We have heretofore recommended our young friend Richard Jones to the patronage of all property holders who have not yet had lightning rods erected for the better protection of their buildings, and we take occasion here to renew that recommendation. The celebrated Munson copper tubular lightning rod, with spiral flanges, and which Mr. Jones has the exclusive right to put up in this county, is declared by gentlemen of unimpeachable integrity to be the most perfect and economical that can be obtained, and all who know its worth say they would not do without it on any consideration. BIG SHOW COMING .- We have heard of no arrangements for any general or special celebration by our people of the approaching enniversary of American Independence, but in lieu of this we are promised a grand and varied entertainment on Saturday next, July 3d, on which occasion Profs. Hamilton and Rawdon announce their intention to give two exhibitions, afternoon and evening, in this place, of the celebrated performing horses, Sir Henry and General Sheridan, the wonderful trick mule, Dan Rice, and a troupe of Dacotah Indians, fresh from their native homes in the western wilds. Sir Henry is one of the most perfectly educated animals in this country, and his performances, as well as those of the beautiful horse Gen. Sheridan. never fail to excite the astonishment and admiration of all beholders. The wonderful performing mule, Dan Rice, will do many astonishing feats and tricks never before attempted by one of his species, and his performances alone will repay a visit to the show. The troups of Indians will exhibit the several dances peculiar to the Dacotahs, sing sougs and perform various ceremonies, rites, games and feats which cannot fail to interest and instruct all who witness them. On Saturday the Society of St. Joseph held a pic-nic in Woodvale, formerly Murray's Grove. The St. Peter's Society accompanied them and remained during the greater part of the day. About 9 o'clock the St. Joseph's Society formed in procession on Clinton street. The St. Peter's Society marched from St. John's church, accompanied by the Silver Cornet Band and bearing aloft a banner that is said to have cost $250, and joined the other society when both paraded several streets, and then proceeded to the Grove, where during the balance of the day, they indulged in dancing and other civil amusements. There was about one hundred members of each society out. Showers of rain interferred frequently with the amusement, but the folks seemed not to regard the wet much. There were two dancing platforms, and several stands for refreshments, the most attractive of which was that of Wm. and Rose Geis, which was beautifully festooned with wreaths of evergreeus and arches variously designed and
