

Jacobin Literature in the Dog-Days.

July and August are the months in which dogs and cats commonly go mad.

One who reads the Jacobin newspaper concerns during these months will perceive the verification of this fact in a great deal of frothing about Horatio Seymour.

He will learn therefore many things about Horatio Seymour that no one ever learned before.

He will learn that Horatio Seymour was born with double rows of teeth; and that his first lively performance was to bite of the nurse's little finger because she had a brother in the army.

That he grew up a deceitful young rascal, who bamboozled "good little boys" into the belief that swallows might be caught by putting Onondaga salt on their tails.

That he cut the throats of six school-fellows, extracted their livers, and sold them to a sausage-maker.

That he studied law because lawyers succeed better in race than any other people, excepting those who get war contracts or places in the revenue service.

That he joined the church in order to gratify a personal grudge against the worthy sexton, who he afterward drowned in the Herkimer river, by tying a large stone to his neck.

That he is "a sneaking, deceitful, specious, heartless, adroit, unscrupulous, conscienceless, pitiful, juggling, insidious, designing, faithless, double-tongued, dissimulating, hypocritical, perjured, knavish, cozening, subtle, elaborate, base, profligate, corrupt, brutal, unprincipled, atrocious, rascally, abominable, unmitigated, damnable, and improper villain, — one of your praying, eating," &c. &c. &c., "second-rate, who, with an insatiable," &c. &c. &c., "appetite for evil," &c. &c. &c., "never had the courage to do a bad," &c. &c. &c., "act with a defiant front; but who endeavors to purge himself and deceive" &c. &c. &c., "the world by sneaking," &c. &c. &c., "his prayers to Heaven, in which he does not believe as an offset to the infamy," &c. &c. &c., &c. &c., "of which he is full."

That he entered into a conspiracy with S. J. Tilden, Jeff. Davis, Belle Boyd and Henry Clay Dean to murder A. Lincoln and desecrate the grave of Ann Rutledge, "six miles north, bearing a little west, of New Salem;" and that he never forgave Wilkes Booth for interfering and spoiling his nice little arrangement.

That he is crazy—crazy as a loon, as a March hare, as a bull bug—in brief, as crazy as General Sherman was when he said the rebellion could not be put down by an army of seventy-five thousand men; and that the very wonderful "method in his madness" is proof positive that he expects to be more crazy.

That he is the identical red-handed rebel who fired the first gun; who tore down the Federal flag; who was alluded to by General Dix when he said, "Shoot him on the spot;" who starved Federal prisoners at Andersonville; who played the devil generally at Fort Pillow; who set fire to a New York orphan asylum; who seduced Grant to take his first drink; who dared to express the opinion that Mr. Lincoln was not the Government; who declined to become one of Mrs. Government's dear friends by presenting her with a camel's hair shawl; who raised an objection to Mr. Seward's little bell; who said the laws ought to be obeyed alike by rulers and people; and who was guilty of unpardonable treason in setting an illustrious example of obedience and patriotic devotion to the civil law, as Governor of New York.

These are some of the surprising things that people who read the Jacobin newspaper concern during the dog days will learn concerning Mr. Seymour. The list need not be continued, because it will be found extenso in all the Jacobin prints, to the exclusion of much more important and interesting matter. — Chicago Times.

ANECDOTE OF A SWALLOW.—As a man was shooting swallows a few days ago at Osbadwick, he fired at and wounded one, which fell as if its wing was broken, to within a few feet of the earth, when another swallow flew directly underneath, and bore it gently up. After having attained a considerable elevation, the bird underneath withdrew its support; but finding the bird was sinking again to the earth, it resumed its station, and once more raised it in the air. This was done several times, till at last the bird flew away, as if it had not been hurt at all — its companion following. This is an remarkable instance of attachment and sympathy in the feathered tribe as we ever heard of.

The Richmond Examiner says: "From all sections of the country, from Maine to Alaska—from the North, the South, the East and the West—worthless old spoons have been sent to the West by express and by mail. Spoons of wood, bone, horn, pewter, tin, iron and brass, pour in upon him at all hours. The plague of spoons is becoming more unendurable to Butler than a plague of frogs. Baskets of spoons are brought to him from the Post-Office, and the express carts are constantly delivering them at his door."

The suggestion is made that these offerings be kept up.

The Seymour and Blair ratification meeting in Bangor, Maine, on the night of the 18th, was the grandest political demonstration that has ever taken place in the Penobscot Valley. More than five thousand people were present in City Hall Square. The wildest enthusiasm prevailed. Three large and splendid flags were thrown to the breeze and greeted with tremendous cheers. A splendid display of fireworks added to the brilliancy of the occasion.

An automaton chess-player is making Paris crazy. There is a man in the machine, but where or how he is placed in it is a mystery which baffles the shrewdest. It is the original Maelzel apparatus which created such intense excitement twenty-five years ago.

The National Democratic and Conservative Soldiers' and Sailors' Platform.

1. Immediate restoration of all the States to their rights in the Union under the original compact of the Government with the American people.

2. Amnesty for all past political offenses, and the regulation of the elective franchise in the States by their citizens.

