JOHNSTOWN LETTER.

WRITTEN BY PETROLEUM V. NASBY, JR.

We Red Republicans, hearin' that Carl Shurz was comin' to enlighten us about politics, got up flaming handbills, with big letters, as black as a nigger, and sent them all over the county, but what was our surprise. when Tuesday evening came, the Boys in Blue, as we called them, didn't turn out, and, in course, the meetin' was very small. There were two hundred Red Republicans, ten Black Republicans, three hundred Demoabout one hundred and fifty boys. It was a fair night, and the meetin' was held on Ellis's Public Square. It was after eight blackguards, and so severely injured that the o'clock before anybody appeared, but me attending physician is afraid his wounds will and Mr. Boggs sent some boys down to sing, produce death. and some men to blow horns, and they blowed a tune that had a psalm set too it. In the meantime one Mr. Hunt hunted a soft place for the meetin', so that the people their nakedness, or hurting their feelings.

After me and Mr. Boggs told the speaker what to say, we came down and Mr. Boggs opened the meetin' with prayer by saying, "he wished to God the boys could be kept quiet." The boys shouted amen, and kept on yelping like blood hounds. Me and Mr. Beggs then organized the meetin' by apold ones, on the "Reconstruction principle." People kept asking where the meetin' was, which insulted us so much that we told them that it had went to the station to meet the speaker, after which several country people

Mr. Hughes, of Wilmore, got funny and said twice that if the speaker didn't soon come he would address the meetin' himself. (Lafter.) While this laff was going on, some one cried out, "a fight! a fight!" and the little knot of men, women, children, niggers and dogs scattered, and Carl Shurz leaning on another Teuton's arm mounted for the distinguished stranger, who had sobered up enough to "talk Injun." Having reached the goal of safety, the speaker broke forth in a torrent of broken English, or broken German. I don't know which. Two but one fellows voice give out, as if he had skeered and his voice died away like the light of a sky rocket. This was all the cheerin' was done, for me and Mr. Boggs had told them not to cheer, lest they might skeer the speaker, and Mr. Swank of the Tribune who was there to put down what Mr. Shurz would miss, and thus make the speech read well on paper. Owing to the noise of the boys Mr. Shurz missed some paragraphs of the speech that he said at Pittsburgh and other places. Mr. Shurz is about the size of a man that is five feet eight inches high, and would weigh about as much as a man that weighs one hundred and fifty pounds. He stated that he had been hired by the Red Republican Committee of the "re constructed" to make speeches at the North, and as his voice was weak he would like as little noise as possible. By roice he meant stom ack of course. He said, as me and Mr. Boggs had told him, that the bonds ought to be paid in gold and our party was pledged to do so, altho' it wasn't the bargain at first, and it would take seven hundred millions of dollars additional tax to do this. This began to make the people stare and look oneasy, so Mr. Boggs and me pulled his coat tail and told him to talk about the tarif. This he didn't hear, but sat down, thinking that his time was up. I blamed Mr. Boggs and he blamed me and we would have fit it out on that line only for the "Glee Club"

Mr. Boggs and me tried to get up some enthusiasm, but the speakers words fel! like a stone in a bottomless well. We will try it again, however, and run the tariff instead of the bonds. I think this will kindle up the "Boys in Bine," and the lail men of all parties and the niggers too. Nous verrons, which means we will see. Yours in the wool,

ALTOONA CITY, Aug. 31, 1868. FRIEND MAC—The only question of interest exciting this community just now is of a political nature. Go where you will politics is the absorbing topic of conversation. What wonder then if my letters should partake more of the interest on Friday afternoon last, resulting in a vica political than general news character?

Saturday evening last will long be remem-bered by the gallant Constitutional Union Democracy, who turned out by the acre on that occasion to listen to that able defender and eloquent champion of Democracy, the brave Gen. mense assemblage in one of the most impasindulged in by the scallawag carpet-baggers of had a terchlight procession and (m) ass meeting. I would suggest to the Burley chap who headed the procession to be a little more careful of his linen, for "all is not gold that glitters." There were from 100 to 150 persons in the procession, all armed with murderous weapons. Some of them were Penitentiary-deserving rowdies, for they almost killed one or two young Democrats
