

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

USEFUL HINTS.—Put a few live fish into wells, if angle worms infest them. Toads are capital helpers in taking care of vine patches.

New milch cows should be carded daily. They like it, and it pays. Rich milk is not the best for calves.—A butter cow is not a good stock cow.

Insects do not infest very late sown peas as they do early ones. Stewed pumpkin as a poultice has been found of great value in reducing inflammatory rheumatism.

The potato is a great absorber of potash. Therefore wood ashes are a good manure for it. Experiments seem to prove that fence posts set up the reverse way from which they grow, will last much longer.

Calced plaster is as good a fertilizer as the uncalced, but it is usually wasted after its use in the arts. Some one says if salt is kept before a horse in the stable, he will not gnaw his manger. Trial will tell.

Root crops, not grain, are the things for young orchards. They do not steal so much tree food. Look out for moths as well as muscels in hiring farm hands. They may ruin the boys by their vicious examples.

Smoke from rags, dry wood or corn cobs is better than tobacco in pacifying bees to remove honey, etc. Carrots are recommended for horses to aid digestion, and tomatoes to cows to improve and increase the milk.

Mangers should be low, and stables well ventilated and well lighted. Many horses are made blind by being kept in the dark. It is difficult to tell colic from bots in a horse, but a tablespoonful of chloroform, in twice as much maulage, is a good remedy for either.

If the roots of trees are dipped into water just before planting, the earth that sticks to them will give immediate support to the small fibers. John Johnson says that farmers must give special attention to sheep and cattle keeping if they want to make grain growing more profitable.

Nine-tenths of the diseases which happen to the hoofs and ankles of the horse are occasioned by standing on the dry plank floors of the stable. Shoots will push on old and young trees just where the limbs are not wanted. Remember that the new tender shoot will soon be a hard, woody branch. A slight rub will now remove it, but if left a year the knob must be used. Rub off these shoots when young and save cutting hereafter.

Cultivation in the orchard has a twofold effect—it destroys the weeds, and leaves the surface in that light, mellow condition which enables it to answer the purposes of a mulch. Young orchards, with crops between the rows, should be cultivated with as much an eye to the trees as to the crops.

LIQUID GRAFTING WAX.—We advise none of our readers to pay a dollar for a receipt for making liquid grafting wax.—We have once or twice published such a receipt and again repeat it for the benefit of our subscribers. The following will make a wax that can be put on with a brush, will always be ready for use if kept tightly corked in a bottle, and can be applied to bruises or wounds on trees, or used as grafting wax; viz: Melt one pound of rosin over a gentle fire; add an ounce of beef tallow and stir it well; take it from the fire, let it cool down a little and add a tablespoonful of spirits of turpentine, and after that about seven ounces of very strong alcohol (95 per cent.). It will be necessary, after putting in the alcohol, to put it on the stove again, stirring it constantly, taking great care that the alcohol does not get inflamed. To avoid this, remove the kettle from the stove as soon as the mass, which may have cooled rapidly by the addition of the alcohol, begins to melt. Continue to stir, until the whole mass becomes the consistency of honey. This will be found far better and cheaper than the common shellac preparation used for this purpose; and after being put on for a day or two, becomes a clear, white color, and as hard as stone—impervious to water and air.

WE CHARGE our readers nothing for the above, and will warrant it better than that made from a receipt for which many will pay one dollar. The preparation for it has been proved and recommended by some of the best horticulturists in the country.—Maine Farmer.

CLEANING SILK.—The following is said to be an excellent recipe for cleaning silk: Pare three Irish potatoes; cut them into thin slices and wash them well. Pour on them a half pint of boiling water, and let it stand till cold; strain the water and add to it an equal quantity of alcohol. Squeeze the silk on the right side, and when half dry, iron it on the wrong side. The most delicate colored silk may be cleaned by this process, which is equally applicable to cloth, velvet or crapes.

WHEN TO PUT PAINT ON SURFACES.—Experiments show that paint on surfaces exposed to the sun will be much more durable if applied in autumn or Spring, than if put on in hot weather. In cold weather it dries slowly, forms a hard, glossy coat, though like glass, while if applied in warm weather the oil strikes into the wood, leaving the paint so dry that it is rapidly beaten off by the rains.

