LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

JOHNSTOWN, Sept. 15, 1868.

Dear Freeman-The Democratic meeting which was held on the Public Square on Saturday evening last was one of the largest ever assembled in this place. John Flan-agan, Esq., presided. The meeting was opened by Col. John P. Linton, in a few appropriate remarks, at the conclusion of which he introduced Hon. B. M. Boyer, of Norristown, Pa., who made an eloquet and forcible speech. He was followed by Joseph Keener, Esq., of Lancaster, Pa., who addressed the meeting in German, and the applause that greeted him evinced that it was fully appreciated. At the close of Mr. Keener's speech, the meeting adjourned with three cheers for the speakers and three more for the whole Democratic ticket.

The Radicals held a meeting on the same evening in the new Town Hall on Canal street, where they succeeded, often sending the "Tanners" club, preceded by the Johnstown Silver Band, through the town, in stiring up a few of the faithful. It was addressed by John M. Kennedy, Esq., of Philadelphia, and James B. Beiford, Esq., of the State, of Indiana.

The Democratic reading room, which I noticed last week as being in projection, has been opened over Mr. Jacob Holtzworth's saloon on Main street.

The show window in the millinery store of Miss Mary Parke, on Clinton street, caught fire last night about half past nine o'clock. Everything contained in the window, to the amount of about $100, was destroyed. The fire was doubtless communicated from the gas-light.

Considerable rain has fallen in this vicinity during the past week.

WILMORE, Sept. 12, 1868.

Dear Freeman-A Seymour and Blair Club was formed and fully organized here to-night by electing E. D. Evans President, David Skelly and Anthony Long Vice Presidents, and William Flinn Secretary. The President stated the object of the meeting in a lucid and eloquent manner, after which about one hundred joined the Club, which has adopted as its motto "Seymour and Blair, the Union and the Constitution, and Victory Forever."

Wm. M'Enrue, Esq , was called on to ad-dress the meeting amid the most terrific cheers. Mac. is one of our home-made orators, but we must say that he handled the subjects, involved in this campaign with ability and spoke in strong terms condemnatory of the Radical policy. Upon the conclusion of Mr. M'Enrue's speech the President was again invited to address the meeting. The moment he rose to speak it was easy to perceive that he was an accomplished gentleman, and before he had utter ed many sentences, his intelligent hearers were fully convinced that he was an accomplished orator. He elucidated the finances of the country in the most glowing colors. After which the meeting adjourned with

It is with feelings of profound sorrow we are again called upon to notice the death of one who was well known not only to the citizens of this and the adjoining counties, but throughout Pennsylvania, and to pay a small tribute to his memory. Gen. WM. R. SMITH died at Quincy, Ill., on the 22d ult., "full of years and full of honors." claims under Jay's celebrated treaty with England, and accordingly in 1808 he accompanied him to that country, where he remained about a year. After his return he studied law in Philadelphia, and was there admitted to the bar. Here he also married, and in 1808 removed to Huntingdon, where by his talents he soon distinguished himself in his profession, and during his long residence there was frequently called to fill places of trust and responsibility. He represented that county for many years in our State Legislature, both in the House of Representatives and Senate, and was one of the most efficient advocates of our then projected system of State improvements of canals and railways. Ever devoted to literature, his leisure hours were occupied in furnishing contributions which are to be found scattered in many of the publications of the day .--Following the bent of his inclination, he commenced in 1810 the publication of a literary magazine called the "Huntingdon Mnse um," which was edited by himself and his friend, the late Moses Canan, Esq. This was considered at that day quite an enterprise, as it was the first magazine published west of the Susquehanna river ; which, however, was only continued for about a year, when it was suspended, owing to a want of sufficient encouragement. He was a prominent member of the Masonic order, and if we mistake not, was the first Master of "Mount Moriah Lodge," established in Huntingdon.

In 1827 Gen. SMITH removed with his family from Huntingdon to the adjoining county of Bedford, where he still continued to practice his profession.

At the Presidential election in 1836 he was chosen one of the Presidential electors for the State, and in the following year was appointed by President Van Buren one of the Com missioners to negotiate a treaty with the Chippeway Indians on the upper Mississippi. In the fall of 1838 he removed with his family to Mineral Point, in the then Territory of Wisconsin. Here his services were soon called into requisition as Adjutant GRAND EXHIBITION !- Wednesday aftercosts. noon of last week was the time fixed for the holding of a Radical meeting in this place. Our Radical friends assembled opposite Foster's hotel, and organized by appointing John Williams, Esq., President, with the usual member of Vices, of which the party has plenty.

The meeting, though not so large as the Democratic meeting of the night previous, was respectable in point of numbers. It was addressed by Harry White and S. Singleton, Esqs., in rather temperate language, and adjourned shortly before nightfall.

It was followed by a spectacle, the like of which has never heretofore been witnessed in Ebensburg. Shortly before dusk a special train arrived from Johnstown, bringing some four hundred passengers. Of these a large number were uniformed with caps and green capes, and were called the "Tanner's Club," or Morrell's infantry, from the fact that they were generally under 21 years of prepare for the long and dreary winter sea-

After dark these boys paraded the streets in tolerable order, carrying lighted lamps, looking quite picturesque, and attracting the attention of nearly all the children in town. This party swallowed up the meeting, for though it organized, everything was "confusion worse confounded" until the Morrell party left. The "Tanners," in knots of two or three, ran about the town, singing and hallooing. The speakers, a pair of fallen preachers, bellowed at the tops of their voices Joseph (Mo.) Vindicalor, has connected to an inattentive and noisy crowd, while himself with the editorial department of the they were constantly interrupted by vocal New York Metropolitan Record, and if there and instrumental music, hurrahing and ever was anything lacking in the conduct of

The next morning showed nothing but the age. It is such a work as a man need not platform, and two vessels partially filled with whiskey, which latter shows that they have left some of their spirit among their Ebensburg friends.

This Radical demonstration is over, and we submit to the Democrats and Republicans who witnessed it, whether it or the good as the quanity is generous.