3. Payment of the public debt of the United States as rapidly as practicable; all moneys drawn from the people by taxation, except so much as is requisite for the necessities of the Government economically administered, being honestly applied to such payment, and where the obligations of the Government do not expressly state upon their face, or on any other public securities, that they are to be applied to, they shall be paid in coin, they ought, in right and in justice, to be paid in the lawful money of the United States. (Funders of applause.)

4. Equal taxation of every species of property according to its real value, including government bonds, and other public securities. (Renewed cheering and cries of "read it again.")

5. Our currency for the government and the people, the laborer and the officeholder, the pensioner and the soldier, the producer and the bondholder. (Great cheering and cries of "read it again.") The fifth resolution was agreed upon by acclamation.

6. Economy in the administration of the government; the reduction of the standing army and navy; the abolition of the Freedmen's Bureau (except cleaning); and all other institutions designed to secure negro supremacy; simplification of the system, and discontinuance of injudicious assessing and collecting internal revenue, so that the impost may be as light as possible, and the credit of the Government and the currency made good, the repeal of all enactments for enrolling the State militia into national forces in time of peace, and such equal taxation under the internal revenue laws as will afford incidental protection to domestic manufactures, and as will, without impairing the revenue, impose the least burden upon and best promote and encourage the great industrial interests of the country.

7. Reform of abuses in the administration, the expulsion of corrupt men from office, the abolition of useless offices; the restoration of rightful authority to, and independence of, the executive and judicial departments of the Government; the substitution of the military to the civil power, to the end that the usurpations of Congress and the despotism of the sword may cease.

8. Equal rights and protection for naturalized and native-born citizens at home and abroad; the assertion of American nationality which shall command the respect of foreign powers and furnish an example and encouragement to the world; the maintenance of constitutional liberty and individual rights; and the maintenance of the rights of naturalized citizens against the absolute doctrine of rights and allegiance to the Government, and powers to punish them for alleged crime committed beyond their jurisdiction. (Applause.)

In demanding these measures and reforms we repeat the Radical party's disregard of rights, and the unjust oppression and tyranny which have marked its career.

After the most solemn and unanimous pledge of both Houses of Congress to prosecute the matter actively for the maintenance of the Government and the preservation of the Union under the Constitution, it has violated that most sacred pledge under which alone was raised the noble volunteer army which carried out flag to victory.

Instead of restoring the Union, it has, so far as is in its power, dissolved it, and subjected the States, in time of profound peace, to military rule and negro supremacy. It has denied there the right of trial by jury; it has abolished the HABEAS CORPUS—that most sacred writ of liberty; it has overthrown the freedom of the press; it has substituted arbitrary seizures, arrests, and arrests, and secret star chamber inquisitions for the constitutional tribunals; it has disregarded in time of peace the rights of the people to be free from military seizures; it has ordered the post and telegraph offices, and even the private papers and letters without any specific charge of crime; it has arrested without warrant, while the learned Chief Justice has been seized to the most atrocious exhumation, merely because he would not prostitute his high office to the support of the false and partisan charges prepared against the President. It has ordered and extravagance have exceeded anything known in history and by its fruits and monopolies it has nearly doubled the burden of the debt upon the people. It has stripped the President of his constitutional power of appointment even of his own cabinet. Under its repeated assaults the pillars of the Government are rocking to and fro, and should it succeed in November next in inaugurating its President, it will meet as a subjected and conquered people amid the ruins of liberty and the scattered fragments of the Constitution; and we do declare that we will not permit the people of the United States three of all subject to the British crown the privilege and trust of suffrage have belonged to the several States, and have been granted, received and controlled respectively by the judicial power of each State, and that any attempt by Congress on any pretext whatever, to deprive any State of its right, or interfere with its exercise, is a flagrant violation of the Constitution, and in violation of the Constitution, and is an attempt by the people, will subvert our form of government, and can only end in a single centralized despotic Government, in which the separate existence of the States will be entirely absorbed, and an unequal despotism be established in place of a Federal Union of equal States; and that we regard the reconstruction acts (so called) of Congress, as such usurpations, and unconstitutional, revolutionary and void.

That our soldiers and sailors, who carried the flag of our country to victory against a most gallant and determined foe, must ever be gratefully remembered, and all the guarantees given in their favor must be faithfully carried into execution.

That the public lands should be distributed as widely as possible among the people, and should be disposed of either under the pre-emption or homestead laws, and sold in reasonable quantities, and to none but actual occupants, at the minimum price established by law, and when grants of the public lands may be allowed necessary for the encouragement of important public improvements, the proceeds of the sale of such lands, and not the lands themselves should be applied.

That the President of the United States, Andrew Johnson (applause) in exercising the power of high office in restoring the aggressions of Congress upon the constitutional rights of the States and the people, is entitled to the gratitude of the whole American people, and in that behalf the Democratic party we tender him our thanks for his patriotic efforts in that regard. (Great applause.)

Upon this platform the Democratic party appeal to every patriot, including all the Conservatives and Union men, and all who desire to support the Constitution and restore the Union, by meeting all past differences of opinion, to unite with us in the present great struggle for the liberties of the people, and that to all such, whatever party they may have heretofore been, we extend the right hand of fellowship, and will all such co-operating with us as friends and brethren. (Applause.)