A CURIOUS STORY.—Michigan papers state that a young man named George Denlow, living at Rome Centre, in that State, dreamed on the night of March 13th that he was deaf and dumb, and on awaking was horrified to find that he could neither speak nor hear. From that till the 4th of May, fifty-three days, he remained totally deaf and dumb. On the evening of that day, while returning home from the field where he had been at work, an odd feeling came over him and he was obliged to lean against the fence for support. Presently he heard a bird sing, and he found also that his voice had returned to him. During this suspension of voice and hearing, he had enjoyed uncommonly good health.

AFRAID OF THE SEX.—They have a queer character in one of the towns on the Connecticut river. He is a man of considerable property and unmarried. He will never go near a lady if he can possibly help it. It is said that it is frequently the case that he will postpone a visit to New York for a day because a lady happens to be in the stage in which he must ride to the train. At one time he sent word to the driver of the stage to stop for him on the following day, as he intended to go to New York. When the stage came down the next day the driver stopped, as requested, and asked if he was going to New York. The gentleman at first said he would, then said he wouldn't, then concluded he would, then gave it up again, and finally ask if there would be any ladies on the trip. The driver told him probably not, so he embarked. A short distance on the route a lady got on board; a little further, another came on; another followed, and finally, there were seven ladies on the stage and only one man—Old Eccentricity himself. He was caught that time, and never recovered from it. He hires a room in a hotel in New York by the year, as he is there a good part of the time. He never uses the wash-bowl and pitcher furnished by the hotel, but has some of his own which he keeps locked in his trunk. If he knows it, he will not allow his room to be occupied by any one save himself.—One morning he walked into the office, held out a long hair to the clerk, and said: "I found that in my room." His acquaintances know but little of him socially, and he is in every respect a strange being.

A CURIOUS CEREMONY.—The London correspondent of the Chicago Journal writes: "I witnessed one day last week a curious ceremony in one of the churches in my neighborhood. In 1794, an old lady died and was buried in one of the vaults of that church. When her will was read, it was found that she had bequeathed a considerable sum to the church, the proceeds of which were to be annually distributed to the poor of the parish on the 28th of January, her own birth-day. The condition attached to the bequest was, that her coffin should be carefully dusted every year on the day in question. In case this operation should be omitted on a single occasion, the entire principal of the bequest was to pass to the authorities of the adjoining parish. Of course the officials have always been careful to perform this interesting ceremony, and it was done this year for the seventy-fifth time. In the sexton, in presence of the vicar, church wardens, and numerous spectators, among whom was probably some interested party from the adjoining parish to watch the proceedings.

OSIORS.—If onions are sliced and kept in a sick room they will absorb all the atmospheric poison. They should be changed every hour. In the room of a small-pox patient they blister and decompose very rapidly, but will prevent the spread of the disease. Their application has also proved effectual in the case of snake bites.

EVERYBODY Should keep constantly within their reach those valuable remedies so successfully combined together, Roback's Blood Pills, Roback's Stomach Bitters and Roback's Blood Purifier. They are infallible in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NOBODY Can afford to be without such valuable medicines as Roback's Blood Pills, Stomach Bitters and Blood Purifier.

TEMPERANCE. There is, perhaps, no one thing that has done so much to promote the cause of temperance as gentle stimulating tonic, Roback's Stomach Bitters. They strengthen and invigorate without producing the effects of alcoholic stimulants.

RENOVATE. During the Spring months it is one of the regular household duties to renovate, and, in the multiplicity of other duties one's own self is in a great measure overlooked. Thousands of valuable lives might be prolonged, and many doubts saved from premature graves, by thoroughly renovating the system with Dr. Roback's Blood Pills, Stomach Bitters and Blood Purifier.

DON'T GROW OLD. There is no necessity for premature old age. Use Roback's Stomach Bitters. It gives vitality and elasticity by invigorating every organ of the body.

Household Remedies. There are no remedies so well and favorably known as "Household Remedies" as Dr. Roback's Blood Purifier, Stomach Bitters and Blood Pills, and no family should be without them.

PREPARE FOR WAR!! "In time of peace prepare for war," is the old adage, and there is no sentence in the English language more expressive, nor one that is so applicable in innumerable cases. Who is so wise as to know the exact moment that that fell destroyer, DISEASE, will attack him? That he never prepared. Have the Roback Blood Pills, Stomach Bitters and Blood Purifier at hand and combat disease successfully.

Diseases of the Skin, Old Sores, Eruptions, Outaneous Diseases or Diseases of the Skin, all readily succumb to the wonderful influence of Dr. Roback's Blood Purifier, Stomach Bitters and Blood Pills, and a full assortment of Gen's Physicians Goods.
