Too Much Legislation.

A sense of positive relief is felt throughout the State since the final adjournment of which he professes to be a member. the Legislature. The day on which it meets is always lo ked forward to with fear and trembling, while its dissolution is regarded as an escape from a constantly threatened danger. As long as it is in session it is the sword of Damocles suspended over the head of the people, and it is only when it ceases to exist that the taxpayer can breathe freer and deeper. That the late Legislature was corrupt beyond most of its predecessors seems to be universally con- Governor. We do not pretend to say that ceded. Of all the disreputable acts of the late legislature this was by far the most glaring, corrupt and inexcusable. It originated in feelings of personal spite, and was hurriedly rushed through both branches of the legislature during the absence of the Senator representing the district. It is also said that while Josephs was engaged in this nefarious business at the Bolton House, a radical pavmaster was issuing his "checks" to whom they concerned at the State Capital Hotel. When such prostitute politicians are clothed with the power of enacting laws for the benefit of the people, the supposed beauties of a representative government degenerate into a solemn farce, and the old maxim that the voice of the people is the voice of God becomes a wicked satire.

Congress has been in session almost constantly for the last two years, each State has had its own legislative mill in full blast, furnishing its annual supply of general and special laws-the proportion of the former to the latter being about as one to one hundred. The volumes of our Acts of Assembly are being increased and enlarged with fearful rapidity. The Pelion of legislation is literally piled upon Ossa. It is legislation here, legislation there and legislation everywhere. Can any valid reason be given why our Legislature should meet annually? We have never heard it even attempted, while weighty and convincing arguments can be adduced why it should not. The principal ob ject for which the Legislature meets every year is to frame and pass a general appropriation bill, in order that the different branches of the State government may be kept in successfull operation. There is no good reason why the government machine cannot be kept running for two years, under the provisions of an appropriation bill, just as well as it can for one. Besides this, about three-fourths of the local or special legislation which now engrosses most of the time of the Legislature, could and ought to be disposed of by the Courts. We are, therefore, in favor of having the Legislature meet every two years and in favor of amonding the constitution in that respect, as well as of securing additional guarantees, against the present almost unlimited powers of the Legislature. It is the proper commencement of a much needed reform. If the people must endure the course of vicious and corrupt legislation it would be better, and less noxious, to have it inflicted periodically rather than at one fell swoop.

Osx would suppose that, according to t' ordinary course of human affairs, when a m. has been banished to the snows of Russia . political enemies would at least cease to molest or make him afraid. But such does not seem to be the fate reserved for Andrew G. Curtin. When his nomination as Minister to St. Petersburg was before the Senate for confirmation his ancient foe. Simon Cameron, protested most vehemently against it and broadly insinuated that money had found its way into Curtin's pockets when he was Governor, in a way that was not exactly according to law; in other words, that he was corrupt. Considering the source from which this assertion came, it was quite refreshing. John Scott took direct issue with Cameron and defended Curtin from his bitter assaults. The Senate compelled Simon to point down, and the "War Gover- of day in this city of Harrisburg! It is the nor" was confirmed.

The New Law of Evidence.

In another column will be found the act of the legislature on the subject of evidence in civil causes, to which we referred last week. It will effect a radical change in the the hour mentioned "and four o'clock is the nature and character of the testimony which time that the grave robbers bring in their has heretofore governed civil actions, and prey, and it so happened that on that mornon that account it has already been the subject of severe criticism. It is urged against it that it will lead to the commission of wholesale perjury. Those who believe in the doctrine of total depravity may make this objection with some show of plausibility, but as we have a better opinion of mankind we do not anticipate any such result. We strongly incline to the belief that wilful and deliberate perjury, in the trial of causes in our courts, is a crime that is very seldom committed. Men may think that it is a matter of very common occurrence, but making all reasonable allowance for the imperfections of human judgment and memory, it will be found to be otherwise. Witnesses who swear falsely are generally detected, for the reason that a well concocted falsehood is never consistent with the truth. "WE are informed, upon good authority, that one of the paymasters of the 'ring' publicly gave his checks, at the Bolton House, on Friday evening last, to a number of members of the Legislature. Of course none of those who witnessed this operation could swear in a Court of Justice that these checks were given in payment for votes in the Legislature. THE leading paper of the Northwest, the W1-consin," Milwaukie, gets off some very good things, among the latest of which we extract the following

AN EXCELLENT MEDICINE -One of the mest potular medicines of the day is Hoofland's German Bitters, which is designed to keep the stomach and liver in a healthy condition. The Bitters is prepared without the use of intoxicating Liquors, and if a person desires to drink liquor under the fashionable name of Bitters, he had best apply for some thing else than Hoofland's. Druggists tell us that the sale of this article is large, and is contipually on the increase,-that all who use it are pleased with its excellent qualities, and that they could not thick of keeping store without it. In case of debility or prostration of the system, Hoofland's German Bitters will be found au excellent article, as well as for Dyspepsia. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with runk Santa Cruz Rum, orange, anise, etc., making a preparation of rare medicinal value. The Tonic is used for the same diseases as the Bitters, in cases where some Alcoholic Stimulant is required. Principal Office, 631 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa. Sold ererywhere by Druggists and others.
