistance during the attractive ceremonies of the day, and close the heart of many a devoted child of the church which has been cold and indifferent to the attractions of the world during the holy season which will then close for the present year.

Easter day is always a day on which it is well for any person admiring the beautiful and the devotional to be in the village of Carrolltown stony indeed must be the heart that does not throbb at the manifest joy portrayed by the believer in Christ on the day that celebrates His victory over death and the grave.

The Lenka Association held its regular monthly meeting yesterday. It is still extending its membership, and its meetings are characterized by the utmost harmony and union of feeling and interest.

Yours, &c., LAGO.

Editor Freeman—In company with my wife I paid a brief visit to the Cambria county Poor House, a few days since, and so agreeably were we impressed with the manner in which that institution is conducted by Col. M.D. Merritt, that I cannot refrain from giving expression to my admiration through the medium of your paper. On all sides neatness, order and cleanliness prevailed to an extent unsurpassed in any private residence in the county, while the treatment of the inmates by Col. M.D., and his estimable wife and family is characterized by the utmost kindness, although the rules of the establishment are strictly enforced and willingly obeyed. Our Poor House Directors have been fortunate in the selection of a competent and faithful Steward, and no one who visits that institution can fail to be gratified with the manner in which the House is conducted in all its departments.

Yours, &c., CONSEMAUGH.

Barker's store, the subscriber respectfully informs his old customers and the rest of mankind that he is now prepared to manufacture all kinds of Gent's and Youth's wearing apparel in the latest style of the art, with neatness and dispatch, and upon the most reasonable terms. Persons needing work in my line are respectfully invited to give me a call. DAVID J. EVANS.
