Brilliant Phenomenon.

The Nashville Press and Times of the 13th records the following singular and interesting phenomenon:

Yesterday a strange and terrible natugular sight attracted their notice.

reverberations of thunder among rocky than fact .- Erie Observer. cliffs.

The men were about four hundred yards from the place where the fiery missive from the sky struck, and were afraid to go and examine the place for several hours afterward. They took courage, however, and being joined by numbers of the people living in the surrounding neighborhood, they proceeded to the place, and found that it had struck upon a flat ledge of rocks in a wagon way leading from a farm house to the public road. The fragments of stones were thrown around for several rods in all directions; the ledge, which is said to be three feet thick, without any seams, was predicament. Many who saw the situadisrupted for a distance of about fifty feet, tion were horror stricken, expecting that township of Croyle, to meet at the School solit and torn up in fragments; the soil, the man would be crushed to death. As which was spread in thin layers all over the engine came on Cabill caught hold of it, looked as if passed through a sieve - the pilot and clung to it with a deadly At the point where the strange body came in contact with the rock there appeared to be no stone at all, but a very fine, white, floury sort of paste which was quite hot, and a steam ascended out of the hole in which it had buried itself, which was too hot to approach.

Several gentlemen of a philosophical turn of mind were strongly of the opinion that it was an ærolite brought into a state of fusion by coming down through the atmosphere, but had not been completely buried before touching the earth.

There was a strong odor about the place, such as may be found in blasting furnaces, and the passage of the arolite was maked by a light, yellowish sort of smoke. Very fine particles of some sort of oxide continued to fall all over the country for several hours. It is the intention of the people to organize a working party to quarry out what remains of the body, which is undoubtedly metal, as soon as the temperature of the rocks will

As yet, it seems to be premature to enter on any speculation relative to the nature of the strange phenomenon. Moreover, the scientific men of the city are already interested in the matter, and no doubt there will be a thorough diagnosis of the strange case.

O'CONNELL'S ELOQUENCE.

"Perhaps you doubt my testimony. If you do, I will vouch for it with the endorsement of a man who never love! Ireland, and that is John Randolph, of Roanoke. When he went and heard O'Connell, the old Virginian cried out, Authorized Capital, - - - $800,000 of human eloquence.' I think he was right. I have listened to the impressive solemnity of Webster, been delighted with the grace of Everett, dazzled with the rhetoric of Choate; I know the iron strength of the logic of Calhoun; I have been beneath the magnetism of Henry Clay; it has been my fortune to sit at the feet of the great speakers of the English tongue on the other side of the water; but I think O'Connell's oratory blended into one harmonious whole the solemnity of Webster, the grace of Everett, the logic of Calhoun, and the magnetism of Clay. Nature seemed to have intended him for a Demosthenes of our epoch. She gifted him with everything that goes to make up the great tribune of the people. In the first place, he had a magnifient presence, impressive in bearing-imposing as that of Jupiter-Webster himself hardly outdid him in the majesty of his appearance.-And this is much more than you fancy at first in the qualities of an orator-his physique. I remember Russell Lowell telling us that when Mr. Webster came good fitting garments. A NARROW ESCAPE. - A most thrilling and narrow escape from a horrible death was witnessed and experienced at the depot in Elmira, on Friday. Mike Cahill is the regular yard switchman.
